As far as France is concerned, however, the Paris agreement which was offered to the Germans in London and refused by them, must now be considered to no longer exist. France wants money from Germany and unless Germany offers money, France will take action. The military and economic measures which are now being planned may not be put into operation as soon as is generally expected, but unless great pressure is brought to bear upon France by Great Britain or the United States no proposition submitted by Germany which does not include large cash payments will be acceptable.

ONE BILLION IN CASH.

France demands, to start with, 1,000,000,000 marks in gold and guarantees for the settlement of the other 11,000,000,000 which the Reparation Commission insists that Germany still owes of the 20,000,000,000 due from her. The Germans contend that they already have paid the Allies more than 21,000,000,000, but the reparation commission refuses to accept the German calculations. Officially the Germans have 1,000,000,000 gold marks in their national treasury. Of this, it is believed that about 1,100,000,000 marks actually exist. Besides this it is calculated that the Germans possess in foreign values perhaps another 1,000,000,000.

The surrender of Germany's gold bullion, which is the only small remaining foundation for the paper mark, will cause the value of the latter to decline still further, but it is not believed here that this should

WOULD PENSION EX-PRESIDENTS.

Plan Providing Ten Thousand Dollars a Year Introduced in Congress.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 15.—A proposal that former Presidents be paid annual pensions of $10,000 was introduced in the Senate today by Senator Calder, Republican, New York, and in the House by Representative Dyer, Republican, Missouri. Another pension plan introduced in the House was that of Representative Ricketts, Republican, Ohio, providing from $6 to $14 a week for persons over 65 years of age who have incomes not exceeding $10 a week and who are attempting to earn a living if physically able to do so.

FIND BODY OF OLD MAN TIED TO BED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SOUTH HAVEN (Mich.) April 15. Officers investigating the death of Henry C. Gerling, 70 years old, found in his cabin twenty miles north of here, gagged and bound to his bed, expressed the belief today he had starved to death.

The little cabin had been ransacked. In the mail box at the home of a neighbor half a mile away officers found a note reading:

"Go until Henry Gerling."

The body was discovered last night by a neighbor, who had missed Gerling for more than a week.

Officers expressed the belief Gerling was attacked April 7, that being the last day mail was removed from a mail box at his cabin.

NEW GERMAN PENALTIES?

French Discuss Action at Paris Meeting; Simons Hoping for Quick Aid.

BY HENRY WALES.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, April 15.—A government conference was held at the Elysee Palace this morning, when the highest officials of the French republic discussed what operations would be undertaken if no agreement was reached with Germany on reparations by May 1. President Millerand, Premier Briand, M. Barthou, Minister of War; M. Doumer, Minister of Finance; M. Loucheur, Minister of the Liberated Regions; Marshals Foch and Petain and Gens. Buat, De Goutte and Weygand were present.

It is rumored that the military chieftains submitted plans for the occupation of the Ruhr basin and Frankfort as an alternative plan of seizing a line along the Mains River and establishing contact with Czecho-Slovakia, thereby cutting Bavaria away from Germany. The operations envisaged contemplate the utilization of 200,000 troops.

Naval co-operation for controlling the ports of Hamburg and Bremen are also understood to have been mentioned.

Germany is preparing new reparations proposals which Dr. Walter Simons, the Foreign Minister, favors transmitting to the Allies either through the Swiss or American governments. The plan being drafted by Wilhelmstrasse embraces two primary points.

(1.) Reconstruction of the devastated regions by utilising German labor and material, but offering special compensation to France through leaving French workmen idle and not using French material.

(2.) Assumption of the Allies' war debts, in lieu of payment of reparations, by creating a giant international loan.

Dr. Simons, who has just returned to Berlin from Switzerland, is anxious to obtain the consent of President Schulthess or President Harding to mediate with the Allies to RAIL PROBLEM BOBS UP.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, April 15.—President Harding and the Cabinet today discussed measures to get business of the country going again and came to the conclusion that the key to business revival is the railroad situation.

Every phase of business depression was considered and agreement was unanimous that the railroad problem was the bottom of business ills. How they can help was the text of the Cabinet discussion, but no announcement concerning remedies was made.

To get traffic moving normally again, it was agreed, would result in a general resumption of business. To do this will be the government's aim, but how to help has not been definitely outlined.

In administration quarters the decision of the United States Railroad Labor Board, abrogating national agreements covering working conditions and hours of service of railroad employees was regarded as

FINANCING BY FORD IS IN NOTE LIFTING.

NEW YORK, April 15.—Recent reports that Henry Ford contemplated extensive financing in Wall street in connection with his automobile business were discredited today by bankers, who announced that the Detroit manufacturer, instead of being in the market for money, had liquidated loans here aggregating $26,500,000.

Several of the notes, it was said, had been taken up before maturity.

RELIEF FELT IN BRITAIN

Triple Alliance is Disrupted.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, April 15.—A tense day, more replete in surprises than any previous one during the industrial struggle, closed tonight with an air of quietude.

There was intense relief over the knowledge that the contemplated strike of the railway and transport workers had been called off, and there was renewed hope of industrial peace.

The situation tonight was that the strike of the miners continued and that everything depended on the extent to which Frank Hodges, general secretary of the Miners' Federation, would be able to maintain his authority over the rank and file of the men. It is said that Mr. Hodges threatened to resign, but that the Miners' Federation refused to listen to him. A national conference of delegates of the federation has been called to discuss these whole questions.

MINERS TOO RADICAL.

The breaking away from the triple alliance of the railway men and the transport workers on the miners' rejection of the moderate course recommended by Mr. Hodges, with a view to securing a temporary adjustment of the wage dispute, seems to have brought matters to a crisis where it was imperative to take a decision one way or another.

Mr. Hodges, it is declared, was severely criticised by his colleagues for having made what was termed a peace offer to members of the House of Commons without authority. He is said to have immediately tendered his resignation. Although the general situation is considered to have greatly improved, the government has not relaxed its measures, military or otherwise.

The mine-owners issued another statement tonight repeating their previously stated opinion that the wages of the lower paid men ought to be adjusted, and declaring they still were ready to meet the miners in conference.

In his letter inviting the miners to a conference with the mine owners Premier Lloyd George said the general impression received from

MAY CONSIDER MEXICO.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Consideration of the Mexican problem by Secretary Hughes was forecast today by formal announcement that Charles T. Summerlin, American Charge d'Affaires at Mexico City, has been called to Washington for a conference.

Mr. Summerlin left the Mexican capital last night and is expected to place before the State Department information that will enable Mr. Hughes to formulate more definitely the policy to be adopted by the United States in dealing with Mexico.

It is understood that in general the attitude of the government will not differ from that indicated by former Secretary Colby when he informed the Mexican government that a signed acknowledgment of its intention to safeguard the lives and interests of Americans must be one of the preliminary steps to recognition.

The present administration is understood to have agreed that the course outlined by the subcommittee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which investigated conditions in Mexico, must be followed.

President Obregon of Mexico on the contrary, has insisted unofficially that recognition must come, if at all, because Mexico merits it, and not because of any agreement.

Reports to the department on conditions in Mexico have varied widely. Some have represented President Obregon as the victim of so much intrigue as to threaten his tenure of office, while others have insisted that the Mexican President was more than holding his own.

The American policy, however, will not be based wholly on conditions in Mexico, it was explained. Official reassurances of the future policy of the Mexican government in dealing with Americans will be insisted upon, and it is understood that a modification of Article XXVII of the constitution of nationalisation of all or at least a satisfactory assurance that it will not be retroactive in its effect, will be demanded before recognition is extended.

PRISONERS BEATEN BY CELLMATES.

TACOMA, April 15.—Lawrence Bogart and Everett Impyn, Camp Lewis soldiers who attacked Eleanor Sheyer, civilian nurse, Monday night, were badly beaten by other prisoners when they were lodged in the County Jail this afternoon. Deputy Sheriffs had difficulty in rescuing the men, who were severely mauled.

The men, handcuffed and heavily guarded, were taken to jail after being arraigned in Federal court. They acknowledged the attack and were remanded to the grand jury which meets June 13. Separate indictments will be asked against them for criminal assault, conspiracy and highway robbery, John M. Boyle, Assistant United States Attorney, said.

Mr. Boyle announced that the death penalty will be asked.

WHEAT CARGO GOES TO JAPAN.

Newly Allocated Vessels to Carry Shipment to Orient from Portland.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) April 15. Another steamship, as yet unnamed, has been allocated to the Columbia Shipping Company by the United States Shipping Board for operation between Portland and the orient. This vessel will arrive in Portland May 15 to load a cargo of wheat for Japan. The wheat which this vessel will load for Japan is part of the large amount recently purchased in this section by Japanese.

SPANIARDS ASK TROOPS WITHDRAWN.

Want United States to Quit Occupation of Dominican Republic Territory.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

MADRID, April 15.—A protest against the occupation of Santo Domingo by United States troops is contained in a message that has been addressed to President Harding by a group of prominent Spaniards, including former Premier Romanones, Francisco Cambon, former Minister of Public Works, and Prof. Unamuno of Slamanca University. The message says:

"We protest against the occupation of Santo Domingo and the suppression of rights and liberties there, and we invoke in favor of the Dominican republic, the ideals of the United States, whose name would gain new glory and the respect and admiration of humanity by the triumph of those ideals."

A suggestion that the time was propitious for the United States to withdraw its troops from Santo Domingo and restore the regime annulled by the military occupation was contained in an address sent to President Wilson in September, 1919, by several prominent men of Spain. This address also was signed by Count Romanones and Senor Cambon.

RAIL RATE STRUCTURE POOR, STATES HOOVER.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—The whole rate structure needs consideration as to its bearing on our future national life, Secretary Hoover declared today before the conference of the American Farm Bureau Federation, pointing to the grain rate from Missouri to New York of 20 cents a bushel, as against 10 cents from Argentine to New York.

Continuation of this condition, he said, would change the granary base from the Central States of the West to foreign shores.

LITTLE ROCK (Ark.) April 16.—Reports received by the Arkansas Gazette up to an early hour this morning give a total of thirty-nine persons dead as a result of the storm in Southwestern Arkansas. Twenty-six of these were said to be white persons and a large number of them were unidentified.

MANY DEAD; SCORES INJURED.

HOPE (Ark.) April 15.—From fifteen to twenty persons are reported dead and scores injured as the result of a tornado which swept the entire length of Hempstead county from the Red River to within a few miles of this city late today.

Four bodies have been brought to Hope and more than a score of injured are being cared for in the hospital here.

One relief party which went from here returned tonight, reporting they had found nine bodies between Spruddel and Dolph. The path of the tornado, which moved in a northeasterly direction, was over twenty-five miles long and farms in a strip nearly a mile wide were swept clear of all buildings. Property loss within a few miles of Hope is estimated at $50,000.

RECOVER ELEVEN BODIES.

TEXARKANA (Ark.) April 15.—At least eleven persons are known to have been killed, more than thirty injured, some probably fatally, and heavy property damage caused by a tornado that swooped down upon a stretch of rural territory near here late today.

The storm, according to reports trickling in here late tonight over hastily repaired telephone and telegraph wires, apparently struck east of here and moved northeast, cutting a swath two miles wide and ten miles long. Shiloh, six miles east, and Trigetta, villages, seem to have borne the brunt of the twisting wind in this locality, although, because of impassable roads, relief parties found it impossible to investigate thoroughly tonight.

Eleven bodies, several of them negroes, had been brought here late tonight, and the meager reports received here indicated a rapidly mounting list of injured. No estimate was available as to the property loss, but it was believed it would be tremendous.

Especially heavy damage is said to have been caused at the Boyce, Potter and Sims plantations near Shiloh. All of them are extensive estates with many tent houses. Five members of the family of Charles Jones, tenants on the Boyce plantation, were killed. The only survivor of the family is a 6-year-old girl, who is in a hospital here. She is badly injured.

Reports from the storm area reveal a constantly growing list of injured persons, some of whom may die. One doctor treated twelve persons who had been carried to an undamaged farmhouse. Three are in a critical condition. Ambulances sent to bring in seven injured at the Mills place, a mile beyond Shiloh, returned empty, being unable to get anywhere near the scene on account of bad roads and debris.

Between the Genoa road and the Duley ferry road it is feared there has been widespread damage.

SEVERAL KILLED IN TEXAS.

ATLANTA (Tex.) April 15.—Several persons were killed, many houses destroyed and the fruit and vegetable crops greatly damaged by a tornado which struck O'Farrell, a thickly settled farming community seven miles west of here, today.

All telephone and telegraph communication lines are down and roads are practically impassable.

The storm also struck Linden, near here, injuring several and demolishing buildings.

TO AID COMMUNICATIONS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, April 15.—President Harding and his Cabinet have placed themselves squarely behind the development of a national policy of improved world communications, including the extension of American facilities at home and in all colonial possessions as well as through negotiations of such international agreements as will afford a maximum of communication with all parts of the world.

For the first time in history, as far as known, President Harding dignified the subject by extensive reference to it in his message, not only emphasizing its importance in a State paper of the first magnitude, but putting the stamp of a national policy on it at the same time.

INDORSES CONGRESS' WORK.

In effect the President indorsed the work of the International Communications Congress, which has been meeting in Washington on and off since last fall with a view to arriving at principles which will control international communications. Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan have participated and a strong approach has been made to a betterment of communications generally, including better facilities for the world press, another point emphasized by the President's message.

Secretary Hoover of the Commerce Department and Secretary Hughes of the State Department have both been impressed with the necessity of increased world communications and both are eager to supply American commerce and shipping throughout the world with ample means to conduct their business. It has been recognized that a rapid extension of American banking facilities, communications and shipping and a strengthening of the United States foreign trade representation abroad are fundamental to the success of the United States in the matter of foreign trade.

Wrapped up in the general plan now under consideration by the Intercommunications Congress is one for the establishment of internationalized bases in both the Pacific and Atlantic Oceans, where cable and radio stations of all nations may center their activities. While it would be necessary to persuade some nation to give the island territory necessary for such a base in the Atlantic, one of the Azores Islands owned by Portugal, appears the most likely place for such a base. The United States contemplates laying cables to connect all Mediterranean points.

In the event of war the communications of all nations at war, owing to the international character of the central station, would automatically be sealed. In the Pacific the island of Yap, now a matter of controversy, is the point under consideration for a communication base.

BANDITS GET $2500 LOOT IN HOLDUP; FLEE

B. G. Irvine and Wife Are Robbed of Gems by Auto Bandits; Woman Accosted.

Two young bandits, operating in a Marmon car believed to have been stolen, early this morning robbed B. G. Irvine and wife of 852 West One Hundred and Sixth street of diamonds valued at $2500, according to a report made to the police. Mr. and Mrs. Irvine were driving home in their automobile when held up at One Hundred and Sixth street and Vermont avenue. Mr. Irvine was robbed of a $2000 diamond ring, while the bandits secured a $500 diamond lavalliere from his wife.

Following the hold-up, Mrs. Irvine and her sister, Miss Marie Wilson, who also was in the car, ran across the street and notified a passing motorist that they had been robbed. The driver, F. W. Lawson, placed his car squarely in the path of the machine driven by the bandits and both cars were wrecked, the robbers escaping toward the city afoot.

WOMAN HELD UP.

With a gash on her head, made by a man who, she said, hit her with a gas pipe, Mrs. Ella Johnson of 450 South Hartford street was treated at the Receiving Hospital late last night. She reported that she was held up in front of her home and was robbed of her purse, which contained a watch valued at $200 and also $6 in cash.

PART OF LOOT RECOVERED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. LOUIS, April 15. — Post-office inspectors today announced the recovery of $15,000 of the $60,000 of bonds obtained in recent mail robberies at Jefferson City and at St. Charles, Mo.

TO PROTECT OUR RIGHTS

America to Discuss Reparations.

Harding Plans Representation of United States at Foreign Conference.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, April 15.—President Harding contemplates the early resumption of American representation on the Reparations Commission and other European conferences dealing with matters involving American rights and interests.

It is not improbable that the first step in this direction will be the appointment of a delegate to the Paris Rosa conference to be held by the Allies on April 30 to consider the financial and economic situation in Austria. This conference was called at the instance of the former American member of the Austrian section of the Reparations Commission.

This projected procedure is in conformity with the peace program announced by the President, which includes the ratification of the Versailles treaty insofar as it relates to American interests. The reparations and economic sections of the treaty are among the parts which the President favors accepting.

PARTIAL RATIFICATION.

While no steps in the direction of effecting such partial ratification of the treaty are to be taken unless the Allies concede the validity of American claims in the pending controversy over Yap and other mandate territories, it is not doubted that Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan will yield to the satisfaction of the United States on this score and thereby pave the way for consideration of the American acceptance of the treaty with reservations.

If the United States ratifies that part of the treaty pertaining to reparations, it will become a party to the enforcement of that section and would be expected to maintain troops on the Rhine during the period of years deemed necessary to compel compliance with the terms by Germany.

It is understood that former Premier Viviani of France, who made his farewell call on the President today, has been assured of American co-operation along this line, provided the Allies satisfy the United States in the matters now at issue. On the whole the French statesman has reason to feel satisfied with the situation. While disappointed that the United States is not going to ratify the entire Versailles treaty and enter the League of Nations, he is gratified that the President purposes American participation in carrying out the reparations provisions, which are of paramount importance to France.

It is significant that France, eager to satisfy the United States, has taken the lead in the effort to persuade Great Britain and Japan of the justice of American contentions in the mandate dispute.

MAY RESUME PLACE.

It is possible that an American representative will resume his place in the Reparations Commission either pending or before the negotiations with the Allies concerning American partial ratification of the treaty. Commissioner Boyden, who was representing the United States, was withdrawn from the commission by President Wilson because the United States had not ratified the treaty. With a numerous body of assistants he went to Paris, where he was instructed to remain until the new administration should come into office. He is still there awaiting instructions.

The administration takes the position that America ought to be represented in the Reparations Commission and on various bodies dealing with economic features of the peace, because these matters involve American interests. The United States ought to have a voice, it is contended, in the determination of reparation terms, if it is to carry out its purpose to stand with the Allies in compelling payment by Germany to the full extent of its ability. What is Germany's ability to pay is an all-important phase of the question.

Moreover, the payment of the Allied war debt to the United States is in part dependent upon the payment of reparations to the Allies, particularly to France. Likewise the levies on export affect the United States. Altogether the economic and financial reconstruction of America is a matter of vital importance to the United States for commercial if not for altruistic reasons.

SENATE GETS BUDGET BILL.

Measure Passed by Assembly Defeating Amendments.

Fight on Floor Occupies All Afternoon Session.

Attack on National Guard Bill Stirs Service Men.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, April 15.—The general appropriations bill to finance the work of the State for the ensuing biennium was passed by the Assembly and sent to the Senate today, just as it came from the Ways and Means Committee. The vote was 57 ayes to 14 no.

Nine amendments, requiring eight roll calls, were defeated by varying majorities.

The fight on the floor occupied the entire afternoon session, and was started by Hurley, who offered a blanket amendment to reduce all items of support 5 per cent from the sums reported by the Ways and Means Committee. After a parliamentary tangle as to the form his amendment should take, it was debated at some length, Coombs, T. M. Wright and White speaking briefly in support of the bill as it was reported, while Hurley, Merriam, Graves and Stevens attacked various specific items. The Hurley amendment was defeated on roll call, 50 ayes to 33 no.

SALARY INCREASES.

Brooks then offered an amendment to eliminate the extraordinary salary increases and that amendment was ruled out of order as not in proper form for an amendment on third reading. Brooks said he would pass the right to offer amendments to single items, and Greene of Pasadena moved to amend the section relating to the board of health by calling out the salaries of sanitary inspectors, $35,400. He said it was a new item and was the most extravagant and unnecessary expenditure that can be enacted."

Chairman T. M. Wright came to the defense of the item and said it was not a new charge, but was only a segregation, whereas formerly it was lumped with some other appropriations.

He explained the duty of the inspectors, and when the amendment went to vote it lost by 27 aye to 40 no.

Then Greene offered an amendment to cut the traveling and contingent fund of the Board of Health from $50,000 to $30,000. After short debate, it went the way of the first amendment, by 40 no, to 33 aye.

He tried a third amendment, to strike out the salaries of district health officers, $37,500, and that failed, 37 aye, to 36 no.

CHARGE AT BOTH ENDS.

Then Graves took the floor and submitted two amendments directed against the budget for the State engineering department. He said the department was charging at both ends of the line for its work for various institutions; that is, it was being paid out of its own appropriation, and was also collecting a percentage from the work done. Wright said that in a few cases a percentage had been charged, because the department funds were exhausted and some fund had to pay for the work, but that the present plans would end that. Graves's two amendments which would have cut $160,240 off salaries heretofore paid from special appropriations and $40,000 from the travel and contingent fund, both out of the bill, were voted down together, 49 no, 23 aye.

Graves then tried to amend the appropriation for the emergency fund for the State Board of Control, cutting it from $400,000 to $100,000. He said it was an incentive to extravagance and that the board used the fund to do things that it did not dare ask of the Legislature. After some brief interchanges, that amendment also lost, 44 no, to 23 aye.

Next Brooks offered a cut in the maintenance fund of the Department of Agriculture, which went down quickly, 47 ayes, to 43 no.

Baker offered an amendment to cut the support of the Board of Control $36,000 and that was defeated, 14 no, to 43 aye.

McPherson offered the last of the series, when he presented an amendment to cut the National Guard appropriation a little more than one-half. It brought on an extended debate, in which service men said they considered the guard worth all it cost as an insurance against unpreparedness, and finally lost, thirteen aye and fifty-one no.

OPPOSITION GIVES UP.

The opposition having showed a fairly steady decrease in the votes polled and having got down to about a dozen on the last roll call, T. M. Wright arose and inquired just how much longer the fight was going to last. He said he would like to get a vote on the main proposition some time.

Graves said that the opposition had amendments "worth millions to the State" but in view of the evident temper of the Assembly, would give them, having, he said, established their position.

General debate on the bill followed, Coombs saying that while he would vote for it, he did so under protest, and because he realized that the business of the State could not halt while minor wrongs were righted. Baker also objected to the bill, saying the Ways and Means Committee was "nothing more nor less than a rubber stamp" and Weber said he felt he must vote against the bill because the Governor had failed to supply information asked for in a resolution propounded by the Speaker, and passed by the Assembly, more than three months ago. His resolution, Weber said, has called for information about the reorganization plans, and without that information he did not feel that the Legislature had been able to do more than grope as far as appropriations were concerned, because they were being made for offices and functions that might, under reorganization, cease to exist.

REVIEWS COMMITTEE WORK.

Merrian reviewed the work of the Ways and Means Committee, and paid tribute to the energy and business he said it had displayed. He said while he did not agree with all of its conclusions, and had hoped to see more support for floor amendments, he felt that the business of the State must go on and that the only thing to do was to support the measure.

The final roll call was then had, the following voting against the bill: Baker, Beal, Benton, Bishop, Bromley, Brooks, Graves, Greene, Heck, Hurley, Lyon, McPherson, Stevens and Weber.

TWO BILLS PASSED.

Before the appropriation bill was taken up today, the Assembly reconsidered, passed and sent to the Senate two bills it had previously defeated. They were by Schmidt, repealing so much of the Industrial Accident Commission law as directed that commission to inspect and condemn steam boilers; and by Bernard, requiring teachers in certain schools to qualify to teach elementary agriculture.

The Assembly also passed a bill by Hurley, prohibiting persons from entering labor unions, either at their own wish or at the behest of others, for the purpose of fomenting dissension.

At a night session, the Assembly passed and sent to the Senate a number of bills, including some appropriations that were included in the budget but were not carried in the general appropriation bill passed today.

The bills passed included:

BILL BY HECK.

By Heck—Kern county government bill.

By Cleveland—Santa Cruz county government bill.

DUTIES OF GRAND JURIES.

The Senate today passed and sent to the Governor for signature, Assemblyman Lewis's bill adding to the duties of grand juries investigation of land deals in which the property might be escheated to the State. The measure was said to be intended to prevent evasions of the Anti-Alien Land Law.

This was one of about thirty measures cleared from the Senate files in the course of a busy afternoon. Only twenty-three Senators were present and as twenty-one votes are required for passage of the bills only uncontested matters were taken up.

The upper house will hold a session tomorrow and plans were laid today for evening meetings next week. With adjournment set for April 29, a program was outlined for speeding action, including a decision to enforce rules barring persons other than members from the floor.

Little progress was made at the morning session, Senator Sharkey's bill to prohibit railroads from requiring employees to ride on top of freight cars, except in certain cases being one of four measures passed. Chamberlin gave notice of a motion to reconsider which will have the effect of delaying final action on the bill.

Among the measures passed and sent to the Assembly for approval were those by the following:

SENT TO ASSEMBLY.

Harris—Two bills intended to clear up the status of nonprofit agricultural corporations.

Lyon and Gates—Amendments to the State Inheritance Tax Act, lopping off certain higher schedules and adding provisions to prevent evasion of the law and to prevent double collection of taxes.

Jones—To establish whole-time health departments in counties.

Sample—To transfer from the State to the city of Coronado tidelands at San Diego Bay.

Burnett—To extend the classes of securities in which insurance companies may invest or upon which they may loan money.

Rigdon—To authorize high school districts to pay tuition for pupils residing within such district who attend school in other districts.

Harris—To permit the insuring of school property by licensed mutual insurance companies.

Among bills by Assemblymen, passed and sent to the Governor, were the following:

Rosenshine—To fix the age limit of capability of minors to contract marriage with the consent of their parents at 18 for males and 16 for females. This bill is intended to clear up uncertainty as to annulment proceedings.

Rosenshine—To prohibit disbarred attorneys from practicing law pending appeal from disbarment judgments.

Cleary—A resolution directing the legislative counsel bureau to investigate compilations of laws by other States and report to the 1923 Legislature plans for compiling California laws.

REAPPORTIONMENT BILLS.

Reapportionment bills for both State legislative and Congress districts will be brought to the floor of the Assembly in the next day or two by Chairman Prendergast of the Assembly Committee on Reapportionment, if he is able to manage it, he said tonight.

"We have a constitutional duty to perform," he said, "and I am not going to have it said that through any lack of activity on my part, reapportionment failed to get out.

"We are coming very close to the last day when we can take action to get a bill introduced. I am going to use every effort to get out bills covering the Assembly and Senate and the three possible Congress reapportionments. I hope to get the committee together tomorrow or Monday, and if that fails, I shall try to get the bills signed out. If that cannot be done, I will endeavor to find some precedent which will permit me to bring them to the floor any way."

It was understood here today that the San Francisco and Alameda delegations had caucused and agreed to do nothing to aid reapportionment, as the northern cities would gain nothing and would have less relative strength in future because of increases that are proposed for the south. The Los Angeles delegation declined to meet the reapportionment committee today but to further effort to get a conference was in prospect.

BRITISH MINERS STANDING ALONE

Mr. Hodges's statement was that the miners were "now prepared to discuss with the owners on the question of wages without raising the controversial issue of the national pool of wages, provided arrangements of a temporary character were made without prejudice to a further discussion of this proposal for a national pool when a further settlement comes to be dealt with."

"The House of Commons," said the London Times this morning, "balked when the crisis came, and took matters in its own hands."

Many members were plainly disappointed with the case the owners made out. Some frankly declared that the wages proposed for certain districts were too low.

"STRIKE CANCELED."

Announcement of the cancellations was made shortly before 4 o'clock this afternoon by J. H. Thomas, general secretary of the railway men's union, who said:

"As far the railwaymen and transport workers are concerned the strike is canceled."

The executive body of the electrical trades union and the secretary of the Railway Clerks' Association called off the strike of their organizations upon announcement of the decision of railwaymen and transport workers not to quit work.

NEW OFFER MADE.

After this meeting Parliament held an independent inquiry and Secretary Hodges made an offer which seemed to open the way for a renewal of negotiations.

The mine owners in the meantime made public the following statement:

"We want, and again invite, the miners' representatives to sit down with us, both nationally and in districts, to see what may be done to improve the wage conditions of those classes of workers who would be most severely affected by a wage reduction. Under present conditions we are ready to sacrifice all claims to a return on the industry, and will be content with a monthly review of the situation until circumstances improve. Government control has left the industry bankrupt. We will do our best to make better terms for underpaid workers and publicly extend this invitation to the miners to meet us and talk things over. What else can the owners do?"

Representatives of four great American banking groups are reported to have already pledged their support.

Constitutional Amendment for Colorado River Power Development.

BY KYLE D. PALMER.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SACRAMENTO, April 15.—Harnessing of the Colorado River in a huge $100,000,000 irrigation, hydroelectric, flood control program destined to supply a fourfold increase in electric power supply in Southern California is made a possibility through a proposed constitutional amendment introduced by Assemblyman Frank F. Merriam of Long Beach.

Seven Western States, California, Arizona, Nevada, New Mexico, Utah, Colorado and Wyoming, are jointly concerned in the proposition, and will, it is hoped, all combine in assisting the Federal government engineers to perfect a plan whereby the Colorado's potentialities for destruction shall be turned to beneficent uses.

Merriam's proposed amendment to the State constitution would serve as an enabling act providing as follows:

AMENDMENT'S PROVISION.

That the State of California, or any municipal corporation or political subdivision of said State, may provide for utilizing of controlling the waters of any stream situated outside of this State, or partly within and partly without this State, or may enter into contracts with political organizations or subdivisions outside of the State to acquire, establish, construct, own, and maintain works, plants or structures for furnishing water or electric energy.

Completion of certain proposed construction affecting Southern California, it is said, would supply 4,000,000 additional horse power to the southern portion of the State and would make available water for irrigating hundreds of thousands of arid acres.

FUTURE NEEDS OF STATE.

"This amendment," Merriam explained, "is offered at this time in anticipation of the future needs and opportunities of the State and especially of Southern California.

"It is a general law applicable to the entire State and of equal importance in every section, though the prospective improvements to be devised by the Federal government in the Colorado River region, affording almost unlimited development of water and electric facilities, make an act of this kind especially desirable to the south.

"It is only the part of wisdom and foresight to prepare now to take advantage of these opportunities, two years being required to complete the consideration and obtain a vote of the people on the proposed amendment."

SUPPORT FROM NORTH.

Northern and Central California representatives are expected to support the Merriam resolution because of the claim that development of the Colorado River project will take care of the needs of Southern California, leaving the northern and central portions of the State virtually a free rein in developing the power resources of the San Joaquin Valley.

In a brief supporting the proposed amendment, the following argument is made:

ARGUMENT FOR MEASURE.

"The amendment is proposed in view of the fact that the United States Reclamation Service, under special authority of Congress, is now making investigations looking to the establishment of works on the Colorado River for reclamation of arid government lands and which would also afford flood protection, and opportunities for the development of electrical power, and that the Federal Power Commission, established under act of Congress, has stated that it is about to make a complete study of the Colorado River basin to determine a proper plan for the utilization and control of the waters of that river, having regard to irrigation, power development and flood control.

"It is anticipated that these investigations will result in the development of this stream, some features of which will necessitate cooperative action by the political subdivisions of several, or possibly all, of the States through which the Colorado River and its tributaries flow.

"The points should be borne in mind:

RECEIVE BENEFITS.

"It is important that when the Federal government acts in this matter, as it will no doubt do very soon, the political subdivisions of California should not, for want of constitutional authority, run the danger of being excluded from participation in the benefits of the undertaking, leaving the other interested States to receive what should belong to the people of California by reason of the fact that the Colorado River is in part a California stream, flowing along the entire State line between California and Arizona.

The development of the Colorado River is needed to provide for the reclamation of arid lands in Southern California; for the protection of the Imperial Valley from the danger of floods and for supplying additional electrical power."

The following organizations have gone on record as favoring the Merriam amendment: City Council of Los Angeles, Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles, Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, Imperial Valley Irrigation District, City Attorneys' Association of Northern and Southern California and the legislative committee of the League of California Municipalities.

DESIRE CREDIT.

Assemblymen Graves, Baker, Benton, Bromley and Lyons of Los Angeles, Merriam of Long Beach and Weber of Santa Monica deserve credit for their afternoon-long attack on the administration's $23,000,000 appropriation bill, but their objections and attempted reductions were, one by one, merrily discarded by a majority of the Assembly.

"The administration showed its hand today," asserted Benton, "and revealed itself as being absolutely opposed to any economy in State expenditures. Our amendments were carefully prepared and sought to eliminate unnecessary governmental costs. It's a matter the people must take up at the next election if any relief is to be obtained."

Troubles multiplied today for Robert G. Sproul, State university comptroller, who is held responsible for defeat of the Lyon bill enabling sections of the State to organize institutes of technology.

Sproul is said to be somewhat aghast over the outburst of indignation that followed discovery of his secret attack on the bill. He departed for Berkeley today with Dr. George E. Leslie of Los Angeles, prepared to go over the situation with President Barrows of the University of California.

Senator Arthur Breed of Oakland, president pro tem of the Senate, informed Senator Gates of Los Angeles today that he was wholly out of sympathy with Sproul's lobbying methods and assured the Los Angeles Senator that he would demand a reopening of the question in order that a fair hearing may be had.

Labor lobbyists succeeded today in temporarily putting over a bill

The Denver and Rio Grande, Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, and the Colorado and Southern railroads annulled all trains to the south. The Union Pacific announced an effort would be made to get trains out tonight to the north and west, though all lines were blockaded today and no trains had arrived. The Rock Island, Union Pacific and Burlington roads reported their lines to the East over the prairies were cleared.

MILES OF WIRES DOWN.

Wire communication was cut off to the south, west and north early today, and only limited wire service was available to the east. Several miles of wire was down between here and Colorado Springs.

At Fort Collins and Greeley the storm broke the power wires and Greeley was without lights and power. The Greeley Tribune-Republican was forced to suspend publication of tomorrow morning's paper.

In the San Luis Valley fourteen inches of snow had fallen late today, with no signs of abatement, and in Alamosa the storm hindered fire fighters and two business buildings were destroyed.

TREES ARE STRIPPED.

OZARK (Mo.) April 15. — About six inches of hail fell within a period of fifteen minutes here, starting about 1:30 this afternoon. All vegetation was beaten into the ground and much young poultry killed. Even the trees were stripped bare of leaves. Crops of all kinds in this immediate vicinity are considered a total loss. The extent of the devastated area has not yet been determined.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 15. — Little damage has been done to crops in California by heavy frosts and low temperatures reported today, in the opinion of G. H. Willson, United States Weather Forecaster.

"Frost damage reports may be discounted to a considerable extent at this time," said Willson. "The fruit and other products are now hardy enough to resist frost to some extent, and the weather does not get cold long enough to allow the frost to work so destructively as it would earlier in the year. Disturbed air conditions also are prevalent at this season and this counteracts the action of the frost effects.

interfere with the just demands of the Allies.

France requires the payment of the entire 12,000,000,000 marks demanded by the Reparations Commission, but is willing to accept a large part of this in kind.

If Germany pays 1,000,000,000 marks in cash, France will consent to discuss guarantees for the remainder. If cash is not forthcoming military action will be started just as soon as the Allies are agreed.

During the tense moments of the industrial situation in Great Britain negotiations between London and Paris have been broken off, but France is preparing for submission to Great Britain as soon as possible a detailed scheme of action. The scheme involves the surrounding of the Ruhr and the whole industrial region of Westphalia. The customs ring will be extended around this district, thus creating a great and rich independent customs state, which it is recognized the Allies must administer.

A great state conference was held this morning at the Champs Elysees under the presidency of Millerand, at which members of the government, marshals and generals were assembled. Among those present were Marshals Foch and Petain and Gens. Weygand, Degoutte, Desticker and Baut. This war council, although the newspapers pointedly refrained from referring to it as such, decided, upon the advice of Marshal Foch and his aides, that nothing would be spared to accomplish the military ends desired.

Until the decision becomes effective on July 1 and there is an actual reduction in operating expenses, it is not likely that the Interstate Commerce Commission will make a move to reduce rates, or make any suggestions to the railroads that they initiate rate reductions. The commission on its own motion, it is pointed out, cannot reduce rates unless it finds them to be unreasonable.

Chairman Clark of the commission, holds that until there has been a substantial reduction in operating expenses, not much hope can be held out for a reduction in dates.

Indigestion and Constipation.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, April 15.—Two bandit gangs out after "big money" met with indifferent success today. In one case they held up two messengers and seized checks totaling $638,000, face value, but they doubtless discovered later that the checks had been canceled.

In the other robbery one of the bandits was killed, two others were wounded, one of them fatally, a fourth member was captured uninjured with $25,000 in currency and the fifth escaped, following a raid on the Cicero State Bank at 10 o'clock this morning. Stephen Picht, a policeman, was shot and taken to a hospital.

This raid was one of the most spectacular in the year's history of spectacular crimes. Quick thinking by the cashier of the bank, who stepped on a floor button connecting with a burglar alarm and thus summoned a squad of riflemen from the Cicero police station, upset the plans of the robbers. The police were watching the robbers when they emerged, carrying the $25,000. Shooting began at once. The driver of the robber car stepped on the gas and fled, leaving his companions to their fate. They each carried two heavy revolvers. More than 100 shots were fired.

In the other raid four armed thieves boarded an Illinois Central suburban train and held up two young bank messengers who were carrying $438,000 in checks, overpowering the boys and taking the two packages of checks, the thieves pulled the bell cord at Twenty-second street and sprang off, quickly disappearing among the tenements at that point. People in the neighborhood said a taxicab was waiting in the vicinity for the thieves.

Officials of the Federal reserve bank say the checks had all been canceled and were being returned to outlying banks. Some of them might be passed upon ignorant persons, they said, but that anyone familiar with checks or able to read would see at once that the checks had been canceled.

SLAIN BY "UNKNOWN." IS VERDICT OF JURY.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 15.—A Coroner's jury returned a verdict today that Alice Byxbee, 19-year-old Fresno girl, was killed here "by a person unknown."

The tragedy occurred in Buena Vista Park on the night of April 1, when Miss Byxbee and a companion were on their way to a party. No trace of the slayer has been found.

The Sao Paulo State government recently signed a new contract for importation of 30,000 more Japanese coolies and these are now arriving in large consignments on the Japanese steamer. When the contract was signed there already were 80,000 Japanese in the State of Sao Paulo alone.

Japanese immigration to both the and the West Coast of south has been greatly facilitated the recent subsidizing of two steamship lines, one to the Brazilian, Uruguayan and ports and the other to with a regular trade with and Chile. An effort is now made to run a fortnightly with these steamers, which bring a new consignment of Japanese immigrants arrives every few weeks.

It is said especially the Japanese people are of the very lowest type of laborer produced in the Japan Islands. The colonization plan which sends them out ly from the outlying is- of the archipelago and the ment under which they are sent to South America are little better than slaves, if any, than the accommoda- tions provided for the exportation of them.

Veteran and No. 2 Receive Joint Note from Wife That She Has Gone Away.

OMAHA, April 15. — Edward Smith, a farmer living near Wood River, Neb., has been in Omaha, according to word from Grand Island today, searching for his niece, who disappeared recently after her husband, Roy, Yates of Kansas City, an A.E.F. soldier, found his wife had married Guy McCracken after receiving a report that he had been killed in action.

McCracken also is said to be a Kansas City man. The woman left with a third man, according to a joint note which she addressed to Yates and McCracken, saying:

"Dear Roy and Guy: I'm leaving with George McDonald and we are going East to be happy. Roy, the war ruined your looks; and Guy, you don't have a job, and I love George, though you've both been good to me.

[Signed] "FRANCES."

Yates lost an arm in the service.

CO-OPERATING HUBBY NOW IS LOSING GRIP.

NO. 1 SUES, NO. 2 MISSING—AND LOVE NEST SOON WILL BE FOR RENT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, April 15.—Troubles galore came to the "co-operative husband" today. He—Herbert T. Andrews, broker—had one too many wives yesterday. Today he actually has none, but technically, two.

Wife No. 1, Mrs. Maud Haynes Andrews, mother of his two boys and who wed him in Portland, Me., years ago, carried out her threat to sue him for divorce today.

Wife No. 2, Mrs. Esther Marie Andrews, the blonde he married in Connecticut in January, is going to file suit for annulment, probably tomorrow.

Andrews also faces charges of perjury and bigamy, preferred in Connecticut. The perjury charge is over his swearing he was single in taking out the license to wed wife No. 2, who was a stenographer-telephone operator.

And there is the landlord's ouster proceedings to be considered. The love nest over in Jersey City, where Andrews took wife No. 2 to live with wife No. 1 and the children, is going to be for rent tomorrow. Proceedings were under way today to break Andrews's lease.

Mrs. Andrews No. 1 and her boys stayed at the love nest today. She put out No. 2 and her husband last night—"on advice of her attorney."

Andrews and wives Nos. 1 and 2 couldn't be interviewed today. In fact, Andrews spent nearly all his time at a lawyer's office and conducted his brokerage business via telephone. Where Mrs. Andrews No. 2 is now hasn't been learned this evening. That she is going back to her parents' home in Pittsburg is considered likely.

SOLDIERS' HOSPITALS ARE BEING DISCUSSED.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Brig.-Gen. Sawyer, designated by the President to take temporary charge of hospitalization work for service men, and Brig.-Gen. Charles G. Dawes of Chicago, chairman of the special commission on soldier relief, conferred today with Chairman Langley of the House Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds regarding the hospitalization legislative program for this session.

Preliminary plans were discussed to be taken up by Chairman Langley again tomorrow with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon. The general purpose of the committee and the President's special advisers is to get quick results in establishing sufficient hospital facilities to meet present needs of the ex-service men.

Instead of going ahead at once with elaborate building plans, it is the purpose to utilize, enlarge and renovate existing hospitals and Army posts and to convert available buildings in some localities for hospital purposes. Chairman Langley already has a bill to appropriate $6,550,000 for improvement of existing facilities. These hospitals, it is planned, shall be widely scattered over the country to meet the requirements of various localities.

TO STOP ARMS FOR IRELAND?

State Department Asks for General Embargo.

Would Prohibit Shipments to Revolutionists.

Understood Government Has Been Asked to Act.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, April 15. — An absolute embargo on the shipment of arms and ammunition from the United States to Ireland would result from an amendment to the Act of 1912, prohibiting the shipment of munitions to American countries, asked by the State Department.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, mystified by the proposed amendment, which is a blanket prohibition against shipment of arms and munitions to any foreign country where they might be used for revolutionary purposes, decided today to ask the State Department for more information on the subject.

According to explanations thus far made, foreign powers have asked the United States to join in a general movement to prevent the shipment of arms to any country in which revolutions are in progress. Identity of the powers interested has not been disclosed.

State Department officials have made no authoritative statement regarding the proposal. Members of the Senate committee said that the department did not indicate that conditions in Ireland had anything to do with the proposal, but it is generally recognized that the Irish revolution must be considered in discussing the amendment.

Reports are current that plans for extensive shipments of arms to Ireland from the United States have been discovered and that this discovery had an important bearing on the action of the State Department in appealing to Congress for the embargo.

One explanation for the amendment, according to members of the Senate committee, was that it had been designed primarily to stop munitions shipments to China. Friends of the Irish republic in Congress are preparing to fight the amendment and to stir up opposition to it throughout the country.

GOOD TAKES ISSUE WITH PRESIDENT.

INTERNAL REVENUE TAXATION OF TWO AND HALF BILLION SUFFICIENT, HE HOLDS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Revenue from internal taxation need not be kept at a level of more than from $2,500,000,000 to $2,750,000,000, Chairman Good of the House Appropriations Committee declared today.

Representative Good took issue with the assertion of President Harding's address to Congress that revenue from internal taxation must be maintained on a basis of at least $4,000,000,000 annually for the next two fiscal years.

Representative Good reiterated his belief that he expressed on previous occasions that the floating debt should not be retired from current revenues, but should be funded into long-term obligations.

"Total revenue of $4,000,000,000 from all sources is ample for the future," said Mr. Good. "This includes $500,000,000 postal receipts, more than $500,000,000 miscellaneous receipts and possibly $400,000,000 from the tariff. This means that the revenue from internal taxation need not be greatly in excess of $2,500,000,000. I have estimated that if we allow $2,750,000,000 there will be a very liberal margin.

"My belief is that the annual appropriation bills can be cut down in the future to not more than $3,500,000,000. The total for the next fiscal year as the bills now stand is only about $6,800,000,000. This includes the interest on the public debt, the sinking fund and postal expenditures. If current revenues are not used to retire the floating debt, there is no reason why we should plan for revenues in excess of $4,000,000,000, including everything.

"We can repeal the excess profits tax and other objectionable taxes without providing substitutes."

ARMY AVIATOR KILLED IN PRACTICE FLIGHT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Lieut. James. J. Langin of Neola, Iowa, was burned to death here this morning when the airplane in which he was making a practice flight over Bolling Field fell, catching fire as it struck the ground. The plane burst into flames, fed by the sixty gallons of gasoline in the tank, and was totally destroyed.

Officers and soldiers, who witnessed the accident, rushed to the rescue, but the body of the lieutenant was burned to a crisp when they reached the spot.

Lieut. Langin had climbed to a height of about 200 feet and was flying straight-away when the plane was seen suddenly to turn over and drop. It will probably never be known how the accident occurred. It is thought that the officer was rendered unconscious by the fall before the plane caught fire.

Lieut. Langin, who was one of the most popular men, who has ever flown at Bolling Field, served on the Mexican border in Co. F, Fourth Nebraska Infantry, with the One Hundred and Ninth Engineers from 1914 to 1916, and was appointed in the air service Sept. 14, 1918, after serving at Scott Field, Illinois, from June 7.

He had made numerous practice flights, having been interested in the airway from Washington to Dayton, O. He was unmarried. His mother, Mrs. J. L. Langin of Neola, Iowa, is his nearest living relative.

LISSNER SEEMS SURE OF PLACE.

Angeleno Probable Choice on Shipping Board.

Chamberlain Other Member from West Coast.

Shortridge and Osborne Work for Los Angeles.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, April 15. — Despite the fact that the Northwest is making renewed efforts to get Col. Forbes of Washington appointed to the Shipping Board it is conceded tonight that Meyer Lissner of Los Angeles and Former Senator George E. Chamberlain of Oregon are to be the Pacific Coast members. It is known that the President will send in the names of the new Shipping Board the early part of next week and they may be sent to the Senate even as early as Monday. The President today indicated that the Pacific Coast appointments as given above are settled.

From all information now available the President will make a clean sweep of all present members of the board and he hopes that his nominations will early be confirmed and proceed to reorganize the merchant marine along the lines indicated in his message at the opening of this Congress. It is said that after the board has organized it is probable that Admiral Benson, present chairman of the Shipping Board, will be elected technical advisor and will be a sort of liaison officer to bridge over the past boards to the new one.

CHAIRMAN IN DOUBT.

There seems to be much confusion as to the man named for chairman. In Washington the idea is scouted that James Farrell of the steel corporation has been granted a leave of absence and will accept the chairmanship for a year. New York persists in believing this report notwithstanding its improbable character.

Former Secretary of Commerce Alexander is sure of one of the diplomatic appointments, and has a large following in the Middle West. It is also probable that William Allen of New Orleans, another Democrat, will, with former Senator Chamberlain, complete the three Democrats to be chosen. An Ohio man is slated for a place, and a Republican from New England completes the slate.

At present the work of the Shipping Board is at a standstill, and the development of new trade routes or the building up of business on lines which still survive seems hopeless. The new board is expected to abandon the present method of operating ships and will develop trade routes by the use of bare boat charter on such a favorable basis that the boats will be put into service and kept busy as possible until permanent trade relations are established.

TO AID LOS ANGELES.

Senator Shortridge and Congressman Osborne, at the request of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, have arranged conferences with the Secretary of War and other officials to secure an adequate appropriation for the immediate widening of the main channels of the harbor at Los Angeles in accordance with the original plans and to accommodate the growing commerce there.

The straightening and widening of the main channel is one of the most important developments of the Los Angeles Harbor and the appropriation committees of both Senate and House will be urged to make the appropriation adequate to secure this important improvement at the earliest possible moment, that there be no interruption to the development of Los Angeles Harbor.

DOESN'T WANT TO COMMIT SUICIDE.

MUSICAL COMEDY ACTRESS HAS CHANGED MIND—DENIES MAN WAS CAUSE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, April 15.—Miss Mary Lygo, petite and pretty musical comedy actress, today changed her mind about wanting to commit suicide. The steps of the camel walk and the tune of "Dardanella" may be said to have some bearing on the matter.

Monday night house physicians rushed to Miss Lygo's room to find her screaming and bleeding profusely from two cuts in her left wrist. Three young men were standing just outside her door.

"It looked as if she tried to commit suicide," said Dr. Clifford Spruce, who attended her.

A reporter who went to her room today discovered Miss Lygo reclining on her bed, attired in a fetching pink negligee and listening to the phonograph strains of a Kreisler sonata.

"Did you try to kill yourself because of any of these men?" the reporter asked.

"Mercy me, no," she replied. "Do I look as though I would kill myself over any man? Well, I should say not. I thought that I wanted to die, but it was just because I was a little—despondent. But nobody can die in peace any more. You persistent reporters won't let 'em."

BOLSHEVIKS FEAR FRESH OUTBREAKS.

MUST MAINTAIN MILITARY STRENGTH, IS COMMISSARIES DECISION.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

RIGA (Latvia) April 15.—Russia must maintain her military strength, in spite of the fact that fighting has ceased on all fronts, as the period of transition from war to peace is one filled with danger, says a resolution adopted at a conference of Army commissaries and commanders at Moscow. The text of the resolution is printed in the newspaper Pravda of that city.

Reports reaching this city indicate there is fear of new disorders in Bolshevik Russia. The organization of the new "international army," plans for which were announced last week, has been commenced. This force will replace the old soviet army and will be made the basis of the military strength, which will be available to enforce the dictates of the third internationale.

PLAN FIGHT ON SEAMEN'S ACT.

La Follette Measure in for Drubbing in Congress.

Opponents Say It is Killing Merchant Marine.

Lake Steamer Companies Have Abandoned Lines.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, April 15.—If the La Follette Seamen's Act can stand the drubbing it is to get at the hands of this Congress it will be eligible to rank with the seven wonders of the world. There has been some opposition to this measure before, but no such fight has ever been planned as the one now about ready to start, and the friends of the bill are alive to the critical situation.

They claim that the plans are to kill the La Follette measure as part of a plan for the open shop and are preparing to put their best men and plenty of funds into Washington to prevent the repeal or modification of the measure, which many students of economics declare has been the greatest factor in driving the American flag from the seas so far as a merchant fleet is concerned.

STARTED ON LAKES.

This time the fight started on the Great Lakes. Shipping men from the lakes have always contended that the law never was intended to apply to the lakes shipping and that its application to this inland fresh water transportation has well nigh ruined the operators of vessels. There have been several embryonic attempts to change the law by the owners and operators of lake vessels, but this time the whole lake country is fighting for relief. It came about in this way.

Some months ago the Detroit and Cleveland Navigation Company, which has for years operated steamers to Mackinaw Island, announced that this service would be abandoned this summer. Following this announcement now comes announcement from all the lines which were fed by the Detroit and Cleveland boats that they have also abandoned their lines. This leaves Mackinaw Island and northern resorts without service and many of the cities of Northern Michigan face a disaster with the summer tourist and resort traffic cut off.

More than forty of the Chambers of Commerce of Michigan held a joint indignation meeting in Detroit the other day and their representatives are now here ready to start a war to a finish on the La Follette law, which they contend is the real cause of the suspension of all steamship service to the resorts.

INDIGNATION MEETING.

This is but the starting point and merchants of the Middle West are going to back up the proposition to say nothing of the ship owners of the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific coasts. They contend that there is no chance for American shipping to compete with the merchant fleets of the world as long as that law remains for the differential forced against the American ships is too great for any corporation to overcome.

GROWING SENTIMENT.

In both houses there is a growing sentiment that the law has been expensive, harmful and without economic justification. Some of the Senators will call attention to the fact that seamen crossing the Pacific on merchant vessels of the United States insist on their rights and collect their full pay and allowances in Japanese or other ports and that after carousing and spending all their wages, they appeal to the United States consuls and are under this same law returned to the United States at government expense as indigent seamen.

Andrew Furuseth, the head of the seamen's union, is coming on from San Francisco to make the fight of his life, for if the opposition to the La Follette act keeps on in volume and speed, his organization is doomed either to be wiped out or to accept some radical changes in this measure.

HOUSE PASSES TARIFF BILL.

Fordney Measure Disposed of After Five Hours' Debate.

All Amendments Voted Down by Party Majority.

Two Roll Calls Necessary Before Victory.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, April 15.—With party lines fairly closely drawn the House tonight passed the emergency tariff bill by a vote of 269 to 112 with two recorded as present. Half a dozen Republicans voted against the bill and nearly a dozen Democrats supported it, but the defections on both sides were fewer in number than when the measure was under consideration in the last session.

Action on the bill came at the end of five hours' consideration of the various sections under the five-minute rule. Numerous amendments were offered by the Democrats and a few by Republicans, but all were voted down upon the insistence of Chairman Fordney of the Ways and Means Committee, who declared that the only chance for enactment of the measure in the Senate lay in making no changes from the form in which it was previously approved by the upper branch of Congress.

POLITICAL CAPITAL.

His admission that the bill had been prepared in accordance with wishes of Senate leaders, gave the Democrats a chance to make political capital, Representative Garner of Texas, declaring that never in his eighteen years' experience had he heard an admission reflecting so upon the membership of the House.

The bill as passed provides increased rates of duty on a score of different agricultural commodities, this portion of the measure being identical with the bill as vetoed by former President Wilson. The new parts of the bill, which may cause some difficulty in the Senate, are antidumping provisions, designed to prevent the sale of foreign goods below the fair value in the home country, as a means of destroying American industries and a provision for the regulation of foreign exchange.

REGULATION OF EXCHANGE.

The antidumping provisions and the scheme to regulate foreign exchange apply to the present Underwood Act, as well as to the rates of duty provided in the new emergency measure. Under the scheme to regulate foreign exchange, collectors of customs in computing import duties will consider that no foreign currency has depreciated in value more than 66 2-3 per cent, the effect of this being to boost import duties on goods from Germany 500 per cent. This is designed as a temporary measure to remain in effect only until the permanent tariff bill is enacted into law, the present plan being to incorporate in the permanent bill a provision for the basing of import duties on the American valuation instead of the present foreign value, thus eliminating the foreign exchange factor.

Senator Penrose, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said tonight that consideration of the emergency tariff bill would be expedited in the Senate as soon as the organization of committees is completed.

TWO ROLL CALLS.

Two roll calls were taken in the House. The first was on a motion by Representative Garner to recommit the measure with instructions to the Ways and Means Committee to strike out the foreign exchange regulation section. The vote on this motion was 118 to 265, only three Republicans voting for the motion, and four Democrats against it.

The second roll call then came on passage of the bill.

Republicans voting against the bill on the final roll call, included Representatives Ansorge, Perlman and Siegel of New York; Luce and Tinkham of Massachusetts and Keller of Minnesota.

Democrats supporting the bill included Representatives Lazaro, Martin, Favrot and Dupre of Louisiana; their support being due to the protection given sugar in the bill; Hudspeth of Texas; Clark and Smithwick of Florida; Lea of California and Campbell of Pennsylvania.

When the bill was voted upon in the last session, a larger group of New England Republicans voted against the bill, and more than forty Democrats favored it.

DRY LAWS BOTHER CANADA.

United States is Not the Only Country Which is Struggling with Prohibition.

BY WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT.

The United States is not the only country where the liquor question is a fruitful subject for discussion and gives the experienced legislator a feeling of despair. The provincial authorities in Canada are wrestling with the problem.

In this country we have put ourselves in a constitutional straightjacket and there is nothing for us to do but to try to enforce strict prohibition. If, after years of trial, it proves undesirable to the nation because futile, perhaps the legislators of thirty-six States can be induced to vote for a repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. But it will require a lesson of long standing to teach enough of our people to do this. Meantime we must, in the best of faith, do everything possible and reasonable to enforce the law.

The published reports of flagrant violations give an unfair view of the situation. The saloon has gone and all admit that to be a great advance. We must not be impatient. The effective organization of a trained and competent police force for such a service is a matter of time and experiment.

NATURALLY INTERESTED.

We are naturally interested in Canada's liquor policy because her long border of 5500 miles offers a great opening for what is euphemiously and alliteratively called "rum-running." If Canada were to make manufacture and sale and the export and import of intoxicants illegal, as we have done, it would greatly help us because the maker and transporter would be under the ban of Canadian law before he reached the international boundary. But any law less stringent will not much interfere with illicit traffic across the border.

The report for 1920 of the Board of License Commissioners of Ontario devotes considerable space to this border traffic. The report says that the narrow waters of the Detroit River facilitating a ten-minute dash across in the proximity of a city of a million people stimulated "rum running" and that there was reliable information that more than fifty men had made more than $100,000 apiece in that vicinity during six months.

The Ontario authorities feel that the reduction in the amount of this traffic which has taken place has been due to their vigorous prosecution of the traffic on the Canadian side. They say that they prosecuted not to protect the United States, but to enforce Ontario laws. The report continues:

CONFINED TO DWELLING.

"The Ontario Temperance Act clearly defines that a citizen's right to have liquor for beverage purposes is confined to the private dwelling in which he resides. If he has a truckload of liquor headed for this border, or if he has it in a camouflaged residence at the water's edge, or concealed in a barn or packed as other goods, he violates the law."

Still there is nothing in the Ontario law, we believe, which makes it an offense to export liquor from the province, nor is there any such prohibition in the Canada Temperance Act affecting the whole Dominion.

We have not been alone in puzzling questions of jurisdiction as between the central government and the local or provincial governments as to export of liquor, though it seems fairly clear now that only the Dominion government can control this. The Dominion government under its general powers passed long ago a temperance act that gave local option in counties, cities, and provinces and provincial legislation must be reconciled to that.

The province may make provision for regulation of the traffic in that part of a province in which local prohibition is not voted by the people. In Ontario, it is proposed to make the law against the sale of intoxicating liquors stronger than it is and a campaign is on there which is full of fervor on both sides.

ADDRESS BY LEACOCK.

Those who have enjoyed the trenchant wit and kindly humor of Stephen Leacock would read with interest an address made by him in Toronto, protesting against the infringement of Anglo-Saxon ideas of personal liberty by forbidding the sale of beer. He denounced the attempt to stifle free discussion by attacks upon the moral standing of those who opposed prohibition. His speech was an impassioned appeal against the futility of trying to make men moral by law.

Whether one agreed with his conclusions or not, his argument, his simple style, his nervously vibrant phrases revealed a strength of conviction and force of expression new to those who have only been familiar with him in his lighter vein.

We find the prohibition sentiment strong in Ontario and still stronger in the prairie Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta and this feeling reflects itself in their laws. In British Columbia, however, the moderates have sway. It is impossible to escape the suspicion that a number of people in that Province anticipate that the proximity of Seattle and Tacoma to Victoria and Vancouver may help trade in the latter cities, if it is not too dry north of Puget Sound.

The prohibition sentiment in Quebec is not so strong as elsewhere in Canada. The Province has had a law restraining the sale of "hard" liquor and limiting general sales to beer and wine with less than a certain percentage of alcohol. But this was not well enforced. The priests of Quebec Province have exerted their great influence to carry prohibition by local option in the rural communities, but this is impossible in cities and larger towns. Mr. Taschereau, the Premier of Quebec, has pressed through the Provincial Parliament a new law. Through a commission the Province is going into the business of selling liquors and wines, i.e., every intoxicating beverage but beer. No manufacturer or wholesale liquor man is permitted to sell spirituous or vinous liquor except to the commission. No one but the commission can sell liquor or wine except that certain licensed shopkeepers can buy wine from the commission to be sold and drunk on their premises. The commission cannot sell more than one bottle of spirituous liquor at a time to a purchaser, for his use as a beverage. A bottle may not hold more than forty-three ounces. This restriction is likely to give advantage in acquiring a stock to a family with many members. There is no prohibition of distilling, which can be carried on by a distiller licensed by the Dominion law. The distiller's only customer is the Province.

The same is true of those who make wine or bring it into the Province and of wholesale liquor importers.

The new law is more liberal as to beer, presumably because it is thought to be the drink of the plain people. Brewers are licensed to make and sell beer to licensed retail dealers. They cannot deliver it themselves, outside of the municipality of the brewery or the adjoining municipality, but must leave the delivery in such case to the purchaser or to a common carrier. Quebec is noted as the most law-abiding Province in Canada. The operation of this new law will furnish evidence of her right to this reputation.

—when you make Chocolate Bread Pudding

Take 2 large cups crumbled bread. Let this stand 30 hour, covered with 3 cups boiling milk. Beat 2 eggs and add ½ cup sugar, 4 tablespoons Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate, butter size of walnut and pinch of salt. Add this to milk and bread crumbs. Flavor with vanilla extract and bake 1 hour in a covered buttered dish, in a medium oven. Serve with hard sauce, whipped cream or vanilla sauce.

Even the lowly bread pudding is glorified when you add Ghirardelli's. For this super-fine chocolate proves a "sweet blessing" to simple and elaborate desserts alike. For puddings, for pastries, for custards, for candies—you can use Ghirardelli's with equal ease. Perfectly ground, it mixes readily with other ingredients. And you get a smooth, creamy chocolate-taste that's pure, wholesome and new!

Ask your grocer for Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate and write for our new book of recipes—it's free!

We asked for this law to protect you!

A law to enforce the regular testing of herds and dairies in Tillamook county, so that only milk from healthy cows would be used in the making of Tillamook Cheese.

The Tillamook Valley is an ideal dairying country, with its cool, even temperature and evergreen pastures. Dairymen have come here from all over the world. Now, the ideal of this whole little valley is to make the finest cheese in the world.

These dairymen were not satisfied with what nature had endowed—did not stop when they had built the most modern plants. They went further and protected the quality of Tillamook Cheese at its very source. The compulsory law makes Tillamook one of the few dairy sections in the world where every cow must be healthy.

To make sure you get the genuine, look for Tillamook on the rind.

SCHUTZ DEFENDANT IN MIXED-UP SUIT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, April 15.—A motion for $60,000 alimony and $25,000 counsel fees has disclosed a queer mix-up involving the plaintiff who styles herself Mrs. Helen Card Schutz, and the defendant, Bernard Schutz, millionaire president of the Eagle Smelting and Refining Company.

Helen Card was known on the stage some years ago as aprima donna and has been prominent in concert work.

She charges that on June 15, 1898, Mr. Schutz entered into a common-law marriage agreement with her. She says Mr. Schutz paid the rent and furnished apartments in various sections of the city. She was finally abandoned, she swears, in July, 1917, and that since that time Mr. Schutz has given her only $250.

It is charged that following the abandonment Mr. Schutz put into execution a conspiracy against Helen Card. Miss Card swore that she and her mother, Mrs. Helen Card, were forcibly removed from their apartment and taken to the psychopathic ward of Bellevue Hospital, where they were held for nine weeks contrary to law and through the operation of the alleged conspiracy.

To all of which Schutz, through his attorneys, replied there never was any common-law marriage, there never was any conspiracy and Mr. Schutz is sorry to learn of the psychopathic hospital incident.

BANK MERGER RUMOR IN NEW YORK DENIED.

OFFICIALS ALSO DENY RUMOR THAT McHUGH WILL SUCCEED STILLMAN.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, April 15.—Representatives of both the National City Bank and the Mechanics and Metals National Bank deny that a merger of the two institutions is contemplated. They insisted that John McHugh, vice-president of the last named, has not been slated for the presidency of the National City Bank, as had been widely reported in banking circles. Mr. McHugh's name has been heard persistently of late as a possible successor to James A. Stillman. One banker in discussing this said that perhaps it would be more correct to say that Mr. McHugh had been "mentioned" than to state he had been "considered" for the position.

With regard to the reported merger, it was said that this had been considered tentatively some time ago, but had been abandond.

MEXICAN OIL FIELD LEASES ARE SOUGHT.

STRIKE OF GUSHER DRAWS AMERICANS AND OTHER FOREIGNERS SOUTH.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN JUAN BAUTISTA (Mex.) April 15.—As a result of the recent discovery of oil near here by a Mexican company hundreds of Americans and other foreigners are flocking into the State of Tabasco. Tentative contracts for the lease of several hundred thousand acres have been made. Instructions have been received from the Mexican government, however, that no lease will be recognized as legal unless approved by the Department of Commerce and Industry.

It is stated by representatives of large American oil interests who have visited the scene of the new discovery that the well was brought in with an initial capacity of more than 100,000 barrels a day at a depth of less than 3000 feet.

REDUCTION IN PAY WOULD AID INDUSTRY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, April 15.—That some reduction in wages would improve the clothing industry was the declaration today of the board of arbitration for Chicago workers, which announced a 5 to 10 per cent cut in wages last night. The board established a minimum of $15 a week.

A reduction of 25 per cent was asked by the manufacturers.

NEW CHIEF OF STAFF SECRET.

Weeks Ponders Records and Keeps Own Counsel.

Some Think Harbord Will be Given Place.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Secretary of War Weeks is continuing his studies today of the records of American Army officers during the days of peace and the days of war. Already he has put his study to account. The upstanding Army question of the day here is what general officer is to be made Chief of Staff as the result of the Secretary's pondering of the records.

Mayhap it will be Maj.-Gen. James G. Harbord, who was in charge of the S.O.S. in France after some hard battling on the line, and mayhap it will be somebody else. Mr. Weeks has not been successful in keeping all his secrets, but thus far he has kept the answer to the Chief of Staff question locked up inside of him.

The Chief of Staff, to all intents and purposes, is the commanding officer of the Army. He is the adviser and the prompter of the Secretary of War.

WANTS BALANCED MAN.

Mr. Weeks wants a man of record and yet a man that he knows will be a sage for advice and devoid of jealousies and of partisan feeling as between the Army factions, which were the outgrowth of the war.

If Harbourd is made Chief of Staff the Pershing influence will be recognized. It is a safe conclusion that the influence of Gen. March, the present Chief of Staff, will weigh not a feather in the selection. The Army probably has told the Secretary indirectly that if he will appoint a man who will not play favorites there will be satisfaction and jubilation in the service.

Nothing has happened, not even diplomatic semidenial, which came the other day, to change the opinion here that Gen. Pershing is to be given the job of looking after the reserve forces of the United States Army, a work of building up and coalescing. It will be a big job, and one which even the ranking officer of the United States Army can undertake without loss of prestige or dignity. There is only a remote chance that Pershing will be named Chief of Staff.

FEW CHANGES IN LIST.

Yesterday there was sent to the Senate the names of the new major-generals and brigadier-generals of the United States Army. As already is known comparatively few changes were made in the list sent over by former President Wilson some time ago. The Senate at the last session declined to confirm the officers' names.

It was a foregone conclusion that Brig.-Gen. Clarence R. Edwards would be nominated as a major-general. Edwards has been discussed too frequently to need additional comment. As soon as the Senate can act he will be confirmed.

It is irony, and perhaps cruelty, that the promotion of Edwards will displace one of his classmates and lifelong friends, Omar Bundy, who was named by Wilson for a place among the major-generals.

Gen. Bundy, like Edwards, has been the center of comment, discussion and dispute. Bundy commanded a division in France and later was relieved from his command. He had a wonderful fighting record before the last war began and it was he who told the French generals who wanted him to order some of his men to fall back that Americans did not know how to fall back. Bundy was praised and criticised alternately for this action. Bundy is an Indiana man, and a fine soldier.

What is going to be done with Edwards, now that he has been made a major-general of regulars? Some army men seem to think that he will retire voluntarily. He has had forty years of service and can retire at any time he wishes. Others say he will stick until the day that the law forces him to go out on the sixty-fourth anniversary of his birth.

There is a rumor that President Harding wants to make Edwards Governor of Porto Rico. If this be true it may be that Edwards will accept for some of his friends say that he would like the job.

SHANKS DID GOOD WORK.

Maj.-Gen. David C. Shanks is the only man promoted to a major-generalship who did not see service overseas, but Shanks did a really tremendous work as chief of the port of embarkation at Hoboken. He tried hard enough to get overseas, but the authorities would not let him go, because he was showing a perfect genius for the work which he had in hand.

Barring Edwards, the only new name on the list of promotions to the rank of major-general is that of George Bell, Jr. He commanded a division overseas and did good work. Moreover, he has been in the active military service of his country ever since March, 1876, when he entered West Point as a cadet.

Secretary Weeks's announcement that the coming year when two retirements in the grade of major-generals occur, Brig.-Gen. Charles J. Bailey and Samuel G. Sturgis will be promoted to fill them came somewhat as a surprise, not because of the names of the favored ones, but because it is against custom to tell men so long in advance that they are to be shoved up. However, there seems to be some wisdom in this because it will stop log-rolling on the part of friends of brigadier-generals, and will save the Secretary of War from the importunities of men who know what they want.

BAILEY SUCCEEDS DICKMAN.

Gen. Bailey will take the place of Gen. Joseph T. Dickman, who commanded the Marne division (the Third) of the American Army, and who later commanded the First Corps in the Argonne and later still the Army of Occupation in Germany.

It may be that Secretary of War Weeks will do the right thing later and recommend that Dickman, accounted by many military critics as the greatest American soldier who saw service on the other side, be promoted to the grade of lieutenant-general on retirement, or even before. Dickman, in the ordinary course of justice, should have been made a lieutenant-general when that honor was given to Liggett and to Bullard, for Dickman not only was a corps commander, but was an army commander, and his services, as the French officers and his own superior officers testify, were of the highest order wherever he entered the field for duty.

Three officers who were nominated by former President Wilson as brigadier-generals will fall back to the rank of colonel as a result of the action of the present administration. They are among the younger men of the Army, and, as the Secretary of War doubtless thought, they can wait. All of them, however, did fine service in France, and it was their youth more than anything else which caused them to be dropped from the list as prepared by former Secretary of War Baker.

CHICAGO'S BUILDING PROSPECTS DIMMED.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, April 15. — What little building being done in Chicago and all building in prospect for the summer will be shut down if the building trades unions do not accept the wage scale of a year ago, providing $1 an hour for mechanics and 70 cents an hour for laborers.

This warning was given Thomas S. Kearney, president of the Building Trades' Council, this morning by Ernest R. Graham of a firm which now has $4,000,000 worth of work on its boards, awaiting a cut in labor costs.

Replying to the claim of Kearney that the contractors will not arbitrate the question of wages, Mr. Graham told him the matter was beyond arbitration.

"You didn't arbitrate with the contractors a year ago when you boosted wages up to $1.25 in spite of the agreement which is still in effect. You just took it. It is not necessary for the contractors to arbitrate to bring wages back to this agreement. The bankers will not advance any money for building operations until you come to the $1-an-hour scale. There will be no money to finance building propositions. If you let this matter come to a fight, we will not be able to help you.

"All building in Chicago will be tied up tighter than a nub. There will be no wage agreement and no work, because there will be a lock-out."

BAY CITY SUPERIOR COURT REVERSED.

MUST HEAR COMPANY'S PETITION TO DRAW WATER FROM SLOUGH.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 15.—Action of the San Francisco Superior Court in refusing to allow a hearing of a petition by the Tulare Water Company that it be allowed to draw 2000 cubic feet of water a second from Buena Vista Slough in Kern county was reversed today by the District Court of Appeals.

The lower court had sustained a demurrer of the State Water Commission, which previously had denied the company any right to the water. The slough leads from the Kern River.

The action was started in 1915, when the company first applied for the water. The executive officer of the commission denied the application, and his action later was confirmed by the commission as a whole. The company appealed to the courts and the commission filed a demurrer.

The original action was heard in this city on account of the defendant's headquarters being located here.

ARTHUR HAMMERSTEIN IN DOMESTIC TROUBLE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, April 15.—Discord in his home, has caused Arthur Hammerstein, theatrical producer, to retain an attorney to represent him in any legal proceedings he may institute against his wife, who, under the stage name of Claire Nagel, has appeared in many musical comedies.

Mr. Hammerstein says that differences had arisen between him and his wife. He stated they had ceased living together five or six weeks ago.

Up to a couple of months ago Mrs. Hammerstein was playing the leading feminine role in one of her husband's productions. She left the cast in Philadelphia and is now reported to be in seclusion in Laurel in the Pines, Lakewood, N. J. Miss Nagel is Mr. Hammerstein's third wife.

MORE TROUBLE IS DUE WITH KANSAS MINERS.

UNION MOVEMENT STARTED TO IGNORE STATE INSPECTION OF MINES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PITTSBURG (Kan.) April 15.—A movement to refuse to recognize the State inspection of mines has been launched among the local unions of the Kansas district of the United Mine Workers of America.

Promoters of the movement, believed to have the encouragement at least of Alexander Howat, the district president, explain that the Kansas mine inspection department now is under the supervision of the Court of Industrial Relations, against which the miners' union has declared warfare.

As the mine inspection department is directly charged with keeping the coal mines in a safe condition for work, the refusal to recognize the inspectors, involving disregard of the orders of the inspectors, may lead to complications.

WINE SEIZURE LARGE.

WOODLAND, April 15. — Theodore Pappas and Gust Pappas, his cousin, were arrested here today by Yolo county officers. Twenty-five hundred gallons of wine were seized.

Preventive Medicine.

The tendency of medical science is toward preventive measures. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. Pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, often follows a cold or attack of the grip. The cold prepares the system for for the reception and development of the pneumonia germ. The longer the cold hangs on, the greater the danger. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the first indication of a cold appears so as to get rid of it with the least possible delay. It is folly to risk an attack of pneumonia when this remedy may be obtained for a trifle.—[Advertisement.]

Many Notable Schools are Buttonlath-ed

—And the architects and builders of these handsome school buildings have investigated and proven to their own satisfaction the durability and worth of this superior lathing.

Fire protection is of paramount importance in school construction, but this characteristic of Buttonlath is only one of its advantages. Being a perfect sound deadener, it prevents echoing and transmission of noises, its plastic content makes it impervious to both heat and cold and the positive mechanical bond prevents checking and plaster cracks.

Today, economy in constuction is an important factor, but when in addition you can build better buildings—it pays to use Buttonlath. For sale by lumber and building material dealers.

DAILY TRADE TALK.

America's Business Miracle Man; New Branch Bank; Finance; Prices.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

The most interesting character in the business life of America today is Henry Ford, and the most interesting industrial enterprise, positively absorbing in its dramatic unfoldment, is the one which bears the name of this wizard, who dreamed a dream, and then made the dream come true.

It is practicable to discuss Henry Ford with somewhat greater freedom than a great private corporation whose securities are held by the public. Ford plays a lone hand, and in his rise or fall will be responsible to no one but Henry Ford.

Financiers were saying a few weeks ago that Ford had overguessed the absorption power of the country; that his efforts to secure within his own grasp and for his own benefit, the great business which is the concrete consummation of his early dream, would bring him, hat in hand, to the New York bankers (including the Jews) for a vast number of millions to save himself from disaster.

The papers said that he owed between $60,000,000 and $75,000,000 in addition to his Federal taxes, payable this year, which amounted to $44,000,000. So we waited for Ford to done the sackcloth and sprinkle the ashes and assume the role of debtor; a role, we all know, would not fit him gracefully.

DEBUT DEFERRED.

But the Ford debut was deferred from day to day and from week to week, and now comes a statement from one close to the magnate himself that he paid, in March, the $11,000,000 Federal taxes due in that month; that he will clean up every cent he owes the banks during April; that he will make about 90,000 cars this month and that he is behind his orders. Wall street is still wondering just how to go about chastising a man like that.

A month ago an article was prepared for Trade Talk dealing with the probable absorption point in automobiles, but was pigeonholed for further information. It was said in that story that the financial and the automotive world were wondering if the absorption point had not been about reached, especially in flivvers.

A Los Angeles man was offered an agency in a section of the city devoted to middle-class homes just the place for Ford salesmanship, he thought. Before closing the deal he made a canvass of the likeliest streets to ascertain how many prospects there might be. He discovered that every single one of the home dwellers visited were either possessed of a Ford car or a car of some other make, and that several owners were offering their cars for sale on economic grounds. Continuing, the article in question said:

"It is reasonable to suppose that this condition reflects more or less accurately the state of affairs not only in Los Angeles, but throughout the country, and if it does, it means that the Ford plants have passed their production peak and that from henceforth their activities must be turned to replacements, plus a small normal increase in keeping with population growth. And a completely scrapped Ford is about as rare as a deceased mule, than which there are few sights more rare."

PASSING ABSORPTION POINT.

"There is already, in some States a car for every six or seven of population. Eliminating the babies and those who walk perforce or because they prefer that out-of-date system of locomotion this means that pretty much everyone has a motor to which he may turn upon occasion, and the foreign market is practically closed for the time being.

"When a sponge is filled it will hold no more water. When salt is added in sufficient quantity to a soluble liquid the solution becomes a solid. The absorption has been reached."

Trade Talk is glad that this time it was not printed, although at the time it was written, only a few weeks ago, it seemed to accurately reflect the conditions. Since then Ford has gone back to 1,000,000 a year production and is still climbing. Other manufacturers have resumed almost normal output; tire factories are speeding up; new cars are almost as numerous as griddle cakes, and there is no more indication of having reached an absorption point than there was a year or two ago, the lessened production just about representing at this time the curtailed foreign market.

And there we are.

BRANCH BANK OPENING.

The Pico and Figueroa branch of the Citizens' Trust and Savings Bank will occupy beautifully appointed new banking rooms today, and the officers have issued an invitation for a public inspection from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., of the attractive plant, which is situated on the southwest corner of the intersection of the streets named.

The Seventh-street shopping district is rapidly assuming an importance as a subsidiary financial area, banks and a few investment houses finding it profitable to maintain branches where women customers as well as the thousands whose work is in that community may have ready access to the conveniences afforded.

Bank officials say that more women than ever before now maintain bank accounts of their own, and use the checkbook instead of the purse in their trading, while the bond and stock markets are by no means the sealed books of mystery they were before we began investing our loose change in investment enterprises.

RETURN TO NORMAL.

Business men, and by that is meant bankers and others who have to do with the financial affairs of the community, hold steadily to the view that a return to normal conditions can now be expected; that such a return is, in fact, in process of development. Some of them with whom Trade Talk sought counsel yesterday say that this return will necessarily be slow, and that over-optimism will be a hindrance rather than a help. The major part of the seasoned opinion appears to be confident, but conservative in expression, and it is upon such solid foundation that a lasting superstructure may safely be erected.

WIRE TROUBLE.

The worst storm of winter laid the wire service low yesterday through Colorado, and practically put the leased wire houses in Los Angeles out of business. The only outlet for the greater part of the day was through Canada, and that soon became so badly congested that all business was subject to indefinite delay. As a result of this condition The Times market reports are seriously curtailed this morning.

LOS ANGELES STOCKS.

The practical cutting off of the eastern markets had the effect of slowing down transactions on the HIGH SPOTS.

Remarkable story of Ford accomplishment and automobile absorption.

Broadway bank opens branch in heart of shopping district.

Los Angeles business men say a return to normal is under way, but urge conservatism.

More eggs and butter in cold storage than a year ago.

Number of idle freight cars makes new record. Railroad men think the zero hour has been passed.

Great storm in Colorado cuts off wire service with East and reduces market reports. Home stocks affected and day of light business resulted.

Los Angeles board yesterday, and the volume was lighter than usual. Goodyear preferred continued in good demand at 63.00, and on the strength of plans for a great hotel, including the present Trinity Auditorium, which were announced exclusively in The Times, Los Angeles Investment strengthened to sales at 87 cents.

There was brisk activity in Midway Northern oil, which opened at 58 cents, moved up 2 points and reacted to sales at 57 cents, with a closing bid of 58. Republic Petroleum was strong and in good demand at 34 cents. General Petroleum was weak at 114.50, and Globe Grain and Milling sold off to 24.50, a net loss of 5½ points since Wednesday, due to the statement of condition given publicity yesterday. A small off board lot changed hands as low as $2.00.

Delaware Union firmed up to 20.00 and the California company to 152.12½. California Edison was strong at 92.75, and California Packing, common, at 58.00. Mines were very quiet and there was no material change in the bond market.

ANOTHER MOVING DAY.

Another investment house has taken up its home in the new Stock Exchange Building, where Watson & Co. is equipped with more commodious quarters than in the Van Nuys Building, the former location. An expansion of service accompanies the change, an unlisted department having been added, together with an information bureau for the benefit of investors seeking accurate data.

ABOUT GLOBE PREFERRED.

Trade Talk hears rumors that the preferred stock of the Globe Grain and Milling Company is soon to be assessed, and in response to this rumor a small block was sold on the stock exchange at 50.

It will be well for holders of this security to bear in mind that it was issued as fully paid and non-assessable, and that whatever assessments are to be levied, if any, upon stockholders of the Globe Grain and Milling Company will have to be borne by the common stockholders.

TAX TABLE.

An interesting and instructive tax table has been prepared by the California Company, analyzing and comparing the rates of income that are received from securities subject to the Federal income tax in comparison with rates of income received from bonds which are not subject to Federal income taxes.

TRADEMARKS AND PATENTS.

The first case on record of trademark infringement occurred in the reign of Queen Elisabeth (1590.) A Gloucestershire clothier had built up in the London trade a reputation for quality of his product. His private mark was copied by another tailor, without authority, and the court awarded a verdict to the complainant, who had bought the second tailor's cloth in the belief that it was of the Gloucestershire man's manufacture.

Trademarks and good will are undoubtedly the biggest assets many industrial companies have. American Tobacco Company carries these items in its balance sheet at $54,000,000; Hart, Schaffner & Marx at $15,000,000; Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co., $44,000,000; Maxwell Motor Company, $25,000,000; Sears, Roebuck & Co., $30,000,000, and Gillette Safety Razor Company, $4,225,000.—[Wall Street Journal.

FOOD IN STORAGE.

Eggs and butter continue to show a material storage increase over a year ago, while cheese and potatoes have fallen off. The following cold storage report for the week ended April 13, indicates the volume of commodities held in Los Angeles warehouses:

Commodities—	Last year.	This year.
Eggs (cases)	26,209	31,374
Butter (pounds)	76,733	141,500
Cheese (pounds)	144,507	201,540
Apples (boxes)	154,000	200,000
Potatoes (sacks)	43,000	14,200

COSTS LESS IN AKRON.

P. W. Litchfield, factory manager for Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of Akron, says that living costs in that city have declined 25 per cent from the peak. House rents have decreased 25 per cent; room rents 50 per cent; wholesale grocery prices 40 per cent, and retail grocery prices 27 per cent, according to his statement. At this rate it will soon cost no more than twice as much to live in Akron than it does in Los Angeles, where house and room rents have declined scarcely at all, wholesale grocery prices about 25 per cent and retail prices about 15 per cent.

SINCLAIR LISTED.

Information was received yesterday morning at the Los Angeles offices of Blair & Co., Inc., that the issue of Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation five-year secured 7½ per cent convertible gold notes, due May 15, 1925, has been listed on the New York Stock Exchange, and henceforth will be traded in on the big board.

DULL SHIPPING MOVEMENT CAUSES PRICES TO DECLINE; TOMATOES FIRMER.

Although most of the leading lines closed firm and unchanged on the local grain market yesterday, a downward trend was shown by some of the offerings, owing to liberal supplies from the country. Artichokes remained firm, with a slight advance in price, the fancy offerings bringing from $1 to $1.25 per dozen. A slight gain was also made by Mexican tomatoes, the best offerings of which were bringing $4 per lug in the original boxes. Repacked lugs were selling at $4.25 each. Turnips advanced to $1 and $1.25 per sack and Imperial Valley asparagus, which was in good demand was bringing from 11 to 13 cents per pound. Lettuce was slightly weaker, the field crates of local stock bringing from $1.75 to $1.90 each. Summer squash was also weaker with demand and movement slow at $1.50 to $1.65 per crate.

Idaho Russet potatoes were bringing from $2.25 to $2.50 per hundred yesterday, with fancy supplies very light, and strong undertone prevailing. Idaho Burals sold readily at $1.85 to $1.90 per sack, and the Oregon Burbanks were bringing from $2.15 to $2.25. Track supplies yesterday morning comprised only 15 carloads, and dealers were reported holding blanket prices on account of the limited offerings.

Weakness was again in evidence in the Los Angeles shipping point market, the entire list of the East was very light. Cash carlot sales were being made at $2.15 to $2.75 per dozen crate, while at New York sales were from $2.50 to $3. Loadings are lighter on account of the weak condition of the market, but the quality of the offerings continues very good.

COTTON MARKET IN SHARP ADVANCE.

OPENING 21 TO 26 POINTS HIGHER IN LIVERPOOL, WHICH IS GOOD BUYER.

NEW YORK, April 15.—Higher Liverpool cables followed by reports that the call for a strike of railway men and transport workers in Great Britain had been cancelled led to a sharp advance in the cotton market here today.

There were conflicting reports as to the English labor situation when trading here started but the opening was 21 to 26 points higher on the advance in Liverpool and after setbacks of several points the market rallied up to 12.18 for May and 12.75 cents for July, or 42 to 43 points net higher.

Liverpool was a good buyer for a while and there was also Wall street and local buying on the advance, which was promoted by expectations that a settlement of the labor trouble would be followed by activity in the British goods trade and a revival of export demand for raw material.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, April 15.—The stock market was active and strong today, suddenly reversing its position of previous days, as a result of cumulative developments of highly encouraging character.

Chief among these was the decision of the United States Railway Labor Board abrogating the contracts entered into by the Federal administration. This leaves the transportation companies free to deal individually with their employees and not with the labor organizations.

Improvement in the British labor situation exerted a favorable influence, while the reduction of rediscount rates by the Boston branch of the Federal Reserve Board heightened expectations of easier money rates in the near future.

Domestic industrial advices were mixed, but constructive in the main. Tendencies toward trade stabilization were furnished by additional price cuts in steel and iron products announced by one of the United States Steel subsidiaries and several of the independent producers.

In other branches of industry and commerce, such as textiles, leathers and general merchandise, overnight advices were distinctly hopeful, pointing to increased output and revival of public consumption.

Heavy selling for profits failed to impair prices, the list being at its best in the last hour. Leading rails made net gains of one to almost three points, while oils, steels, equipments and related specialties registered advances of two to five and one-half points. Sales amounted to 750,000 shares.

Domestic money rates were again unchanged, but remittances to Europe hardened, the only exception being the Italian rate, which forfeited part of its recent rise.

Bonds were dull and benefited only slightly by the day's news. Liberty issues, tractions and some of the foreign group made moderate gains. Total sales, par value, were $9,975,000.

FINANCIAL AND TRADE REVIEW.

portion, for the year 1920, is most favorable and shows earnings for the year in excess of those estimated by the company at the time the notes were offered by the bankers.

IDLE CARS.

A little more than one-fifth of the total number of freight cars owned by the railroads of the United States are idle, official figures showing that 495,904 cars are standing on spurs and sidings. It is reasonable to assume that this represents the low mark, for railroad supe.intendents everywhere assert that there is a continual improvement in daily reports from terminals.

NEW SCHOOL ISSUE.

A new issue of $98,000 Compton city school district 6 per cent bonds, dated April 1, 1921, in denomination of $1000 and maturing $3000 a year, April 1, 1922 to 1943, inclusive, and $4000 a year, 1944 to 1951, inclusive, is being offered by the California Company. The bonds are a legal investment for savings banks in California and are acceptable as security for public deposits. They are exempt from personal property taxes in California and from Federal income taxes, so that the income derived therefrom is net to the purchaser.

Compton city school district embraces an area of eleven and seventenths square miles in and around the city of Compton, which lies between Los Angeles and Long Beach, in Los Angeles county. The district is mainly an old settled agricultural one, having been incorporated in 1900 and contains a population estimated at over 3500.

The bonds are being offered at prices beginning with the first maturities to net 6 per cent and increasing to 5.40 per cent basis on the last maturities.

TO REGULATE EXCHANGES.

Senator Heflin of Alabama, is all "het up" over the grain exchanges, which he is reported to have called "gambling dens pure and simple." A "pure and simple" gambling den would be worth seeing. The Senator proceeds: "If we cannot regulate the cotton and grain exchanges, so as to prevent a thieving band of gambling marauders from manipulating them, so as to deprive the American farmer of fair prices and living profits, I am in favor of passing a joint resolution putting them out of existence."

As a matter of fact if it were not for the grain and cotton exchanges and the other mediums of exchange, our markets would be in a state of chaos. Most of the business transacted is legitimate barter and trade, the whole having a tendency to stabilize and establish prices for the benefit of grower and consumer alike. There is no more sense or justice in calling them gambling dens than there would be in denouncing any business because of the few black sheep within its fold. Caveat emptor.

BEST TRACTOR.

One of the most encouraging annual statements made by a Pacific Coast industry is that of the C. L. Best Tractor Company, which is now in process of preparation for submission to stockholders. This concern has come through the trying readjustment period in fine shape and shows quick assets of $2,393,155.04 with which to pay current liabilities of $630,399.54. This showing is made after writing down inventories to cost or market, whichever was the lower, and eliminating all obsolete parts or material in service stores exceeding one year's sales requirements.

Another encouraging feature of the report is that during the month of March the company's sales of its products amounted to more than $450,000, representing the selling price of 117 tractors shipped during that month. Officials for the company say this was the largest March business in the history of the concern. The information, together with the balance sheet as of Dec. 31, 1920, is made public through the office of Cyrus, Peirce & Co.

BARLEY MOVES UP TO STRONGER CLOSE.

A strong feeling developed for barley on the local grain exchange yesterday, nearly all shipments starting up during the session to a higher close. The advance was due primarily to the strength of the outside markets, current again being limited. Transit barley closed firm and unchanged, but the ten and twenty-day shipments were all easily one ton higher, and deferred delivery made a gain of 50 cents. In the future months, the first half of May shipment exined 50 cents, while all May barley was 25 cents higher than the ruling quotations of the preceding day. Sales included to a car of No. 1 feed barley for May at $1.37½, and No. 2 dark hard winter wheat at $2.27½.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, April 15.—A decided change in the speculative atmosphere prevailed on the grain markets today. Lessened selling pressure and a belief that the big liquidation is over and that the markets have been oversold led to constructive operations among a large number of local traders. There was a good advance and a higher close. At the finish wheat was up 1¼ for May and ¼ cents for July. Corn showed gains of ½ to ¾ cent and oats were up ¼ to ¾ cent.

News regarding labor troubles in England was a leading factor. Private news indicated that the trouble will soon be adjusted and its influence as a depressing factor is waning.

Good buying of May by a local cash house and sales of 250,000 bushels taken by by sellers as well as sales for export, and a good influence. Indications are that local stocks will show only 100,000 bushels decrease here for Monday with poor prospects of getting any wheat from outside markets unless the price here advances to a shipping basis.

Lower prices for corn here and in the country attracted attention and there was a short covering on the weak spots while on the bulges there came out in fair volume. May was up to 38¾ cents and finished at 38¾ to 38¾ cents. Country offerings in Illinois were larger with sales of No. 2 mixed to arrive at May prices. The eastward movement was fair. Indications are that stocks will show a good reduction for the week.

SHOULD MAKE BRITISH STRIKE OUR WARNING.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, April 15.—Claus A. Spreckels, president of the Federal Sugar Refining Company, just returned from Europe, where he studied conditions, said today:

"The great English strike should be a warning to us here. The workers abroad admit that wages should come down, but they insist that food prices come down, too.

"It is discouraging to return to the United States and find proposals that will add many millions to the nation's food bill. Most of these increases, as with sugar, are unnecessary and unwarranted. The price of sugar is being attacked from two sides, each determined to raise it at the expense of the consumer. There is plenty of sugar in the world and the public should be enjoying it at lower prices. Instead, the Cuban Sugar Finance Commission has arbitrarily raised the price 1½ cents a pound.

"To make things worse, Congress is considering an increased tariff on sugar, ostensibly to protect the domestic sugar farmers. The best sugar farmers do not need emergency tariff protection. They have already sold their crop. The only result of the tariff will be another rise in sugar prices."

SACRAMENTO, April 15.—Assemblyman Oscar W. Smith of Santa Barbara took the floor in the Assembly during a lull of work tonight and announced that Santa Barbara, which lost the Ambassador Hotel Wednesday by fire, was to have a new hotel in its stead.

"The one that was burned cost a million," said Smith, "and I am informed by representatives of S. W. Straus, who held the control, that the new one will cost $2,000,000 or more, and will outclass the old one."

Applause and good-natured comment about other California improvements greeted the statement.

Three Gangsters Hang in Chicago; Chief Collapses.

CHICAGO, April 15.—Sam Cardinella, master mind of a gang of thieves and murderers, and Joseph H. Costanbo and Salvatore Ferrera, all convicted of murder, were hanged here today. Cardinella broke down this morning on learning that Antonio Lopez, who was to have been executed with him, had been reprieved last night by Gov. Small. The drop fell for Cardinella at 10:24 o'clock.

As Cardinella was carried to the scaffold, his head swayed from side to side. His eyes were closed when the shroud was placed about him. He apparently was unconscious. A few minutes before, when the Sheriff entered the death cell to read the death warrant, Cardinella fainted. Ferrera and Costanzo, however, displayed little emotion, and walked to the scaffold unassisted.

Sallie at the Markets

Household Needs and Sallie's Helpful Hints for Saturday Shoppers.

A WEDDING BREAKFAST SUGGESTION.

Cream of Tomato Soup
Celery Olives
Sweetbreads and Mushrooms under Glass
Hot Rolls Latticed Potatoes
Avocado Pear Salad
Meringues Glaces
Cake Coffee

Haven't you known many homes in which a dinner was conspicuous because of the absence of a salad? In the old days salad dressings were a task to make. Many housewives, even though considered good cooks, were afraid to attempt an oil mayonnaise which was infinitely more tasty than the boiled dressing, consequently salads were nonexistent. Ah, but today we have Jevne's mayonnaise which turns our simple dinner into a regular feast, for we buy a lovely head of lettuce for a mere trifle in Los Angeles, get out the Jevne's mayonnaise and add some cream or oil, or both, perhaps in addition chopped pickles and olives, with the result that the salad course takes the lead over all others and to Jevne's we tender a vote of thanks. Their mayonnaise deserves all the praise they receive, which is considerable.

Yes, I am using Milcos and I am one of its staunchest supporters, for it has been put to the test and not found wanting. And this is the way it happened. I ordered my usual brand of butter from the grocer and when the basket of groceries was delivered, Milcos was swapped by mistake, of course, for the butter I was in the habit of using. Necessity knows no law and my cake was in process of making. It was use Milcos or nothing, so I took the plunge and was beautifully rewarded. The sequel of the story is this, Milcos, though a margarine, is used on biscuits and hot cakes in my house and it always receives an ovation by those who eat it. All I ask you to do is try it once.

Egg shells may be used for clearing coffee and clarifying bouillon.

I have a "New Home" which I want all my readers to hear about. It is not a house, but a sewing machine and one which deserves a very high eulogy. At the Eastern Outfitting Co., 420-426 South Main, the New Home is being demonstrated that you may become fully cognizant of its numerous advantages. I would urge you to go in and give this machine serious consideration. These are sewing days, summer clothes are to be made, Kiddies wardrobes must be replenished and a machine bought at the Eastern Outfitting Co., on easy payments pays for itself in no time at all.

After having Peggy and Jane consume perfect hours, raving over the new Bilmar Cafe on West Fifth—216½ the number—I was consumed with curiosity and ever so eager to try their cuisine. "A big steak with mushrooms" was the most important item on my order, and oh! but it was good! You must take time when next downtown marketing to stop in the Bilmar for luncheon. There's a treat in store for those who don't know what Billy Schneider is offering the public.

'Tis interesting to know one may buy Andes Coffee of Superior Quality, imported direct from Colombia, South America, and then roasted before your very nose, so to speak, in their new home in the Hoover Market. It is an interesting story how the coffee beans which they use are selected with utmost care, many of them being taken from the private ranch of one of the owners. Then even more attention if possible is given to the roasting so that those lovers of the beverage may be assured of a drink "fit for the gods!" Phone 6781 for the desired amount to be delivered, or visit their stall in the Hoover Market.

The paper bag proves useful in covering pitchers or pots containing food.

Really it is almost wicked to allow your hardwood floors to become so badly marred. There is no time like the present. Right now, before you forget it, call Pico 1650. It's the Acme Cleaners' number. They clean, wax and refinish floors beautifully, my dears; they look like new and are ever so easily kept clean afterwards. You won't forget to make an appointment with them, for delays may be disastrous, you know.

It's tulip time in Lichtenberg's Floral Shop, 324 West Sixth, and when you see what gorgeous blossoms they are showing, you will wish it were possible to have tulips such as Lichtenberg's sell with us always.

Roses and weddings go hand in hand. A tiny peep into Litchtenberg's so charms you that a second glimpse seems imperative. Their roses particularly are the most beautiful I have seen. 324 West Sixth is their address.

For a name it has La Casa de Flores, which in itself is irresistible and instantly suggests patios and cooling breezes and sweet scented jasmine or cadena de la amour climbing over pillars in a riotous manner, but what is more important is that in this wondrous "house of flowers" one may, by making an early reservation, have dinner or a delightful afternoon of bridge in the patio, after which a smartly uniformed maid will serve a dainty repast. The phone number is 23010 and address 246 W. Adams. The rest I leave to you.

"No need to guess the name of the maker of ice cream Heloise. Dollars to doughnuts it's Hughes"—and bless you, the girl guessed right the very first time. It's the orange flavor everyone is raving about these days, and you can't blame them; as a matter of fact you congratulate them on their excellent judgment for Hughes's orange ice cream has the flavor of the real fruit, with thick pure cream and sugar added, then, too, all are frozen so evenly that the result is you have the smoothest cream imaginable, one which the whole family adores and grows more devoted to each time they eat it. Why not call up and place an order for some for tomorrow's dessert?

Machine oil stains should be rubbed with soap and cold water.

You can't deny the fact that spring weddings are in the air and galeties galore are in the planning. One doesn't require a retinue of servants to entertain when the Elite Caterers and Confectioners of 641 Flower are at our beck and call. Any affair, from one of greatest magnitude to the one of smallest simplicity, they handle with the ease one associates with experts, which, indeed, they are, the result being that entertaining done with the assistance of the Elite is a pleasure.

Are you using Angelus Lustre Cream on your colored leather trimmed shoes? You know this superior product, made by men who have been in the business for over twenty years, keeps all your shoes immaculate and preserves the leather in them besides. New leather-trimmed slippers which I bought a while back, look like new after being cleaned with Angelus Lustre Cream and the children's white buck shoes are no longer a bugbear since Angelus Cosmopolitan dressing has been used on them. Insist upon Angelus products and know the satisfaction to be derived from shoes which always look well.

Bulbs grown in pots may be usually planted afterward in the garden.

Joan had a little neighborhood party this week past. These little gatherings of her playmates are simple affairs as you will better understand as the story progresses. At any rate they make her happy and that after all is what matters most. I let her decide what she wants by way of refreshments and this last time was nonplussed by having her ask for "Just bread and butter and sugar, but I want Jevne's bread, because the crusts are so good." I quite agreed and willingly granted the request for Jevne's bread down to the last crust is simply delicious. Do you know a great many people prefer it to cake? In today's order insist upon Jevne's bread being sent you that you may see how excellent it really is.

Well, I thought I knew most of the uses to which I might put vinegar, but here is the latest, a vinegar rinse instead of lemon after shampooing your hair. A well-known hairdresser claims it is most beneficial and promotes the growth of the hair. "I take great care to select as fine a vinegar as possible," she adds. Why not the Jones Brand? It is a real apple cider vinegar of highest quality, which may be bought in bulk or in glass bottles. The cost is moderate, and made in California; it seems to me every housewife should begin to use it if they are not already loyal patronizers of home products.

Phospo Meal! What visions of perfect breakfasts that conjures up, for after using it at this first meal of the day, whose importance none can doubt, you feel you can fittingly apply those words from the Sanskrit:

"For yesterday is but a dream—and tomorrow
Is only a vision; but today, well lived,
Makes every yesterday a dream of happiness
And every tomorrow a vision of hope!"

Always room for some more seeds or plants, or fruit trees when they may be bought for half price at Winsel-Gibbs seed store, whose address is 211 South Main. This concern is one of the oldest and most reliable of its sort in Los Angeles and worthy of your patronage.

A cottage cheese pie lends variety to a dinner. Make it from the L. A. Creamery product, which is known the city over for the sanitary way in which it is made of pure pasteurized Los Angeles milk, which is brought to a scalding point, then divided from the whey, afterwards cooled and rich thick cream added to it. You can buy this utterly delectable cheese for a very reasonable amount and for summer dishes it is simply ideal. Make sandwiches of it for the children. These sandwiches are a perfect accompaniment for afternoon tea, especially when a little jelly is added, and you know that in nutriment L. A. cottage cheese has no rival. Physicians urge us to eat it more because it contains no high an amount of calories. You know it is never too late to begin the use of anything which will benefit us, so no later than today order a carton of L. A. cottage cheese, thereby pleasing your family as well as adding to their good health.

Filled Cookies—One cup sugar and egg creamed together, one cup sour cream, a little salt, one teaspoon soda, half teaspoon vanilla, flour to roll out thin. Filling—One cup raisins put through food chopper, a small piece of butter, half cup hot water. Add to this half cup sugar in which one heaping teaspoon flour is mixed. Cook until it thickens. Put a teaspoonful in each cookie. Jam or jelly may be used as filling if desired.

Have you ever begun the habit of drinking one glass or milk, or maybaps two before retiring at night? Does you no end of good when the milk is rich. That which I buy of the L. A. Creamery is the most satisfactory I have yet used. We have lately increased our daily amount for I find the youngsters seem to need more milk now, and I am pleased to see they crave it, for a child or grown person is sure to keep "fit as a fiddle" when drinking milk in large quantities. If you are a stranger here and uncertain of which milk to order, call the L. A. Creamery and give their milk a trial. You are bound to be satisfied with it.

This is the morning every housekeeper sets aside to do her shopping for today and tomorrow as well, for if there is not a big Sunday dinner, there is a picnic luncheon to get ready, which means that meat for sandwiches must be cooked in preparation for the day's outing. You wouldn't think of passing by Young's, would you, without going in and receiving ideas and suggestions for the morrow? They abound in all their stores or counters, in fact, wherever you see the name Young's in a market, make straight for it, for all purchases made of them are bound to meet with approval.

It is the easiest thing in the world to keep your sport shoes looking like new when Angelus Cosmopolitan, made by the way, here in Los Angeles by men who have been in the business over twenty years, whitens slippers beautifully, and preserves the leather as well. Another time I'll tell you about the Angelus luster cream for your colored leather trimmed footwear. It's truly marvelous, and then all the better shoe stores and department stores carry these Angelus products.

To be sure, a sale at a great saving is the biggest sort of an inducement to buy real money-chins from the Great Western Glass Company, 320 W. 4th. Their dinner sets make lovely wedding gifts and are cut way down in price! Make a point of going into this store of the remarkable sale and see the excellent values you can pick up dreadfully reasonable and pretty as can be.

It was only a cup of coffee you say—but why "only." Is there one of my readers who can deny that on a good cup of this beverage much depends? Take Clee-Koe, for instance. Its aroma through the house awakens one with a feeling of pleasure, no small accomplishment, you must grant me. Though its aroma is as nothing compared with the delicious taste, and as for price you are asked but 35 cents a pound. I know you will want the address at once, so it's 316 W. 5th. Get a pound this very day and see if you are not pleased with it!

Pronto did it! What? Saved my family from grief and the loss of a housekeeper, for stopped-up pipes and drains had brought me to a point of exasperation which was maddening, and I was on the point of leaving home, really. A ministering angel in the guise of an "over-the-fence" neighbor lent me her Pronto, and maybe you don't think I made tracks soon afterwards for a can of my own. Now sinks are kept free from stoppage because a little of this wonder powder is shaken down all pipes each day. Only try it and you need no further urging, you are sold instantly.

SLAYING OF POLICE SLUMPS IN IRELAND.

PRISONERS ASK WORK.

Farm Employment on Farm Pending Trial of Cases.

The questionnaires received yesterday by the Municipal League as a result of its canvass to determine conditions in the Los Angeles County Jail showed that of the 212 untried male prisoners, the average period of confinement without a trial has been slightly more than two months.

Of the 264 men who answered the questions in writing, 240 favored being allowed to work on a farm, both while awaiting trial and if sentenced as a result of trial. None opposed the farm work plan.

The questionnaires also showed that more than 80 per cent of those answering are under 30 years of age and that almost a third of them are minors.

One man was found to have been in jail six months without being granted a trial, although he had not asked for a postponement.

The questionnaires returned by the women showed practically the same results as those filled out by the men.

AUSTRIAN "NOBLEMAN" IS FOUND NOT GUILTY.

EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE FAILS, SIMILAR CHARGES ARE STILL PENDING.

EL PASO (Tex.) April 15.—Dr. Emerich Ritter, self-styled Austrian nobleman and former general manager of the Great Southern Sulphur Company's plant near here, was found not guilty of a charge of embezzlement in the District Court here today. Two other charges of the same nature are pending against the defendant.

According to the police his presence is desired in Washington in connection with some forty checks which proved worthless. His arrest here was brought about recently by Police Inspector Clifford L. Grant, of Washington, who identified Ritter's signature as that of a man who conducted a test of invisible ink before a commission of American Army officers several years ago.

LIEUT.-COL. McKNIGHT'S RESIGNATION ANNOUNCED

Secretary of National Guard Association Adds That Borree is Asked to Relieve Him Pending Quiz.

The resignation of Lieut.-Col. James S. McKnight, Assistant Adjutant-General of the State, as chairman of the Los Angeles Infantry Regiment Association was announced last night by Capt. James C. Doorley, secretary and manager of the organization. A telegram to Adjt.-Gen. Borree, suggesting that Col. McKnight be relieved of further duty in Los Angeles pending the result of an investigation into charges relating to the collection of funds for the National Guard here, was sent early in the day by a ranking officer of the guard, Capt. Doorley further stated. Col. McKnight could not be reached last night. Late yesterday afternoon he denied he had resigned.

These developments yesterday marked the progress of the inquiry into charges heard by the Naval and Military Affairs Committee of the Chamber of Commerce last Wednesday. Col. McKnight at that time, when confronted by testimony of four witnesses, entered a flat denial of any connection with purported irregularities. His denial was not altered in any way by the developments yesterday, Capt. Doorley asserted, and Col. McKnight declared he did not believe he was being treated fairly in being asked to resign.

Resignation as chairman of the association does not affect the military status of Col. McKnight. The association is an organization of officers of the National Guard and retired officers and civilians and although it administers the funds collected for the benefit of the guard, it is merely an auxiliary body not directly under military supervision.

The request for the chairman's resignation was substantially as follows, according to Secretary Doorley:

April 14, 1921.

"From: Capt. James C. Doorley, secretary Los Angeles Infantry Regiment Association.

"To: James S. McKnight, Assistant Adjutant-General, State of California, president Los Angeles Infantry Regiment Association.

"Subject: Resignation.

"1. I am requested by the members of this association as secretary of same to request your resignation as chairman of this association.

"2. The reason for this request is that there seems to be some cloud, and that you as chairman of this organization are under charges and until such charges are cleared up or a board of inquiry is called we will ask the vice-chairman to take the chair of the president.

[Signed] "JAMES C. DOORLEY."

The charges referred to in the request, Capt. Doorley explained, relate to the collection of funds asserted to be in excess of $19,000 for the guard through the services of F. J. Menzies, a professional solicitor. The specific charges heard by the Chamber of Commerce committee are that Col. McKnight requested and obtained from Mr. Menzies a 10 per cent part of the regular 50 per cent commission allowed Mr. Menzies for collections.

Four witnesses testified that Mr. Menzies had so told them and that although Col. McKnight knew of the assertions no inquiry was ordered by him. All of these witnesses testified that their information came from Mr. Menzies. The latter was not called as a witness before the committee hearing.

Col. McKnight took the witness stand and entered a general and specific denial to the charges it is reported. The inquiry was attended by Adjt.-Gen. Borree and his staff from Sacramento and several officers of the National Guard.

Officers of the National Guard regiment last night were emphatic in their declarations that none of the charges reflect in any way on Mr. Menzies and that his connection in the reported transactions is not irregular. Mr. Menzies last night asked that he be not quoted in connection with the affair when questioned by The Times.

Definite action by the Chamber of Commerce committee will be taken Monday when Chairman A. J. Copp, Jr., will present for adoption a report based on last Wednesday inquiry. This report as adopted in final form by the committee will be presented to the board of directors at their next meeting, Thursday, Maj. Copp asserted last night.

Maj. Copp yesterday prepared a tentative report, he admitted, but he refused to discuss any details of it, and declared that until the board of directors receives the report, the committee members are not privileged to reveal their action or what transpired at the half-day inquiry. Gen. Borree will not be represented at the meeting Monday, he telegraphed yesterday to Secretary Wiggins of the Chamber of Commerce. Whether any additional inquiry will be conducted at the Monday meeting has not been decided, Maj. Copp said, but it is likely that the session will be devoted to action on a report to be submitted to the directors.

Col. McKnight could not be reached late last night for his version of the reported resignation. At 6 p.m., however, he stated that he had not resigned and that no suggestion along that line had been made. He further declared that no trouble had preceded the present inquiry and that from "a military standpoint" he could not discuss the charges heard. He said he did not know whether any further action would be taken, that he had engaged no attorney and that there was no reason why he should.

Although none of the members of the Chamber of Commerce committee would discuss the hearing, additional details of the trouble leading to the investigation were learned by TheThe Times yesterday, showing that the matter has been brewing for several weeks. About three weeks ago a resolution for the continuance of the former contract with Mr. Menzies for additional collections was offered by Col. McKnight and was voted down by a secret ballot, it was reported.

This was the result of statements which Mr. Menzies is asserted to have made concerning the supposed split of his commission, some of the officers say, and word of this action along with other statements caused the Chamber of Commerce to take up the case.

What steps, if any, Gen. Borree will take in the case were not made public yesterday.

Col. McKnight is assistant Adjutant-General of the State and is not in command of the guard regiment being formed here, although he is, of course, the ranking guard officer, it is declared. Two battalions of the guard, commanded by Maj. Walter P. Story and Maj. E. E. Kirk, have been formed and all the officers are co-operating in an effort to clear up the case, Maj. Story said yesterday.

BARNES FREED; IS WED AGAIN.

Circus Man, Granted Divorce, Marries Equestrienne.

Decree Follows Stormy War of Years in Courts.

Hundred Thousand Settlement on Former Wife Reported.

At last the marital and business partnership of Al G. Barnes and his wife is ended. Alpheus G. B. Stonehouse, which is the circus owner's baptismal name, got a decree of divorce yesterday in Las Vegas, Nev., from Dollie Stonehouse. He straightway married Jane Hartigan, the circus rider, who figured as witness and accuser against him in several of the many court actions in which he has figured in Los Angeles.

The litigious spirit entered into the Stonehouse family about the time the nations of Europe went to war, and it has outlived the world struggle. The history is checkered with actions for divorce, bareback riders, suits for separate maintenance, calliope players, perjury and white slave litigations, fatherless children, charges, counter-charges, tears, smiles, wild animals and attorneys.

At Las Vegas yesterday Judge William E. Orr in the District Court accepted Mr. Stonehouse's charge that his wife deserted him at Golden, Colo., in 1915, after his refusal to let her handle monies taken in at the circus ticket wagons. No body testified but the plaintiff and his attorney. Miss Hartigan had been resident at Las Vegas several months.

Persons here familiar with the status of the case said yesterday it was understood Mr. Stonehouse had settled "handsomely" with his late wife, a matter of some $100,000. His marriage with Jane Hartigan will, according to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Keyes, stop prosecution here against Mr. Stonehouse on a charge of perjury, since the asserted perjury pertained to his testimony about his relations with Jane Hartigan, who, now as his wife, could not be forced to testify against him. The case is set for retrial here late this month. The marriage also would bar automatically any further charges of non-support of two children born to Jane Hartigan.

The circus man and his just-divorced wife were married in 1900 in Colorado. In 1914 the litigation began in Los Angeles. First she sued for separate maintenance, charging her husband with undue familiarity with Mrs. Fred A. Barlow, who happened to be wife to Mrs. Stonehouse's brother. Then Mr. Barlow sued Stonehouse for $100,000 to cool the green monster. Mrs. Stonehouse related how she had sold a farm and raised $2700 to start the circus, which then had grown to a twenty-four-car outfit said to be worth some $400,000 with property and good will valued at a million or so. In the court Mr. Stonehouse wept and charged his wife with fraud in the sale of tickets. But Mrs. Stonehouse's prayer was denied.

Then Mr. Stonehouse sued for divorce. But along in 1917 Judge Taft gave a decision to the effect that he be not quoted in connection with the affair when questioned by The Times.

Definite action by the Chamber of Commerce committee will be taken Monday when Chairman A. J. Copp, Jr., will present for adoption a report based on last Wednesday inquiry. This report as adopted in final form by the committee will be presented to the board of directors at their next meeting, Thursday, Maj. Copp asserted last night.

MAKES BIG HOIST IN SCATTERGOOD'S PAY.

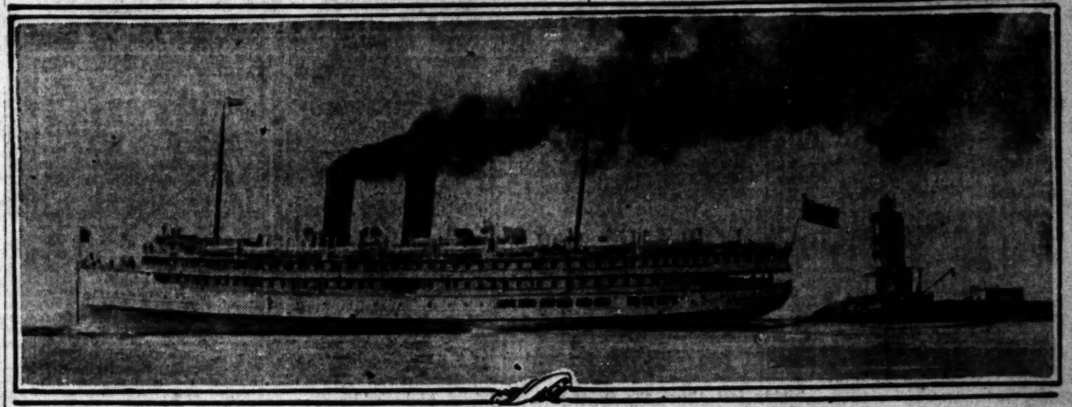
BOARD JUMPS SALARY FROM FIVE HUNDRED MONTH TO ONE THOUSAND.

The salary of Chief Electrical Engineer Scattergood of the Bureau of Power and Light was increased from $500 to $1000 a month, effective immediately, by unanimous action of the Board of Public Service Commissioners yesterday afternoon.

Commissioner Del Valle, who acted as chairman in the absence of President Robertson, stated that the increase would have been ordered months ago, but for the fact that Mr. Scattergood had repeatedly requested that no action be taken. He also said that Mr. Robertson had expressed his approval of it.

Owing to the absence of the president the question of the election of officers for the coming year was not taken up. It has now been deferred at three successive meetings on account of the absence of one or more members. The period of one year for which the present officers were elected expired on the 6th inst.

Former White Flyer Nose Down on Her Old Routing.



S.S. Yale Passing the Breakwater Lighthouse Yesterday on Her Trial Trip.
The big boat was snapped by a photographer for the Keystone Photo Service.

SETS A NEW SPEED RATE IN ITS TESTS.

Former Transport is Put Through Paces Before Resuming Coast Service.

Thoroughly reconditioned after her notable service in the war zone, the Yale of the Los Angeles Steamship Company's fleet was given a series of successful trial tests yesterday. The famous steamship was put through her paces outside the breakwater at the harbor for nearly eight hours, passing all the necessary tests to the satisfaction of the officials of the Los Angeles Steamship Company, the owners, and of the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, who performed the work of reconditioning.

The big passenger ship attained a speed of 24.6 knots an hour during the trial trip. Her best previous speed was twenty-three knots an hour. She is to start service on the San Francisco-Los Angeles run May 2 at 3 p.m. The Yale will maintain an eighteen-hour schedule to San Francisco, and will be in charge of Capt. Hans Poulsen.

Capt. T. D. McFarland of the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company was in charge of the ship during the trials yesterday.

The Yale, in reconditioning at the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company's plants, underwent a complete overhauling of its motive plant and superstructures.

The Harvard, sister ship of the Yale, is now at the Ralph J. Chandler Shipbuilding Company's yard, undergoing similar repairs, and is expected to be ready for trial tests in about three weeks.

Both the Yale and the Harvard were formerly operated in the Los Angeles-San Francisco service by the Pacific Navigation Company and were widely known as the "white flyers." They were in trans-channel service between England and France during the war, carrying troops.

The two vessels made such a remarkable record during the war that they were decorated for services and bear the gold chevrons of honor on their funnels. They completed approximately 200 voyages, often carrying 2500 a trip, and all together about 400,000 wounded or fresh troops. They had no accidents or interruptions, and fully repaid the confidence of the Navy in commandeering them for war-time service.

GUESTS WAIT IN VAIN FOR RICE SHOWER

Follies Girl Not Married Despite License; Chaplin Among Disappointed.

She came, she saw, she conquered, and they were to have been married by Judge Summerfield in chambers yesterday afternoon, but—

Miss Margaret John, a former Ziegfeld "Follies" girl, 20 years old, met Bennie Zeidman, production manager for the Mary Pickford company, four days ago, just as she arrived from New York on a visit to her mother, Mrs. Emily John of 1830 Cherokee street, and as Miss John expressed it:

"It was love at first sight—quite."

A thrill went through Bennie as he clasped the hand of Margaret, to whom he was introduced at a dinner party given by Gerald Duffy, 1423 Curzon street, Hollywood. They saw much of one another in the few days that followed, and then a marriage license was obtained.

The wedding party was arranged. Charlie Chaplin was to be best man. Douglas Fairbanks was to give the bride away. Mrs. Raymond Hanford, a close friend of Margaret, was to be bridesmaid. Mrs. John was in attendance. Judge Summerfield was grooming himself for the happy event, and—then the wedding was postponed. The bride-to-be was visibly perturbed. Bennie was aghast.

The stars of the cinema world, pleased with Margaret's vivacity and attractiveness, and with a thought to scenic effect, rather hoped it would be a home wedding. Somehow, a marriage in chambers smacking of law books, was not appealing to artistic souls. Anyhow, the wedding was postponed.

PREACHER IS ACCUSED OF CONSPIRACY.

Padded Donation to Swell Income, Nailed Up Church, Charge of Members.

An order to show cause, returnable before Judge Burnell next Friday, issued yesterday by Presiding Judge Shenk, will air in court an unusual state of affairs, according to a complaint filed yesterday to enjoin Rev. Frederick M. Mitchell, William Hopper and G. Coleman from controlling or managing the Birch-street Christian Church.

The complaint was brought by R. Turnage and P. W. Zollar for themselves and members of the church.

It is charged, among other things, that the pastor padded the contributions of the church in order to increase his salary, on a percentage basis. The salary of the pastor was to consist of the voluntary church contributions, permission being given the pastor to earn money in other pursuits. It was also provided that for every $1 contributed to the church he was to be paid 25 cents by the Christian Missionary Society of Southern California.

It is declared that the pastor worked as a mechanic and induced the treasurer of the church to credit the money he received in that way as church contributions, without depositing the sums received. In this way, he would receive a larger sum from the missionary society.

According to the complaint, members of the church became dissatisfied with Pastor Mitchell last October, declaring that he had conspired with others to retain control of the church and its affairs.

It is also charged that the defendants seized the church building, nailed up the doors and refused to permit the plaintiffs to participate in the management of the organization, notwithstanding the fact that they are the trustees.

Another purported angle of the case is that the defendants are seeking to conduct the church along evangelistic lines, which is contrary to the doctrines of the Christian Church, according to the complaint.

MRS. GLOYD TAKES CASH SETTLEMENT

Sixty Thousand Dollars is Accepted as Share of Rich Lumberman's Estate.

Closing a legal battle which was hotly waged for more than five years, announcement was made in Kansas City yesterday that Mrs. Malette Gloyd, widow of a wealthy lumberman, A. M. Gloyd, had accepted $60,000 as settlement of her claim to a widow's share of the big estate.

Mrs. Gloyd became the wife of the aged lumberman in Denver, when she was scarcely out of her teens. When they came to this city shortly afterward, for the benefit of Mr. Gloyd's health, which was rapidly failing, marital difficulties developed, and he brought suit for a divorce, setting up the complaint that he overheard his wife trying to arrange with the housekeeper to get him into a compromising position.

The wife filed a cross-complaint. She denied all the charges made by Gloyd and added that he caused scurrilous letters concerning her to be sent to her mother in the East. She declared that when they separated here he said he'd "raise hell in general."

Judge Wood granted him an interlocutory decree of divorce in 1917, but he died two months later before the decree was entered, and Mrs. Gloyd laid claim to a widow's share of the $600,000 estate, although the will allowed her only $10. About the time her suit for a share of the property got into the local courts, Judge Wood ordered that a final decree for Mr. Gloyd be entered. Mrs. Gloyd carried her fight into the Federal court at Kansas City, and got a settlement yesterday for one-tenth the estimated value of the estate.

ROCK JEWEL WINDOW.

Smashers Flee with Fifty Gold Watches Snatched from Store.

Smashing a display window in a jewelry store at 1003½ East Seventh street early yesterday morning, thieves escaped with twenty gold watches. According to the police who investigated, the window was broken with a large rock wrapped in newspapers. The men were seen to run from in front of the establishment by a night watchman.

Japanese Glean Newspaper Ideas in "Times" Plant

The editorial and mechanical departments of The Times furnished an object lesson last night for an interested group of three Japanese on a trip around the world in quest of ideas in regard to the publication of newspapers.

The party is made up of representatives of the Tokio and Osaka Daily News, and included C. Takaki, directing manager; Yonosuke Morikawa, mechanical superintendent, and Tsunemicht Ikeda, business manager. Their publications have recently moved into new quarters in both cities, where they are published and where a daily circulation of 700,000 comes from their presses.

The Japanese will leave Los Angeles this morning for Chicago, and will proceed from there to Philadelphia, Washington and New York before sailing for Europe. London, Paris and other European cities will be visited on the return trip to the Orient.

RAILWAY AD MAN DIES.

Alfred Barker, Head of Pacific Company, Passes On.

Alfred Barker, manager of the Pacific Railways Advertising Company, died yesterday morning at his home in Lankershim. The body is now at the Gates, Crane & Earl funeral parlors, 1724 Highland avenue, awaiting completion of the funeral arrangements.

Mr. Barker, who was 45 years of age, was the husband of Mrs. Frances Tolman Barker and father of Ned Barker.

Unidentified Man Killed by a Fast Salt Lake Train.

An unidentified man was instantly killed last night by a fast Salt Lake passenger train at the East Ninth-street crossing, according to a police report. The body was taken to the Boyle Heights Undertaking Company's rooms.

An investigation was begun by Acting Coroner Williams, the undertaking company and the police to establish the dead man's identity. He was an American about 45 years old, clad in overalls and a dark coat. From the fact that he carried a heavy can and his general description, it is believed that he was probably a watchman employed by some company near the scene of the accident.

No witnesses were found.

WIFE GIVES SHOCK.

Writes She's Not Coming Back and Could Love Married Man.

Mrs. Louise Stern wrote her husband, Harry Stern:

"I am going to give you a shock, but Harry, it can't just be helped. Don't get bitter and discouraged; you will be better off. I am on my way north and as yet I have not decided where I am going. But I am not coming back. I have known that I really did not love you. This separation has shown me the truth.

"I have met a man up here whom I could love dearly. But it does not do your name and I will always keep man with two children and I won't accept a situation like that. I bear is clean."

After the receipt of this letter Mr. Stern sued for divorce and was granted a decree by Judge Walton J. Wood yesterday.

SUMMON GIRL IN CRAP-GAME CASE

Players "Don't Remember" if She Was in Room.

Jeweler Says Check Was Not Honored Next Day.

Thousands Changed Hands in Downtown Hotel Play.

Judge Houser yesterday issued a body attachment for Barbara Furton, guest of a downtown hotel, who had failed to obey a subpoena as a witness in a suit to recover $5000 growing out of a game of craps in a downtown hotel. It was given to Deputy Sheriffs Dennison and Mrs. Nellie Yaw.

Miss Furton's evidence was important to establish the fact whether or not craps had been played in the room where a check for $5000 was said to have been given to Max Zimmer, a Main-street jeweler and diamond broker. Witnesses were asked if she had been in the room during the game. Answers returned were "I don't remember."

Mr. Zimmer is suing A. J. Pearce, a wealthy tourist staying at a Hollywood hotel. He testified he was paged in the hotel and went to a room, where he saw several men. One of them, W. J. Shaw, he knew. Craps were being played, he said, evidently for high stakes. The question of buying diamonds was broached. Mr. Shaw asked him to cash a check for $1000, which was done. In a few minutes, Mr. Shaw repaid the money to Mr. Zimmer.

Later Mr. Pearce asked Mr. Zimmer to cash his check for $5000, it is stated. Mr. Zimmer said he did not know Mr. Pearce, but he would comply if the check was indorsed by Mr. Shaw. The latter and T. E. Taylor are declared to have indorsed the check. It was then after banking hours, and the following day when Mr. Zimmer went to the bank, the check was not honored. Evidently, it was said, payment was stopped.

The defense will be that something occurred to prompt Mr. Pearce not to honor the check. The defense will also set up, it is said, that the check was in payment of a gambling debt; that Mr. Zimmer won the money. Mr. Zimmer denies that he played at all.

The case will be resumed Monday. Woolwine and Geisler represent the plaintiff and Edward E. Gray the defendant.

ON CHECK CHARGES.

Socially Prominent Grocer Held as Fugitive from Justice.

Sidney Goldman, a young wholesale grocer socially prominent in this city and Phoenix, Ariz., who has been stopping at the Alexandria, was arrested at Fourth and Main streets last night by Detective Myers of the Pinkerton Agency and Police Detectives Slaughter and Finlinson, on charges that he had passed about $3000 worth of bad checks at San Diego and Miami, Fla. He is held in the City Jail as a fugitive pending telegraphic advices from San Diego.

Eight Drunk! Dinty Couldn't Trust His Eyes.

Patrolman "Dinty" Moore could hardly believe his eyes yesterday morning when he saw eight men engaged in what he described as a "drunken brawl" near Fifth street and Gladys avenue. When the patrolman recovered from the shock he placed the members of the group under arrest on charges of being drunk and lodged them in the City Jail. Investigations made by other officers showed that the eight prisoners had been drinking cider in a "soft drink" establishment near where they were arrested.

PAYS FOR SWEARING.

Charged with having sworn at a number of telephone girls in a local office when they failed to secure connections to various departments for him with as much speed as he thought was necessary, Julius Arnestein of 1603 South Main street was taken before Police Judge Crawford yesterday afternoon and fined $100. The fine was paid.

Clears Court to Hear Girl's Tale at Trial of Boy.

After Martha Miller, aged 16, testified yesterday at the hearing of Albert H. Allen, Jr., aged 20, accused of a statutory offense against her, the case was continued until the 27th inst. by Justice Baird. The continuance was taken upon request of Ralph Graham, attorney for Allen. During the young woman's testimony, upon request of Dep. Dist.-Atty. Costello, the public was excluded, except for Mrs. Martha Cammack of Whittier, guardian of the girl.

The hearing of Dr. Lelands Taylor of Whittier, accused of extortion of a $1200 promissory note from Allen on an asserted threat of exposure, is also set for the 27th.

CONTINUE "COUNT'S" TRIAL.

With the filing of a motion for a new trial for Albert Sichofsky, self-styled Polish "count," Judge Reeve yesterday continued the case until the 20th inst. On that day the question of sentence and the motion will be passed upon. Sichofsky was convicted by a jury of stealing $7500 from two local physicians in a supposed deal over oil property.

TRIANGLE IS SUIT BASIS

Mrs. Maude L. Walton, who says that her husband, Thomas J. Walton, controls property valued at $122,500, and asks an allowance of $500 a month, filed suit for separate maintenance yesterday in the Superior Court, bringing into the action the name of Edna Taylor Schultz. She has been caused mental suffering, she declares, by the purported appearance of Mr. Walton in the company of Mrs. Schultz.

The Waltons were married Dec. 23, 1901, and separated in September, 1919. They have three children. Since the separation, it is complained that Mr. Walton has given his wife for the support of herself and children only $100 a month.

As an instance—

The WALNUT DINING SUITE in the sketch above illustrates that point forcibly.

This is furniture of an unusually high character in every detail of its workmanship; in the delightful "bloom" of its finish; in its special features, such as the "aproned" leaves by which the table may be extended, and the separate silver tray in the sideboard.

Yet, this suite may be purchased at the prices which, in many stores, you would be asked to pay for furniture far inferior in every way.

Sideboard	$122
Serving Table	$65
China Closet	$105
Side Chair (5 in suite)	$25
Arm Chair	$33

As startling and extravagant as that statement may seem, it is a simple statement of facts—facts that are obvious to all who come and see the furniture we have to offer and compare its quality and pricings with the merchandise and the prices in other stores.

AIR CASTLES.

Ex-Emperor Carl is reported as dissatisfied with his life in Switzerland and is going to make his home in Spain. That is the place for him to build his castle in.

THE FAR EAST.

Pussyfoot Johnson is going to India to engage in a prohibition crusade. That seems an odd field for a dry worker. The wets would have been glad to have had him start there in the first place.

ROYAL APPETITES.

King Constantine is no piker. He is now demanding $1,500,000 as back pay for the time he was in exile and he also insists that his royal allowance be increased from $500,000 to $800,000 a year. This is a poor time for kings to strike for a 50 per cent increase in wages. Not ever a printer can do it.

NO CENSORS NEEDED.

By a vote of 26 to 9 the Senate at Sacramento refused to consider Senator Eden's bill to create a board of review to pass upon motion pictures. The temper of the State is strong against any unnecessary censorship of the film industry and this is still reflected at Sacramento. The production companies and the exhibitors will do what housecleaning is necessary, nor is it advisable to attempt to Pomonize the State.

ERIN GO BRAGH.

At the instance of a group of green-ribbooners the Illinois Assembly passed a resolution recognizing an Irish republic. It takes a strong glass to recognize a republic in Ireland, but the strong glass is still to be had in Chicago. Congressman Mason can't get the goverament to appropriate the $15,000 he asks to pay the salary of an ambassador to Dublin, but the Chicago Aldermen will probably fix it up by sending an ambassador of their own.

CHANCE FOR TEAMWORK.

When Col. George Harvey goes as Ambassador to Great Britain he will probably want a competent editor for his magazine. There's a capable literary gentleman named Woodrow Wilson who has nothing much to tie him down just now and would be an ideal person for the vacant desk if he could be secured. Prof. Wilson has a fine command of English—at least it has been so thought, and in a literary joust can return a Remington for anybody's Oliver without losing a stroke. It would be fine business if Col. Harvey could hook up with Prof. Wilson. Better far than being bullish and seeking to hook him down.

INDUSTRIAL SLACKERS.

In the course of the building graft investigation in the East it appeared that men in the organized trades were allowed to do a certain amount of work. A goon or ambitious worker had to hold himself down to the standard of the sluggish and incompetent, else he would be disciplined by his union or forfeit his job. Testimony was given which proved that union plumbers had in many instances completed their "quota" of a day's work between 8 and 11 o'clock in the morning and would then sit down and play cards the rest of the day at $1.25 an hour. And all this time many families were almost homeless because of the nearly prohibitive price of building construction!

LUVE OR MONEY.

It is hard to measure love in terms of money. A mixed jury here gives a judgment for $10,000 against a man who went steadily with a girl for eight years and then failed to marry her. At a certain age a girl's companionship is worth at least $1250 a year—especially if it be at that period when other lovers might be easily available. In spite of the militant suffragettes and the business women, practically all of the sex plan a career which includes a husband at some stage of the program. If all their time is taken during the husband-hunting age somebody ought to pay for it or furnish a substitute. It should be understood first and last that our girls are not to be trifled with. When a man claims the best part of a young woman's time for eight or ten years the preacher should be called in.

GRAND OPERA IN LONDON.

Grand opera in London, with a population of six millions, has proven a dismal financial failure this season. Both operahouses have closed in broken-hearted pessimism. For the first time in a century or so there will be no opera in London—and the mournful debacle is ascribed to the extravagant salaries demanded by stars and the refusal of all participants to lower their scales, thus necessitating a price for seats that the public simply can't and won't pay.

The esthetics affect to see in this a return to barbarism, an appalling indifference to culture and the finer arts, a gross modern unappreciative materialism and all the rest of it. But, looking over the cost of living in England, just about twice as high as in Los Angeles, we are inclined to suspect that the worthy Britisher simply hasn't the price, and when a seat at the opera means half a dozen loaves, a dozen eggs and half a pound of butter, even the most esthetic stomach must be tempted to go astray.

After all, most of us would be sybarites if we had the price.

CUTTING THE RED TAPE.

Evidence is accumulating that President Harding's policies are something more than airy abstractions—that they are to receive practical enforcement. His demand that there should be "less government in business" has been followed by the abrogation by the Federal Railroad Labor Board of national agreements relating to railroad employment. The managements of the road and the employees are now free to make their own agreements; there will be no further Federal interference. The government no longer will dictate to the railroads what wages they shall pay or what number of men they shall employ to perform stated functions.

This is a long step in the direction of denationalization. The Times would like to believe that the present Republican Congress will possess sufficient courage to repeal the Adamson law, thus giving to the employers and employees the right to decide for themselves questions of hours as well as of wages. No good purpose is served by the government's arbitrarily fixing the maximum number of hours that a conductor, engineer or brakeman shall be employed. None of these positions requires continuous physical effort. It is not like swinging a sledge or delving with a spade. At the end of eight hours the men are not necessarily suffering from physical exhaustion.

But the point at issue is that the employer and employes should be left to make their own decision whether seven, eight or nine hours shall constitute a day's work. Interference by the government has not produced increased efficiency in the transportation service. It is a self-evident fact that the railroads can afford to pay more for nine hours of service than for eight; and if any group of employees should prefer an additional hour's work for another hour's pay it does not seem within the province of the government to say "no."

The Times is inclined to question, however, the wisdom of the Railroad Labor Board in laying down sixteen points for the guidance of the employers and employees. It looks like loosening a rope with one hand and tightening it with the other. No one is likely to question that the workers are sufficiently well organized to protect their own interest in aught that might be held to require group action; and the managements of the different roads have petitioned for permission to make their own contracts without government interference.

One of the sixteen points at least places an unfair restriction on the management. It savors very much of an attempt to force closed-shop conditions on one of the most important of the country's industries. After stipulating that "The right of employees to organize for lawful objects shall not be denied, interfered with or obstructed"—a right which the friends of industrial freedom have never challenged—the board stipulates that "The right of such lawful organization to act toward lawful objects through representatives of its own choice, WHETHER EMPLOYEES OF THE PARTICULAR CARRIER OR OTHERWISE, shall be agreed to by the management."

That restriction contains a denial of one of the fundamental principles of industrial freedom. It is an apparent surrender to the demands of the walking delegates. To seek to secure shorter hours and more pay is a "lawful" object for any organization of employees, as is collective bargaining. But that point is a kind of Article X which would force the management of any railroad to discuss and enter into agreements concerning wages and working conditions with persons not in its employ.

It is one thing for an employer to treat with those on his pay roll concerning wages and conditions of employment and a vastly different thing to compel him to agree to treat with someone who has no personal interest in the business, and who will not be compelled to work under the conditions agreed to. It is like asking a man to bargain with a stranger about family affairs.

The Times holds, as all the true friends of industrial freedom hold, that to compel the manager of a California railroad to bargain with a man from Chicago or New York concerning the terms of employment of his own working force is industrial tyranny. Working conditions in different parts of the country are unequal. Climate and the cost of living are features. And the experience of the building trades in New York and Chicago during the last twelve months has demonstrated clearly that these absentee regulators are often crooks; that they will sell out the men to a dishonest employer and that they will call strikes for the purpose of getting extra pay for settling them.

If the principle of self-determination means anything it means that the workmen employed by each railroad or in each factory or other industrial plant should have the right to make their own bargain concerning working conditions. To force them to follow the dictation of some foreign boss and to withdraw from them the right to do their own negotiating is the rankest intolerance.

There is, to be sure, a prohibition of the enforcement of the closed-shop principle with all its rituals. One clause prescribes that "No discrimination shall be practiced by the management as between members and nonmembers of organizations, . . . nor shall members of organizations discriminate against nonmembers or use other methods than lawful persuasion to secure their membership." This affords a certain protection to independent workmen; but it will be of little practical value to them if the management is to be compelled to sign agreements and negotiate industrial treaties with those who will not work under them. Granting a petty right does not compensate for perpetrating a great wrong.

The Times repeats it is regrettable that the Federal Railroad Labor Board did not adhere strictly to a policy of noninterference. It is those weak surrenders to threats of organized groups that lead to industrial conditions such as those in which the government and people of Great Britain are now involved. It is something, however, for the Railroad Labor Board to have the courage to abrogate the national working agreements, despite the menaces of the officials of the labor unions. The administration is moving in the right direction. Cutting so much red tape will serve to encourage the investment of capital in railroad securities. It is not enough to put the carriers on their feet; but it is an appreciable lightening of their load.

POLITICS AND BAD RATS.

It does not require a very close scrutiny of the tale of the "Pink Rat" to discover that the Mayor and the Police Commission are vastly more concerned about political exigencies than good government. On Tuesday evening two ministers and a member of the school department visited a cafe bearing that inedible name and located in the heart of the Westlake residence district. The things they heard and saw gave a shock to their moral sense and they hastened to the residence of Police Commissioner Barry to register their righteous protest.

Their prompt action is commendable. The cafe in question was as much out of place as a cardroom in the vestibule of a church. In architectural design and decorative effects it was a replica of the "Rat Mort," a Parisian cafe and dance hall of unsavory reputation; and the conduct of the place, according to their testimony, left much to be desired.

They were naturally concerned to know why a permit for a public dance hall had been granted in that locality without notification of those who might have a mind to protest. Commissioner Barry was deeply grieved. He was not aware of his own knowledge that the corner of Alvarado and Seventh streets was considered a residential section at the time the permit was applied for, and no one had put him wise. It was a regrettable error, but easy to remedy. A taxi was promptly sent for a brother commissioner and the two proceeded forthwith to hold an executive session and revoke the permit for the offensive resort. Mutual felicitations.

But now comes the proprietor of the cafe with the protest that it was both unjust and intolerant to revoke the permit in executive session without any attempt to notify him and give him an opportunity to appear in his own defense. The regular session of the commission was to be held the next morning. By what right had he been deprived of a permit, on the strength of which he had made an investment of several thousand dollars, without notice?

And The Times holds that the logic of that protest is unanswerable. Irrespective of the character of the resort, an official permit had been regularly granted and it was an act of injustice to revoke it without a hearing. If the place was a moral nuisance it was within the power of the commission to order it closed, pending a hearing; but to actually conduct such a hearing without giving both sides an opportunity to be represented was unjustifiable.

Men and women were tried and convicted during their absence while the Catholics of the Middle Ages were being persecuted in England and while Protestants and free-thinkers were being similarly persecuted in France and Spain; but we refuse to believe that such proceedings are essential to the protection of public morals in the city of Los Angeles at this time. The ministers showed their good faith by appearing before the Police Commission at its regular session on the following morning; but they were then informed that, in deference to their wishes, the permit had been revoked the night before.

Why was such diligence suddenly displayed by the Mayor and Police Board to chase the Pink Rat? The evening apologist for the administration asserts that there was politics back of the protest, but that the machinations of the Mayor's political enemies were frustrated by the prompt action of the commission. Possibly it would have been bad for the Mayor's political fortunes to have a public hearing of the case right in the midst of the primary campaign. Too many electors might ask how the permit came to be granted in the first place; why the promise (which the ministers claim to have) that they would be personally notified when such applications were made was not kept.

There is something pharisaical about the transaction, not on the part of the ministers and the school department, but in the part played by the city administration. The Mayor and his commissioners were hasty to seek to hide one fault by the perpetration of another. They appeared to have cared more about the political effect of the hearing than about the right to be heard, whatever may have been his offenses, of the holder of the permit. It seems to The Times that Los Angeles is too enlightened to submit to be governed long by such opportunists.

THE HIGH TIDE OF INVESTMENT.

Some angles in the working out of the problem of readjustment in its relation to our financial status appear to be developing tendencies difficult even for the trained financier to follow. Angles which give basis for the question mark some commentators are beginning to insert through the text of their observations.

There comes to The Times and to other business houses and individuals throughout the country a daily shower of investment opportunities, the advantages of which are carefully set forth in the standard phraseology of the investment bankers and brokers' craft. We are not speaking now of the deluge of get-rich-quick fakes and near-fakes which clutter every mail, but of the legitimate offerings of high-grade stocks and bonds made by underwriters of unquestioned integrity, and the question to which reference has been made is this:

Is it not better to make haste a bit slowly in matters of this kind, lest our desire to refinance, recapitalize, add more millions to our expansion funds carry us beyond the balance point where perfect safety lies?

The question is tentative. It is asked in a thought provoking spirit. It may be that the vast powers of absorption inherent within the people of the United States will warrant all of these great expenditure, but The Times would remind its family of the almost unconscious inclination of our people to swing with the pendulum just a little too far in one direction or the other.

Notwithstanding tales of passed dividends and deferred profits, there seems to be an almost unlimited amount of liquid capital which is seeking outlet through investment channels, and the 7 and 8 per cent which is offered for investments which, a few years ago, would have been thought great bargains at 5 per cent is a strong incentive, we will admit.

Yet it will do no harm to project ourselves into the future along with these securities and anticipate the day, twenty, thirty or forty years hence, when they mature and when the obligation must be met. Let us be sure that the plans back of these obligations are conservative; that the funds now being so easily raised will be spent in developing correspondingly increased revenue. Over capitalization is worse than under capitalization, and a business laden with interest charges at high rates is sometimes stifled under the oppressive burden.

On the other hand, there is undoubtedly a need for a large amount of new capital that will find a place to work and grow and return a profit for its original owner and for those who hire it and put it to work. In both Europe and this country advantage has been taken of the decline in commodity prices and in the strengthened banking situation which has led to increased demand for funded loans.

This demand finds expression in heavy offerings, not only of government securities, but of State, county, municipal, public utilities and so on down the line to the little fellow at the end who is also out to get his share of public participation while the getting is good.

Such a display of confidence is fine, and it should not be curbed so long as the way is clear and the course truly charted. But The Times would have the investor, small or great, keep fully informed of the ebb and flow of trade and commerce, just now in a state of flux. We would have him keep his head clear and both feet planted firmly on the ground. Then let him steer his financial bark Straight Ahead to the best landing place in Safe Harbor.

There are still people in this town who imagine that a cheap cigar and a slap on the back will spur a reporter to write a lot of complimentary things about the giver of the cheap bribe.

ALL'S WELL.

The storm that blows your roof away and winds your cow around a tree may cause you to rear up and say such caustic things as "Hully chee!" And you may rave until you're hoarse and on your gods devoutly call; but nature, in her frantic course, is looking for the good of all. She cares no hoot for private woes, nor marks the briny on your face; along her age-old groove she goes and strives to benefit the race. The storm that killed your setting hens and from your watch-dog tore the hair, removed the fever from the fens and purified the noxious air. The flood comes raging down the creek and drowns some seven head of swine, and you, declaring life is bleak, are ready to take in your sign. The loss of seven Chester Whites will put you badly in the hole, and you will walk the floor o' nights, but nature stops not to condole. The rain that made the rushing flood will make the prunes and nutmegs grow, and hundreds bless the wholesome mud where one puts up his wail of woe. Each fellow thinks his own concerns are all that count, the one big bet; but Mother Nature never turns to see whose beehives she upset. She slings some clouds across the sun, she starts a tempest on the sea; she has a universe to run and cannot fool with you or me.

Were peddled shamelessly,
Whoever had the cash could buy
What muses whispered me.

Not So Grand.

Professor Diak Beeson says he used to pore over old romances and when he'd come to the place where the king bragged about handing out the high justice, the middle classes and the low, he used to think, my, but wouldn't it be grand to be an arbiter of destiny like that.

And

Later he used to read romances of business life and where some guy would be described who had a thousand men at his beck and call, or ten thousand maybe, and he used to think, my, but wouldn't it be grand to be an arbiter of destiny like that.

But

Last week it became his duty as he saw it to take his little nephew away from the woman who had cared for him for a year and a half and give the care of him to another.

And

The first woman didn't want to give him up and reminded the professor of the time she had nursed the little one through the measles and of the three nights she had watched by his side, sleepless herself, and saved him from pneumonia.

And

He changed him, anyway, but he decided this thing of being an arbiter of destiny of even as few people as one has its drawbacks.

ROYAL APPETITES.

King Constantine is no piker. He is now demanding $1,500,000 as back pay for the time he was in exile and he also insists that his royal allowance be increased from $500,000 to $800,000 a year. This is a poor time for kings to strike for a 50 per cent increase in wages. Not ever a printer can do it.

By a vote of 26 to 9 the Senate at Sacramento refused to consider Senator Eden's bill to create a board of review to pass upon motion pictures. The temper of the State is strong against any unnecessary censorship of the film industry and this is still reflected at Sacramento. The production companies and the exhibitors will do what housecleaning is necessary, nor is it advisable to attempt to Pomonize the State.

ERIN GO BRAGH.

At the instance of a group of green-ribboners the Illinois Assembly passed a resolution recognizing an Irish republic. It takes a strong glass to recognize a republic in Ireland, but the strong glass is still to be had in Chicago. Congressman Mason can't get the government to appropriate the $15,000 he asks to pay the salary of an ambassador to Dublin, but the Chicago Aldermen will probably fix it up by sending an ambassador of their own.

CHANCE FOR TEAMWORK.

When Col. George Harvey goes as Ambassador to Great Britain he will probably want a competent editor for his magazine. There's a capable literary gentleman named Woodrow Wilson who has nothing much to tie him down just now and would be an ideal person for the vacant desk if he could be secured. Prof. Wilson has a fine command of English—at least it has been so thought, and in a literary joust can return a Remington for anybody's Oliver without losing a stroke. It would be fine business if Col. Harvey could hook up with Prof. Wilson. Better far than being bullish and seeking to hook him down.

INDUSTRIAL SLACKERS.

In the course of the building graft investigation in the East it appeared that men in the organized trades were allowed to do a certain amount of work. A good or ambitious worker had to hold himself down to the standard of the sluggish and incompetent, else he would be disciplined by his union or forfeit his job. Testimony was given which proved that union plumbers had in many instances completed their "quota" of a day's work between 8 and 11 o'clock in the morning and would then sit down and play cards the rest of the day at $1.25 an hour. And all this time many families were almost homeless because of the nearly prohibitive price of building construction!

LIVE OR MONEY.

It is hard to measure love in terms of money. A mixed jury here gives a judgment for $10,000 against a man who went steadily with a girl for eight years and then failed to marry her. At a certain age a girl's companionship is worth at least $1250 a year—especially if it be at that period when other lovers might be easily available. In spite of the militant suffragettes and the business women, practically all of the sex plan a career which includes a husband at some stage of the program. If all their time is taken during the husband-hunting age somebody ought to pay for it or furnish a substitute. It should be understood first and last that our girls are not to be trifled with. When a man claims the best part of a young woman's time for eight or ten years the preacher should be called in.

GRAND OPERA IN LONDON.

Grand opera in London, with a population of six millions, has proven a dismal financial failure this season. Both opera-houses have closed in broken-hearted pessimism. For the first time in a century or so there will be no opera in London—and the mournful debacle is ascribed to the extravagant salaries demanded by stars and the refusal of all participants to lower their scales, thus necessitating a price for seats that the public simply can't and won't pay.

The esthetics affect to see in this a return to barbarism, an appalling indifference to culture and the finer arts, a gross modern unappreciative materialism and all the rest of it. But, looking over the cost of living in England, just about twice as high as in Los Angeles, we are inclined to suspect that the worthy Britisher simply hasn't the price, and when a seat at the opera means half a dozen loaves, a dozen eggs and half a pound of butter, even the most esthetic stomach must be tempted to go astray.

After all, most of us would be sybarites if we had the price.

CUTTING THE RED TAPE.

Evidence is accumulating that President Harding's policies are something more than airy abstractions—that they are to receive practical enforcement. His demand that there should be "less government in business" has been followed by the abrogation by the Federal Railroad Labor Board of national agreements relating to railroad employment. The managements of the road and the employees are now free to make their own agreements; there will be no further Federal interference. The government no longer will dictate to the railroads what wages they shall pay or what number of men they shall employ to perform stated functions.

This is a long step in the direction of denationalisation. The Times would like to believe that the present Republican Congress will possess sufficient courage to repeal the Adamson law, thus giving to the employers and employees the right to decide for themselves questions of hours as well as of wages. No good purpose is served by the government's arbitrarily fixing the maximum number of hours that a conductor, engineer or brakeman shall be employed. None of these positions requires continuous physical effort. It is not like swinging a sledge or delving with a spade. At the end of eight hours the men are not necessarily suffering from physical exhaustion.

But the point at issue is that the employer and employee should be left to make their own decision whether seven, eight or nine hours shall constitute a day's work. Interference by the government has not produced increased efficiency in the transportation service. It is a self-evident fact that the railroads can afford to pay more for nine hours of service than for eight; and if any group of employees should prefer an additional hour's work for another hour's pay it does not seem within the province of the government to say "no."

The Times is inclined to question, however, the wisdom of the Railroad Labor Board in laying down sixteen points for the guidance of the employers and employees. It looks like loosening a rope with one hand and tightening it with the other. No one is likely to question that the workers are sufficiently well organized to protect their own interest in aught that might be held to require group action; and the managements of the different roads have petitioned for permission to make their own contracts without government interference.

One of the sixteen points at least places an unfair restriction on the management. It savors very much of an attempt to force closed-shop conditions on one of the most important of the country's industries. After stipulating that "The right of employees to organize for lawful objects shall not be denied, interfered with or obstructed"—a right which the friends of industrial freedom have never challenged—the board stipulates that "The right of such lawful organization to act toward lawful objects through representatives of its own choice, WHETHER EMPLOYEES OF THE PARTICULAR CARRIER OR OTHERWISE, shall be agreed to by the management."

That restriction contains a denial of one of the fundamental principles of industrial freedom. It is an apparent surrender to the demands of the walking delegates. To seek to secure shorter hours and more pay is a "lawful" object for any organization of employees, as is collective bargaining. But that point is a kind of Article X which would force the management of any railroad to discuss and enter into agreements concerning wages and working conditions with persons not in its employ.

It is one thing for an employer to treat with those on his pay roll concerning wages and conditions of employment and a vastly different thing to compel him to agree to treat with someone who has no personal interest in the business, and who will not be compelled to work under the conditions agreed to. It is like asking a man to bargain with a stranger about family affairs.

The Times holds, as all the true friends of industrial freedom hold, that to compel the manager of a California railroad to bargain with a man from Chicago or New York concerning the terms of employment of his own working force is industrial tyranny. Working conditions in different parts of the country are unequal. Climate and the cost of living are features. And the experience of the building trades in New York and Chicago during the last twelve months has demonstrated clearly that these absentee regulators are often crooks; that they will sell out the men to a dishonest employer and that they will call strikes for the purpose of getting extra pay for settling them.

If the principle of self-determination means anything it means that the workmen employed by each railroad or in each factory or other industrial plant should have the right to make their own bargain concerning working conditions. To force them to follow the dictation of some foreign boss and to withdraw from them the right to do their own negotiating is the rankest intolerance.

There is, to be sure, a prohibition of the enforcement of the closed-shop principle with all its rituals. One clause prescribes that "No discrimination shall be practiced by the management as between members and nonmembers of organizations, . . . nor shall members of organizations discriminate against nonmembers or use other methods than lawful persuasion to secure their membership." This affords a certain protection to independent workmen; but it will be of little practical value to them if the management is to be compelled to sign agreements and negotiate industrial treaties with those who will not work under them. Granting a petty right does not compensate for perpetrating a great wrong.

The Times repeats it is regrettable that the Federal Railroad Labor Board did not adhere strictly to a policy of noninterference. It is those weak surrenders to threats of organized groups that lead to industrial conditions such as those in which the government and people of Great Britain are now involved. It is something, however, for the Railroad Labor Board to have the courage to abrogate the national working agreements, despite the menaces of the officials of the labor unions. The administration is moving in the right direction. Cutting so much red tape will serve to encourage the investment of capital in railroad securities. It is not enough to put the carriers on their feet; but it is an appreciable lightening of their load.

POLITICS AND BAD RATS.

It does not require a very close scrutiny of the tale of the "Pink Rat" to discover that the Mayor and the Police Commission are vastly more concerned about political exigencies than good government. On Tuesday evening two ministers and a member of the school department visited a cafe bearing that inedible name and located in the heart of the Westlake residence district. The things they heard and saw gave a shock to their moral sense and they hastened to the residence of Police Commissioner Barry to register their righteous protest.

Their prompt action is commendable. The cafe in question was as much out of place as a cardroom in the vestibule of a church. In architectural design and decorative effects it was a replica of the "Rat Mort," a Parisian cafe and dance hall of unsavory reputation; and the conduct of the place, according to their testimony, left much to be desired.

They were naturally concerned to know why a permit for a public dance hall had been granted in that locality without notification of those who might have a mind to protest. Commissioner Barry was deeply grieved. He was not aware of his own knowledge that the corner of Alvarado and Seventh streets was considered a residential section at the time the permit was applied for, and no one had put him wise. It was a regrettable error, but easy to remedy. A taxi was promptly sent for a brother commissioner and the two proceeded forthwith to hold an executive session and revoke the permit for the offensive resort. Mutual felicitations.

But now comes the proprietor of the cafe with the protest that it was both unjust and intolerant to revoke the permit in executive session without any attempt to notify him and give him an opportunity to appear in his own defense. The regular session of the commission was to be held the next morning. By what right had he been deprived of a permit, on the strength of which he had made an investment of several thousand dollars, without notice?

And The Times holds that the logic of that protest is unanswerable. Irrespective of the character of the resort, an official permit had been regularly granted and it was an act of injustice to revoke it without a hearing. If the place was a moral nuisance it was within the power of the commission to order it closed, pending a hearing; but to actually conduct such a hearing without giving both sides an opportunity to be represented was unjustifiable.

Men and women were tried and convicted during their absence while the Catholics of the Middle Ages were being persecuted in England and while Protestants and free-thinkers were being similarly persecuted in France and Spain; but we refuse to believe that such proceedings are essential to the protection of public morals in the city of Los Angeles at this time. The ministers showed their good faith by appearing before the Police Commission at its regular session on the following morning; but they were then informed that, in deference to their wishes, the permit had been revoked the night before.

Why was such diligence suddenly displayed by the Mayor and Police Board to chase the Pink Rat? The evening apologist for the administration asserts that there was politics back of the protest, but that the machinations of the Mayor's political enemies were frustrated by the prompt action of the commission. Possibly it would have been bad for the Mayor's political fortunes to have a public hearing of the case right in the midst of the primary campaign. Too many electors might ask how the permit came to be granted in the first place; why the promise (which the ministers claim to have) that they would be personally notified when such applications were made was not kept.

There is something pharisaical about the transaction, not on the part of the ministers and the school department, but in the part played by the city administration. The Mayor and his commissioners were hasty to seek to hide one fault by the perpetration of another. They appeared to have cared more about the political effect of the hearing than about the right to be heard, whatever may have been his offenses, of the holder of the permit. It seems to The Times that Los Angeles is too enlightened to submit to be governed long by such opportunists.

THE HIGH TIDE OF INVESTMENT.

Some angles in the working out of the problem of readjustment in its relation to our financial status appear to be developing tendencies difficult even for the trained financier to follow. Angles which give basis for the question mark some commentators are beginning to insert through the text of their observations.

There comes to The Times and to other business houses and individuals throughout the country a daily shower of investment opportunities, the advantages of which are carefully set forth in the standard phraseology of the investment bankers and brokers' craft. We are not speaking now of the deluge of get-rich-quick fakes and near-fakes which clutter every mail, but of the legitimate offerings of high-grade stocks and bonds made by underwriters of unquestioned integrity, and the question to which reference has been made is this:

Is it not better to make haste a bit slowly in matters of this kind, lest our desire to refinance, recapitalize, add more millions to our expansion funds carry us beyond the balance point where perfect safety lies?

The question is tentative. It is asked in a thought provoking spirit. It may be that the vast powers of absorption inherent within the people of the United States will warrant all of these great expenditure, but The Times would remind its family of the almost unconscious inclination of our people to swing with the pendulum just a little too far in one direction or the other.

Notwithstanding tales of passed dividends and deferred profits, there seems to be an almost unlimited amount of liquid capital which is seeking outlet through investment channels, and the 7 and 8 per cent which is offered for investments which, a few years ago, would have been thought great bargains at 5 per cent is a strong incentive, we will admit.

Yet it will do no harm to project ourselves into the future along with these securities and anticipate the day, twenty, thirty or forty years hence, when they mature and when the obligation must be met. Let us be sure that the plans back of these obligations are conservative; that the funds now being so easily raised will be spent in developing correspondingly increased revenue. Over capitalization is worse than under capitalization, and a business laden with interest charges at high rates is sometimes stifled under the oppressive burden.

On the other hand, there is undoubtedly a need for a large amount of new capital that will find a place to work and grow and return a profit for its original owner and for those who hire it and put it to work. In both Europe and this country advantage has been taken of the decline in commodity prices and in the strengthened banking situation which has led to increased demand for funded loans.

This demand finds expression in heavy offerings, not only of government securities, but of State, county, municipal, public utilities and so on down the line to the little fellow at the end who is also out to get his share of public participation while the getting is good.

Such a display of confidence is fine, and it should not be curbed so long as the way is clear and the course truly charted. But The Times would have the investor, small or great, keep fully informed of the ebb and flow of trade and commerce, just how in a state of flux. We would have him keep his head clear and both feet planted firmly on the ground. Then let him steer his financial bark Straight Ahead to the best landing place in Safe Harbor.

There are still people in this town who imagine that a cheap cigar and a slap on the back will spur a reporter to write a lot of complimentary things about the giver of the cheap bribe.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

ALL'S WELL.

The storm that blows your roof away and winds your cow around a tree may cause you to rear up and say such caustic things as "Hully chee!" And you may rave until you're hoarse and on your gods devoutly call; but nature, in her frantic course, is looking for the good of all. She cares no hoot for private woes, nor marks the briny on your face; along her age-old groove she goes and strives to benefit the race. The storm that killed your setting hens and from your watch-dog tore the hair, removed the fever from the fens and purified the noxious air. The flood comes raging down the creek and drowns some seven head of swine, and you, declaring life is bleak, are ready to take in your sign. The loss of seven Chester Whites will put you badly in the hole, and you will walk the floor o' nights, but nature stops not to condole. The rain that made the rushing flood will make the prunes and nutmegs grow, and hundreds bless the wholesome mud where one puts up his wail of woe. Each fellow thinks his own concerns are all that count, the one big bet; but Mother Nature never turns to see whose beehives she upset. She slings some clouds across the sun, she starts a tempest on the sea; she has a universe to run and cannot fool with you or me.

Not So Grand.

And

Later he used to read romances of business life and where some guy would be described who had a thousand men at his beck and call, or ten thousand maybe, and he used to think, my, but wouldn't it be grand to be an arbiter of destiny like that.

But

Last week it became his duty as he saw it to take his little nephew away from the woman who had cared for him for a year and a half and give the care of him to another.

And

The first woman didn't want to give him up and reminded the professor of the time she had nursed the little one through the measles and of the three nights she had watched by his side, sleepless herself, and saved him from pneumonia.

And

He changed him, anyway, but he decided this thing of being an arbiter of destiny of even as few people as one has its drawbacks.

McADOO AFFECTED BY DESOLATION SCENE.

BONES IN AMBASSADOR ASHES BELIEVED INDIAN'S; SITE OLD BURIAL GROUND.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA BARBARA, April 15.—William Gibbs McAdoo paid a visit to the smoldering ruins of the former Ambassador Hotel today and was affected by the scene of desolation caused by Wednesday afternoon's fire.

"The hotel was known not only over America but throughout the world," he said, "and there is no country, because of the people it has sheltered, but where regret will be expressed at its destruction. It was a monument to Milo M. Potter and we all sympathize with him in this wiping out of the visible proof of his genius as a great hotel man.

"I am confident that a new and modern Ambassador will rise soon on the wonderful site by the sea."

Mr. McAdoo left for Los Angeles this afternoon and tomorrow he starts for the East.

This afternoon the big safe and vault were opened and valuables stored therein were found intact, though paper currency had turned yellow and even the silverware had yellowed under the fearful heat. Following the opening of the safe the management paid off all the hotel help. Experts, who have examined the charred bones found yesterday, state they are probably those of an Indian, who had been buried in early days on Burton Mount, the site of the hotel, which was formerly an Indian burial ground. In excavating for the foundations of the hotel, it is said, many bones were brought to the surface.

FIRE PLAN INQUIRY.

District Forester to Review Angeles National Reserve Situation.

The fire co-operation plans in the Angeles Forest Reserve will be the subject of investigation by District Forester Redington, to begin the coming week, with a general review and survey of the situation in the big woods for the coming fire season.

While here, the district forester will inspect the new Pine Bench road, just completed for a distance of four miles, from Barker Bench, north of Banning, to Pine Bench, where it is proposed to establish a site for summer homes. The situation is declared very desirable, and it is intended to make it one of the pleasure resorts of that part of the national forest.

DENIES BEHEADING WIFE.

Cobbler Who Said Woman "Talked Too Much" Given Arraignment.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA BARBARA, April 15.—Alphonse Varisco, cobbler, who, in February, said he had beheaded his wife because "she talked too much," was arraigned today in the Superior Court, charged with murder. His attorneys asked for further time to plead. He now says that when he returned to his home after an absence in town, he found his wife beheaded, and denies all knowledge of the crime.

FALL FROM SCAFFOLD FATAL TO CARPENTER.

Falling to the ground from a scaffolding on a new building at Seventh and Kipp streets, a distance of about twenty feet, Mart Chenoweth, 52 years of age, a carpenter, was fatally injured late yesterday afternoon. He died last night at the Receiving Hospital, where he was treated for a fracture of the neck and a possible fracture of the skull. He was unable to tell the police his address. A search for his family is being made.

HOLD STREET-CAR MAN.

Jesse Lawrence Morgan, formerly a street-car conductor for the Los Angeles Railway, was held to answer yesterday by Justice Baird on a charge of stealing $150, said to have been taken in car fares, by the substitution of a fare register. He is also accused of taking the fare register, valued at $95.

FRUIT IN STATE LESS DAMAGED.

The truth about the recent nation-wide frost damage, as secured from press correspondents all over the country, is printed in the forthcoming Farm and Tractor Section, which will appear with tomorrow's Sunday Times. The cold snap of Easter week did millions of dollars' worth of damage beyond the Rockies, completely ruining orchard prospects in many districts and causing general loss. California, too, had its cold spell and, in parts of the State, the loss was heavy. The Golden State, however, suffered far less than the East and Middle West. This is one of the most timely and interesting articles ever to appear in The Times' farm department.

Something new is offered Farm and Tractor readers in Sunday's issue in the shape of a cow-judging contest from photographs of animals of widely varying production. A page of pictures of cows that have been so carefully tested that their exact records are known is printed in the roto-gravure portion of the issue. Those who consider themselves experts in judging cows by their appearance are asked to pick out the good producers. On another page are printed the records of the animals as given by modern cow-testing methods. Here is a contest to interest everyone in the live-stock business.

FIGHT TO KEEP BONDS IS DUE.

Chicago Officers May Arrive at Riverside Trial.

Wife of Arrested Easterner Demands Property.

Will detectives or others representing the Chicago police or Earl L. Hart of that city appear in the Superior Court at Riverside today to fight the case brought against Chief of Police Delss and the Citizens' National Bank of that city for the recovery of $104,000 in bonds claimed by Mrs. Edwin Anderson as her personal property?

This and other questions are agitating the minds of Riverside attorneys and others who have followed with interest the arrest of Edwin Anderson on March 21 last on telegraphic information from Chicago that he was wanted there on an embezzlement charge.

Mr. Anderson was arrested as he stepped from a westbound limited at San Bernardino, where his wife was waiting to meet him. He had $161,000 in bonds in a handbag, and, on advice from the Chicago officers, these were held and placed in a safety deposit box in the Citizens' National Bank of Riverside.

Mr. Anderson left Riverside the same night and his whereabouts have remained a mystery ever since. Chief Delss acted on telegraphic information that a complaint had been sworn to in Chicago by Mr. Hart, with whom Mr. Anderson was associated in the G. B. Yates Machine Company of Beloit, Wis.

The suit brought by Mrs. Anderson was filed on the 6th inst. The opinion is expressed that if the defendants do not appear in court to answer the charge today, Mrs. Anderson will come into possession of the paper she is seeking to recover.

Chief Delss said yesterday he had a wire from the Chicago authorities a week ago stating that they would be here to fight the case brought by Mrs. Anderson, but that no word has been received since. He does not expect them to be present when the case is called.

If Mrs. Anderson fails to appear, it is conjectured that she will lose the case by default. From a statement credited to one of her attorneys, it has been expected that she would bring suit to recover the remainder of the $161,000 in securities taken from Mr. Anderson.

POSTAL INSPECTORS CHARGED WITH PLOT.

PUBLISHER, ARRESTED WITH WIFE HERE, DENIED HE MISUSED MAILS.

Charges of persecution by the postal authorities over many years, culminating in the arrest of him and his wife here Tuesday, were made yesterday by Harry Hitchcock, wanted in Washington, D. C., to face charges of using the mails illegally in connection with his publication and mail-order literary school enterprise conducted in many cities. In denying the charges, he declares the difficulty originally arose when he kicked a postal inspector out of his office in 1913, "a boyish mistake."

Later, he charges, the inspectors hounded him, bribed employees and otherwise tried to obtain evidence against him. His first prosecution, he says, was due to a violation of the postal regulations in that he sent a dunning message on a postal card. He asserts the postal authorities were so persistent that his business was given up and that he and his wife came to Arcadia, where they conducted a chicken ranch with a view of engaging in ranching on a large scale under the co-operative plan.

"We had fifteen offices in five cities," he said yesterday, "a three-story building in Washington, a two-story building in Baltimore. We planned to secure printing contracts from libraries, authors' clubs and every kind of printing of a literary nature and we were to be specialists in that work with a special editorial staff in Washington to do nothing but prepare manuscripts, attend to illustrating, etc. We engaged such literary people as Florence Jackson Stoddard, formerly editor of the Pictorial Review; Genevieve Farnell Bond, poetess, quite well-known in Los Angeles, and Henry Albert Phillips, whom we engaged to conduct a short-story course. The postal officials, due to testimony of inspectors and that of the paid spies in our offices and the complaint of only twenty-five people out of our clientele of over 125,000, issued the order against us more than six months after we had voluntarily closed the business, cited against us as fraudulent according to the postal regulations."

Fraud Suspect is Linked With Man Riverside Seeks.

Frederick Z. Jackson of San Diego, under indictment charged with using the mails in a scheme to defraud, and George Carrington, wanted in Riverside, are one and the same person, in the opinion of Postoffice Inspector Cookson, who, three years ago investigated the activities of Jackson, who was divorced from Mrs. Cleora E. Jackson last Saturday.

Jackson, when in San Diego, posed as a Brahmin priest, and as deaf and dumb. The woman, who afterward became his wife, conducted a news stand in that city. It is reported that on the day of their marriage Jackson recovered his speech, and later on took a number of the woman's valuables.

Carrington, posing as a deaf-mute, married Mrs. Ida Frost, in El Paso, and they later removed to Riverside. Last March Carrington deserted his bride. The similarity of the methods of the men causes Inspector Cookson to think that possibly Jackson and Carrington are one individual.

WINS FROM CAR COMPANY.

A jury in Judge Wellborn's court yesterday awarded Miss Minnie McDaniel $5250 damages against the Los Angeles Railway for injuries she suffered when she was struck by a street car. She asserted the car started without sounding the gong. The company contended that Miss McDaniel stepped in front of the coach as it was moving.

HUGE AUTO PLANT LIKELY.

Los Angeles is being favorably considered as the location for a $2,000,000 automobile factory, according to statements issued yesterday by officials of the Durant Motor Company of California.

The company, headed by R. C. Durant, is a subsidiary of the Durant Motors, Inc., of New York, and for many weeks has been contemplating the construction of a huge manufacturing plant on the Pacific Coast. A survey of all the large Coast cities has been completed, with all cities but Oakland and Los Angeles eliminated as contenders for the huge project.

The possibility of this city being selected as the plant's home was strengthened yesterday when it was learned that C. M. Steves, who has been associated with R. C. Durant for a number of years, has been spending several days in conferences with Roy Seeley, local real estate dealer, and in making inspection tours of the industrial locations of Los Angeles and the suburban districts. On these tours Mr. Steves has been accompanied by A. G. Arnold, manager of the industrial department of the Chamber of Commerce.

It is the plan of the company to launch its production of automobiles by turning out 15,000 new cars annually from its local factory, if it is erected here. R. C. Durant, who is in New York, is expected to return to California at an early date. Upon his arrival, either Los Angeles or Oakland will be definitely chosen as the home of the new automobile plant.

SEWAGE REPORT TODAY.

Preliminary Findings of Experts Will be Given to Council.

A special meeting of the City Council will be held this morning to receive the preliminary report of the committee, composed of George W. Fuller, George C. Whipple and William Mulholland, which is investigating the sewage question for Los Angeles.

This evening Messrs. Fuller and Whipple will leave on an inspection tour which will take them to many of the largest cities of the country, where they will study the various sewage disposal methods which they employ. The result of these investigations will be embodied in, and will help to shape, the final report and the detailed recommendations which the committee will submit for this city.

FEDERAL INDICTMENTS.

True Bill Found Against Asserted Slayer of Indian Policeman.

Arthur J. Blum, violation of the Mann White Slave Act; Curry Alexander and Denny Shirley, violation of the Dyer Act in taking an automobile from one State to another without the consent of the owner; Robert Burns, violation of the Harrison narcotic law; Felix Tortes, murder of John Largo, an Indian policeman, on the Coahuilla reservation in Riverside county on the night of March 22.

Hereafter the grand jury will convene at 10 a.m. each Friday, so as to have all day to do its work instead of beginning in the middle of the afternoon.

BIG BROTHER SHOW NETS LARGE SUM.

More Than Five Thousand Dollars Secured to Help in Juvenile Reclamation.

Playing to a crowded house at Philharmonic Auditorium last night, the Knights of Columbus Big Brother benefit entertainment cleared $5500, according to Chairman A. A. Normandin. The money will be used by field workers of the Big Brother League to assist boys and girls who come under the jurisdiction of Judge Weyl of the Juvenile Court.

The entertainment was one of the largest and most varied benefits staged here lately. Sid Grauman personally directed its arrangement. The climax came when the audience seemed unable to determine, by applause, which of two little girls, who offered novelty dance acts, deserved a silver loving cup donated by Mr. Grauman.

Interest was running exceedingly high, and the little girls were sitting away out on the edge of the anxious seat, when Mr. Grauman stepped out of the wings with another loving cup sticking out of his hip pocket. No—a cup! It was a twin of the one over which the audience was passing, and the question was settled in a manner quite satisfactory to the youthful terpsichorean artists.

The funds raised at last night's benefit will carry the league a considerable distance with its Big Brother work this year, the committee thinks. All of the boys and girls who come within its scope will be placed under the watchful eyes of Big Brothers of the Knights of Columbus, who will try to see that they do not get into Juvenile Court again.

DEAD GIVEN NEW NAMES.

The man and woman known at Santa Ana as Mr. and Mrs. Earl J. Easton, killed two weeks ago in an automobile accident, were otherwise identified yesterday. A petition for administration of the estate shows the man was Eustance E. Young, who had a wife and two daughters from whom he was separated at Spokane, Wash., three years ago, and who now are residents in San Diego.

The woman was Miss Dolores, 25 years old, formerly employed by Mr. Young as a stenographer, according to Mrs. Young. Miss Dolores was an orphan. A brother of Mr. Young lives in Redlands.

An incident bordering on the sensational occurred in Judge McCormick's courtroom yesterday during the trial of Oscar A. Bowers, charged with the murder of McCullough Graydon, real estate operator, at Venice, last September.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Keyes was cross-examining Mrs. Julia Deane, a co-defendant. Suddenly she began crying. Defense Counsel Rush objected to a question by Mr. Keyes and then said:

"I want to call the court's attention to a matter. I am entitled to the protection of the court. As counsel for the defense I should be permitted to sit in this courtroom without having a woman call me vile names."

He referred to Mrs. Graydon, the widow, who was sitting near him. She has been a witness four times during the trial of Mrs. Maybelle Roe, convicted of the Graydon murder, and at the Bowers trial.

Mr. Keyes declared he did not believe Mrs. Graydon was a woman to so misconduct herself. The episode wound up with a suggestion on the part of Mr. Keyes to investigate the matter.

Meantime, Mr. Rush appeared ill and because of his disturbed condition, the court was abruptly adjourned to resume later in the afternoon.

MUSIC MAN GOES EAST.

Effort to Secure National Convention for Los Angeles to be Made.

J. W. Boothe, general manager of the music departments of Barker Brothers, with branches in Long Beach, Pomona, San Diego and Fresno, has left for the East on a buying trip and to attend the national convention of piano and talking machine dealers of America.

Mr. Boothe has been appointed delegate from California to attend the organization of a national association of talking machine dealers, who are to meet at Chicago and while in the East will visit New York, Boston and all the principal music centers to keep in touch with the latest developments in the music industry.

The music dealers of Los Angeles will try to bring the national association to Los Angeles for the next convention. Mr. Boothe has been delegated to present the advantages of Los Angeles as a meeting place for the music manufacturers and dealers in a speech at the annual banquet to be held at the Drake Hotel, Chicago.

A DROOPING hat has been known to revive many a woman's spirits and appearance.

CHARTER CALLS FOR ELECTION.

Council and Three Officials All to be Elected.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, April 15.—This city's first election under the terms of the new city charter calling for a City Manager form of government, adopted at the polls yesterday, will be held June 14. At that time there will be elected seven members of the City Council, City Attorney, City Auditor, police "judge, and, presumable, five members of the city Board of Education.

Yesterday's election votes the existing city administration out of office. The change will be made on July 5, when the commission of five members will be superseded by a council of seven members, nominated by petition from wards, and elected by the city at large.

The continuation of the industrial district east of the flood control district between Fifth and Anaheim streets is authorized by the result of this vote on the two alternative propositions submitted by the freeholders. Twenty of the twenty-seven consolidated precincts of the city returned majorities for the new system and seven precincts were adverse to the change.

The opposition came chiefly from the west side and the northern section. The official returns show a nearly evenly divided sentiment on the Mayor and Council plan, the affirmative vote on Amendment No. 1 to the old charter, being 2313 and negative 2330. The almost tie vote, however, does not encourage any hope for a contest. The decision on the main issue overshadows all else, and the proposed amendments, even though some of them carried, will be nullified along with the Commission charter.

The new charter will not be effective until it has been ratified by the State Legislature, which is scheduled to adjourn on April 28.

The vote will be canvassed next Monday and the result will then be certified to the State Senate and Assembly without delay and official copies of the charter will be taken to Sacramento. The new plan provides, in brief: the city to be divided into seven districts from each of which will be chosen a Councilman, to be nominated by petition and elected at large.

A City Manager to be chosen by the Council, and serve at the pleasure of the Council, at a salary not less than $7500 a year. He is subject to recall after six months and to removal by the Council after one year. He will have general supervision of all departments, except those headed by elective officers. The City Attorney will be elected, and will have a salary of $5000 a year. The City Auditor will be elected, and will have a salary of $3000 a year. The police judge will be elected and will have a salary of $3000 a year. The City Clerk will be appointed by the City Council.

All other appointive officers will be selected by the manager, with confirmation by the Council. The manager need not be a resident of Long Beach at the time of his appointment by the Council.

All elective officers, as well as the manager, will be subject to recall, but recall petitions must be signed at the office of the City Clerk. Ten per cent of the vote cast at the last election will be sufficient to force the submission of a recall. The Council will elect one of its number as Mayor to serve as presiding officer and to act as official dignitary.

CHIROPRACTORS FACE LONG TERMS IN JAIL.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTERVILLE, April 15.—Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Willis of Porterville, and W. H. Drennon of Dinuba, chiropractors, convicted in the Superior Court at Visalia for practicing without a license, were today sentenced to 100 days in the County Jail or a fine of $200. They were given a choice of alternative service in the jail or fine at the rate of $2 per day and stay of execution has been granted until Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

Prior to the passing of sentence the stated through their attorney, Waldo Burford, of Porterville, that they desired a jail sentence. The judge read a lengthy manuscript elaborating on various other cases of a similar nature and told them that if they would promise not to violate the law again, he would pass as easy sentence as possible. They did not promise.

Mrs. Willis visited the County Jail yesterday and "looked over the cells."

WHOLESALE FORGER IN POMONA JAIL.

HELD TO AWAIT PRELIMINARY HEARING; PRESENT PICTURE OF PRESIDENT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

Herbert, identified as the passer of worthless paper here a month ago and who was arrested yesterday on a charge of passing more bogus checks on two Pomona merchants, was arraigned before Justice U. E. White today and formally charged with the crime. His preliminary hearing was set for Monday morning and bail fixed at $2000.

Unable to secure bond, he was taken back to the local jail to await his hearing. The automobile he had in his possession when arrested was returned to a Los Angeles dealer, another victim.

Joseph A. Allard, Jr., president of the Pomona Valley Republican Club, together with several other prominent members of the club, appeared at a special assembly at Pomona High School today and presented the student body with a large picture of President Harding. The picture will be given a place of prominence on the walls of the high school auditorium.

Prominent religious workers from various sections of the State are included in the program for the day. The afternoon session will be held in the First Christian Church and the evening sessions will be held at the Trinity Methodist and the Calvary Baptist churches.

SAYS BROTHER IS VICTIM OF PLOT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ONTARIO, April 15.—That her brother, John F. Scherb, whose leg was severed yesterday in a gun duel with John Brenton on the W. J. Tebo ranch, south of Ontario, was the victim of a plot on the part of other employees to oust him from the foremanship of the ranch, was the belief expressed tonight by Mrs. Anna Marck at her home, 319 West State street.

Mrs. Marck declared that just as soon as her brother is physically able, she will demand a thorough investigation of the matter. She stated this evening upon returning from the San Antonio Hospital, where he was taken following the shooting, that Scherb had just reassured her that he was not mentally deranged at the time of the shooting and that he was entirely justified in his actions.

Mrs. Marck admitted that her brother had been under a great strain for several months on account of domestic troubles, his wife, Irene Scherb, having divorced him last fall, but she attributed yesterday's affair to the fact that other men on the ranch had resented notices posted by Scherb as foreman urging them not to spit on the floors and to use plenty of soap and water, and had laid a plot to oust him from his position.

Mrs. Marck has secured the offending notices and turned them over to Chief of Police W. O. Hardy to be used in the investigation later.

WIN IN ROAD WORK.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BRAWLEY, April 15.—Despite the fact that considerable trouble was experienced in laying the pavement on the Alamo-New River fill between this city and Calipatria, nearly one and a half miles of the pavement have been completed and progress is being made on the remaining portion.

The river fill is so soft, according to Highway Commissioner Travers, that when it is rolled it sinks to such an extent that it is necessary to lay eight or nine inches of the Willite paving, instead of five inches, in order to bring it up to grade.

This piece of road has brought a storm of protest from farmers in No. 4 and No. 5 districts, their contention being that the paved highway should have been laid parallel to the railroad tracks, on the present main road between this city and Calipatria. Instead of by the route over which construction is being completed.

DR. ROBERT C. BARTON, VICE CRUSADER, DEAD.

MORALS EFFICIENCY CHIEF LED MANY RAIDS ON THE CITY'S UNDESIRABLES.

Death yesterday claimed Dr. Robert C. Barton, ardent crusader against vice in Los Angeles. As executive secretary of the Morals Efficiency Commission, he had for seven years led many raids and had assisted in numerous campaigns to raise the city's standard of morals, but several months ago the weight of his duties forced him to retire from his position and caused a nervous breakdown, which resulted in his death at 9 a.m. yesterday.

The funeral services will be held next Monday at the Bramble Funeral Home, 1249 South Flower street. Interment will be in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Ten years ago Dr. Barton came to Los Angeles from Minneapolis with his family. Three years later he organized the Morals Efficiency Commission, composed of 100 of the city's leading citizens, which was largely instrumental in securing the passage of the Redlight Abatement Act in the Legislature. Since the act became effective he had devoted much of his time to the enforcement of the law and to ridding Los Angeles of undesirables. Many of the spectacular raids conducted by the Metropolitan Squad on gambling rooms and houses of ill repute were personally led by Dr. Barton.

Dr. Barton was 51 years old. His home was at 109 East Avenue 33. He was born in Tyrone county, Ireland, and came to America thirty years ago. Later he became a Baptist minister. He leaves a widow, Esther A., and a son, George Barton, who had filled the place of his father on the Morals Efficiency Commission for several months.

DRAFT ON DEAD MAN.

Unusual Transaction is Revealed by Bank Case Witness.

Another shift was made yesterday in the date of the trial of Edward T. Pyle, former vice-president of the National Bank and Trust Company of Pasadena, and W. J. Conner, at one time head of the Master Pictures, Inc., a cinema concern, who are jointly indicted, charged with violation of the national banking laws. The date now fixed and understood to be final is Tuesday, May 31. The hearing will be before U. S. District Judge Bledsoe. The work of taking depositions of foreign witnesses has been completed, and they will be introduced at the hearing. In one instance a witness declared that a draft was drawn on a man who was dead at the time of the negotiation of the paper at the Pasadena bank.

Promoters of Californian to Develop Properties Outside of City.

That the Hazen J. Titus Hotel Company, which has taken an option on the Trinity Hotel at Ninth street and Grand avenue, with the view of enlarging and converting the property into one of the finest hotels on the Pacific Coast, will probably extend its field of operations to other towns of Southern California was the statement made yesterday by Mr. Titus. It was also pointed out by Mr. Titus that, while James Woods, manager of the Belmont and Murray Hill hotels of New York, has agreed to become a director in the Hazen J. Titus Hotel Company, he will serve in this capacity only with a hotel project outside of the city of Los Angeles. Mr. Woods will not be officially connected with the Hotel Californian to be operated within the city.

"By the help of Tanlac I have come a case of chronic indigestion that I suffered twenty-two years," was the notable statement made by Mrs. Ferreira, 6044½ Yucca St., Los Angeles.

"I had so appetite and was really afraid to eat because of the misery that always came. Sometimes I couldn't retain a drop of milk. I had gas constantly and was nervous, and I never knew what it was to get a good night's sleep. My feet and ankles were swollen and at times I couldn't wear shoes. I had a tired, worn-out feeling all the time and couldn't do my housework. It would be hard to find any kind of medicine I didn't try, and I kept on getting worse and worse. I was just a nervous wreck.

"But by the time I had used one bottle of Tanlac I could see a wonderful change. One day I ate a piece of meat, something I hadn't ventured to do in years, and was surprised to find it didn't hurt me a particle. BARD AT GRAUMAN'S.

"MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM" SCENE TO BE STAGED.

By Grace Kingsley.

It looks as though costume drama were coming back again with a whoop. We are having costume plays and pictures, and now, of course, it is no less enterprising a person than Sid Grauman who is going to stage a costume prologue.

The prologue will be nothing less indeed than the entire final act of Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream," which will be presented, commencing Monday, in connection with the picture, "The Witching Hour." A number of Shakespearean actors will take part, and the production promises to be very well worth while. Assisting Mr. Grauman will be Messrs. Otto Matieson and Garnett Holme, who have had much experience as stage directors, while Winthrop Kelly, a Shakespearean authority, will also aid.

This presentation will be Los Angeles official participation in the commemorative ceremonies which are being held throughout the world next week in honor of the immortal author, whose birthday anniversary is April 22.

Maude Adams Interested.

While Maude Adams refuses to appear on the screen, according to word just received from New York, she is much interested in pictures. At present she is busily experimenting with a new process in color photography at the laboratories of the General Electric Company in Schenectady, and with the assistance of friends is bringing to the screen a motion picture entitled "Aladdin."

Kings Are Divorced.

From New York comes word that Hazel Buckham King, a picture actress of this city, has won her alimony suit against Joseph B. King, a motion-picture actor with the Vitagraph Company in New York.

Mrs. King was sued for divorce by her husband in Los Angeles in 1916, but he was unable to sustain his allegations and judgment was rendered by the Superior Court of Los Angeles in favor of his wife, who was awarded alimony.

King paid the alimony until he went East with Vitagraph people, and recently his wife, through her attorneys, brought suit in the city court of New York to recover the accrued alimony, and served the papers on King at the Algonquin Hotel there.

When the case came to trial, King put in no appearance and the judgment was taken against him by default.

Wedding Is Near.

Even if Doris May is receiving a lot of nice picture offers back there in New York, she isn't going to permit her professional career to interfere with her domestic happiness. From no less an authority than her fiance himself, Wallace McDonald, comes the word that the pair are to be married, very quietly, sometime next month.

Miss May is to leave for Los Angeles next Sunday. She has been in New York, playing a role in Maurice Tourneur's current picture.

Gareth Hughes Building Home.

F. B. Warren Corporation.

Announcement is made of the incorporation at Wilmington, Del., of the F. B. Warren Corporation, a motion picture sales and distributing organization which will operate branch exchanges in the twenty or more motion picture distributing centers of the industry.

Formation of the new organization brings about F. B. Warren power production and financial affiliation of men ranking at the top in motion picture production and men of large interests in the business and industrial life of the United States.

Director and producer connections insuring an annual output of twenty or more big pictures have been and are being established, assuring the release of a powerful production each week, beginning Sept. 4, 1921.

F. B. Warren, president and general manager of the new company, was one of the founders and was vice-president and sales manager of the Goldwyn organization, and later vice-president of the W. W. Hodkinson Corporation. Last year he organized and operated the general management of the entire Associated Producers distributing machine in the United States and Canada.

LLOYD'S BROTHER AS LUKE.

Gaylord Lloyd, who is bringing back to the screen the rejuvenated "Lonesome Luke," made famous by his brother, Harold Lloyd, who first essayed the characterization, will appear on the screen in the first of the Gaylord Lloyd comedies in about two months. Mr. Lloyd has prepared a speedy schedule for himself, taking from six to eight days for a comedy. He has already finished three pictures and started his fourth. The following are members of Mr. Lloyd's company: Beatrice La Plante, leading lady; Vera White, character; Joe White, who doubles for Mr. Lloyd; Alf Goulding, director, and Frank Young, cameraman.

SANG WITH GUERRIERI TROUPE

Ernesto Rubio, tenor, has been delighting audiences at Tally's this week with his rendition of the "Salve Dimora" from Gounod's "Faust." Excerpts from the opera are also prominent in the score for the brilliant photodrama, "The Devil," starring George Arliss.

Mr. Rubio, the singer, has only recently returned from a South American tour in opera under the direction of Fulgencio Guerrieri, well-known locally. He divided stellar tenor honors in the Guerrieri organization with the Spanish tenor, Hipolito Lazaro. Roberto Picchi, famous basso, was also a member. Rubio has a repertoire of twenty-four operas. Commencing today he will sing "Chegelida Manina" from Puccini's "La Boheme."

BOOK GLEE CLUB.

The University of Southern California Glee Club has been booked as a special added feature with Gertrude Atherton's original photoplay, "Don't Neglect Your Wife" for the coming week at the California Theater. This organization is made up of twenty talented entertainers from the student body, and they are preparing a show that will do credit to their college, it is said. Purl Wilkerson is preparing to stage this in an elaborate manner.

MUSICAL.

COLOR CONTRASTS ATTRACT AT ORCHESTRA CONCERT.

By Edwin Schallert.

Fresh and modern from every standpoint was the program presented by the Philharmonic Orchestra, at their final symphony concert, yesterday afternoon at Philharmonic Auditorium. It was a notable closing for the series of events, because, without the added allure of a soloist, Conductor Walter Henry Rothwell and his men drew to a close to capacity attendance. The musicianship of the director and enthusiasm of the orchestra for unfamiliar works were in evidence throughout.

MacDowell's "Indian Suite," which was given in place of a symphony, has not been heard locally for several years, and yesterday's was the first performance by the Philharmonic. The composition is in the most prepossessing MacDowell style as full of color and life as an Indian war dance at times, and as quiet and serene as a mountain lake at others. The contrasts afforded in the "Love Song" and "In War-Times;" in the "Dirge" and the "Village Festival," are vibrant with interest and variety.

The serenity of certain passages of the MacDowell composition are as nothing, however, to that cosmic calm which pervaded the Adagietto from Mahler's Fifth Symphony, introduced at the concert. Such perspective as the melodies of this work have, is seldom to be noted. Mr. Rothwell interpreted with the fine intimate feeling for the beauties of the Adagietto, although in the broken phrases of the middle section the orchestral rendition was not free from roughness.

As in the instance of the MacDowell work, Mr. Rothwell obtained distinguishing effects with the transparent nocturnes of Debussy—"Nuages" and "Fetes." The vagueness of the tonal meanderings in "Nuages" is bound to suggest the impression of the title. Certainly, this is music of the higher strata of atmosphere, both artistically and in its theme. The "Fetes" is more vivid in its impressionism, a fascinating piece of pictorial writing.

Of course, the climax of popular delight was the Rimsky-Korsakoff "Caprice Espagnole." Like one of those sun-swept paintings of the modern Spanish school is this remarkable adventure of a Russian in the Land of Castile. Its impetus grows with every movement, until the final flaming fandango is reached. The varied movement has not even a speaking acquaintance with the classical type, for it contains variations of tints and hues rather than of theme and melody.

Filled with vibrant color the final program of the Philharmonic makes a broad, popular appeal. It will be repeated this evening.

KUBELIKS ARRIVE TODAY.

Coming direct from New Orleans, where the famous violinist had a phenomenal success Wednesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Jan Kubelik will arrive here tonight. Although immensely popular all over the United States, Kubelik has enjoyed a special vogue throughout the South particularly in New Orleans, where his gypsy-like looks and brilliancy of playing are peculiarly appealing to the highly volatile, hospitable people. Mrs. Kubelik, who will be remembered as sharing in her distinguished husband's publicity on the occasion of his previous tours, quite as extensively as he personally did, is accompanying her husband, and gaily refers to the transcontinental tour as a second honeymoon. Pierre Augieras, the Spanish pianist, and A. Bartik, the manager for the American tour, are with Kubelik. The violinist will give but two concerts in Southern California.

STAR STILL IN EAST.

Colleen Moore, who has the leading feminine role in Hugh Dierker's production, "When Dawn Came," coming next week to Trinity Auditorium, is at present in New York City. The pretty and petite Miss Moore has an important role in Marshall Neilan's new picture, "The Lotus Eaters," being filmed at the eastern metropolis. She expects to return in about two weeks.

FILM SCENES DECEIVE.

Some very pleasing outdoor scenes adorn "Don't Neglect Your Wife," which follows "The Spenders" at the California Theater. Judging from the lighting seen in the "shots," one would think the Goldwyn Company enjoyed a period of fair weather at the old mission town, where the scenes were made. But appearances are deceiving, according to Mabel Julienne Scott, who plays Madeline, the leading feminine role. "We stayed five days just to get a few scenes, and it rained most of the time," she declares. "We had to dash out on our horses between showers, and take refuge under some protecting tree during the rainy spells. It was a very inconvenient and an altogether unsatisfactory proceeding."

EASTERN HOTEL MEN ARE BANQUET GUESTS.

DELEGATION TO LEAVE TODAY FOR SANTA BARBARA AND SAN FRANCISCO.

Following a tour of hotels in Southern California, eighteen eastern hotel men were given a farewell banquet at the Ambassador last night. More than seventy-five hotel men of Los Angeles and many other Southern California cities were present. Vernon Goodwin, formerly vice-president of the Ambassador system on the Pacific Coast, was toastmaster.

Short addresses were made by Mr. Goodwin, Charles B. Hamilton, Charles E. Gehring, publisher of the Hotel Review of New York City; Thomas D. Green, president of the New York State Hotel Men's Association; S. F. McFarlane, attorney for the Southern California Hotel Men's Association; D. M. Tierney, vice-president of the Hotel Belmont and Murray Hill of New York City.

The party will leave Los Angeles in a special train this morning at 8 o'clock for Santa Barbara, where they will be banqueted at the Arlington. From there the hotel men will journey to Del Monte, where they will be picked up in automobiles by representatives of the Northern California Hotel Men's Association and taken to San Francisco. The tour itinerary calls for a five-day visit in the Bay City.

SPECIAL SHOWING OF "WONDERLAND ALICE."

To assist in raising the endowment fund for Mills College a benefit performance of the picturesque film, "Alice in Wonderland," will be staged at the Kinema Theater this morning, under the auspices of a group of college alumnae. The feature, made by a group of college girls, is said to be remarkably beautiful, and the committee in charge tells that seats are going fast.

The affair is headed by an entertainment committee with Mrs. Willoughby Rodman in charge. Other ladies working in this cause are Mmes. John Newton Russell, Jr., Waller Taylor, Herbert Gale, George Chambers, I. R. Rubin, Harry Thatcher, E. H. Noe and Miss Ruth Spencler. Gore Bros., Ramish and Sol Lesser have donated the theater and the entire staff for the 10 o'clock performance, which will be followed with the opening of Marguerite Clark's picture, "Scrambled Wives."

Mental Cruelty Divorce Charge Against Lawyer.

Raymond E. Hoyt, Los Angeles attorney, was made a defendant in a suit for divorce filed yesterday by Mrs. Jessie H. Hoyt through her attorney, Louis G. Guernsey. The complaint, it is understood, is based upon charges of mental cruelty.

According to relatives of Mrs. Hoyt the mental cruelty was the result of what she termed neglect of herself and family.

Although Mr. Guernsey refused to disclose the details of the charges made by Mrs. Hoyt in her complaint, it was learned from her friends that she felt her husband was devoting too large a share of his time and attention to the vicinity of Tijuana, Mex., while she was taking care of her home and children.

Mrs. Hoyt was married eight years ago in Pasadena. She has two children, who are living with her in a home owned by her mother, Mrs. Annias A. Hoyt, at 5160 Franklin avenue. Mr. Hoyt, according to Mrs. Hoyt's mother, left the House last February.

He could not be reached last night for his version of the matrimonial misfortunes that led to the filing of the suit.

JURIST HONOR GUEST.

Municipal Art Commission Head Host to Associate Justice.

John W. Mitchell, president of the Municipal Art Commission, was host last night to twenty-eight business and professional men at a banquet given at the Los Angeles Athletic Club in honor of Associate Justice Lawlor of the State Supreme Court, an old-time friend of Mr. Mitchell.

Other guests were: Associate Justices of the Supreme Court Lennon and Olney, and Justices Finlayson and Conrey of the District Court of Appeals, Judge Shenk, King C. Gillette, George J. Denis, Henry M. Robinson, John P. Burke, William May Garland, John R. Haynes, Telfair Creighton, Edwin Bergstrom, Otheman Stevens, Robert N. Bulla, Frank A. Garbutt, Douglas L. Edmonds, William Hazlett, Carrol Allen, Frank James, George W. Adams, F. B. Binford, A. F. Rosenheim, Ben F. Gray, Lewis F. Vetter, Marshall F. McComb, and Charles Hetherington.

The banquet was a simple informal affair to renew with friends an old acquaintanceship and was given in the main dining-room so that the guests could enjoy the music.

TO DISCUSS "BLUE LAWS."

Dr. Smith Will Read Letters of Criticism Tomorrow and Continue Further.

Dr. Herbert Booth Smith, pastor of Immanuel Presbyterian Church, will continue his discussion of "The Blue Laws" tomorrow night. His sermon last Sunday evening aroused a great deal of comment and Dr. Smith has received many letters, some of commendation and others of censure. The church sexton found a placard on the door last Sunday night which said: "Christ is not a liar and not of these denominations. St. Paul was a man and not a hypocrite of these denominations. Christ kept Saturday, the seventh day of the week, as the Sabbath Day." Concerning the contention that Saturday is the Sabbath, Dr. Smith announces that he will speak on the subject soon but tomorrow evening will be a continuation of the "Blue Laws" discussion.

He will read at the Sunday night service a number of letters from motion-picture men, agreeing with him on the question of cleaning up the films. Dr. Smith also says, "I intend to quote the text of the conference proposals and will show the Lord's Day Alliance has no such idea of Sunday observance. I will also show the evidence presented to fifty New York ministers from the Exhibitors' Bulletin and the International Sporting Club. I shall discuss the question whether the New England Blue Laws ever existed or whether they were a fiction invented by a Tory renegade. People will be surprised as the facts because they have suffered themselves to be misled by some press reports which were either honestly mistaken or else well paid for." Finally, Dr. Smith announces he will lay down some underlying principles of sane twentieth century Sunday legislation.

"THE MOTE AND THE BEAM."
FIRST CONGREGATIONAL.

Dr. Carl S. Patton will speak at the First Congregational Church tomorrow morning on "The Mote and the Beam." Preceding this, his "Children's Sermon" will be on the subject of "Be Kind to Animals," in recognition of the special effort the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is making during the coming week, to further its purpose. In the evening the moving-picture, "The Jack-Knife Man" will be shown, in connection with which Dr. Patton will speak on "He Set a Child in Their Midst." Judge Curtis D. Wilbur will speak to the Baraca class tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock.

WILL LAY CORNER-STONE.
CHURCH OF HOLY FAMILY.

The corner-stone of the Church of the Holy Family, at the corner of Elk and Louise streets, Glendale, will be laid with impressive ceremony tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Monsignor Patrick Harnett, Vicar-General of the Catholic diocese, will officiate. John Steven McGroarty, author of the "Mission Play," will be the speaker of the day. Dwight Stephenson, Mayor of Glendale, will speak on the significance of the occasion to the community of Glendale. Rev. J. S. O'Neill, pastor of the church, will also speak. A copper box containing memoranda of the church and the names of all the Sunday-school children, will be placed in the corner-stone.

WILD BAPTIZE SON.
TEMPLE BAPTIST CHURCH.

Rev. Charles Boynton, noted missionary from China, will baptize his own son at the Temple Baptist Church tomorrow morning. Dr. James W. Brougher will preach on "Living the Golden Rule; Can It Be Done?" Constance Balfour, soprano; Charlotte Laser and Nell Lockwood will sing. A feature of the evening service will be the exhibition of the picture, "In the Wilds of Canada." The topic of Dr. Brougher's sermon will be "How a Thief Broke Into Heaven." The Temple Quartet will sing and Hall's Jubilee Singers will render several old plantation melodies. Members of the Union Rescue Mission will assist at the service.

He has chosen for the topic of his morning sermon, "A Great Passion for Souls," and for his evening discourse, "A Necessary Credential for God's Subjects." The chorus choir of 100 voices, the male quartet and a number of well-known soloists will take part in the musical program. Miss Leah Milarr will play a trombone solo, and a fifteen-minute organ recital will precede each service. A twilight communion service will be held at 6:30 p.m.

On Monday night the fifteenth anniversary of the Fishermen Club will be observed. The Fishermen's Club, with members in all parts of this country, Japan, China, Africa, South America, and many other parts of the world, fostered the organization out of which the Bible Institute was established with property valued at more than $2,000,000.

Grieves has chosen for the subject of his prelude address at the Westlake Methodist Church tomorrow evening, the topic, "The Insult to Westlake Decency; the Pink Rat Opposite Westlake Park." Mr. Grieves announces that he will have something to say of "a city administration that pays no attention to remonstrances in the name of the public until it is compelled to do so. His sermon subject will be "What Wilt Thou That I Should Do?" At the morning service, Dr. John Hedley, veteran of the Boxer rebellion in China, will speak on that country.

ON FREE LOVE.
TRINITY METHODIST CHURCH.

Commenting on his sermon on "A Cure for Immorality in the Public Schools" at the Trinity Methodist Church tomorrow evening, Rev. "Bob" Shuler asks the question "What has come about that one of America's greatest educators is prompted to sound a warning lest the public school shall become the centers of free love propaganda?" At the morning service Mr. Shuler will preach on "The Survival of the Unfit."

EXPERIENCES IN PALESTINE.
BROADWAY CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Rev. S. M. Bernard, will relate his experiences in Palestine, where he spent three months with 675 other Americans, at the Broadway Christian Church tomorrow evening. Among the many souvenirs which he brought back with him and which he will show the audience, is a dagger which he took from a Syrian on the road from Jerusalem to Jericho, where the Good Samaritan become famous. FIVE TO ENTER MINISTRY.
FIRST UNITED BRETHREN.

From the membership of the First United Brethren Church, of which Rev. H. C. Shaffer is pastor, five young men will soon enter the ministry and two young women will enter full-time service as deaconesses, according to an announcement yesterday by Dr. J. C. Pinkerton, executive secretary of the State Church Federation. "One of the happiest things in any pastor's experience," says Dr. Pinkerton, "is to feel that he is multiplying himself through the lives of others, and one of the richest things that can come to any congregation is the development of stalwart lives to be devoted to the service of the Master."

PASTOR INSTALLED.
FIRST UNITED PRESBYTERIAN.

Dr. W. E. McCulloch was formally installed as pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church last Wednesday night by the Los Angeles Presbytery of the United Presbyterian denomination. Dr. McCulloch comes to Los Angeles from the Homewood United Presbyterian Church of Pittsburg, his only other pastorate since graduating from the Pittsburg Theological Seminary twenty-five years ago. He is a graduate of Monmouth College and Johns Hopkins University. In addition to his duties as pastor, Dr. McCulloch was for eighteen years a member of the Board of Home Missions of his denomination and for the past few years chairman of its evangelistic committee; he served as a member of the State committee of the Anti-Saloon League of Pennsylvania, president of the Lord's Day Alliance of Pennsylvania, secretary of the board of directors of the Pittsburg Theological Seminary, associate editor of the United Presbyterian, and in 1917-18 was moderator of the United Presbyterian Church of North America. During the World War, Dr. McCulloch saw active service in France as a Y.M.C.A. secretary with the Twenty-ninth Division.

United Presbyterian pastors all over the country tomorrow will present the need of the church-at-large for men and women to enter the ministry. Dr. McCulloch will preach in the morning on, "The Claims of the Gospel Ministry." At the evening service, Chaplain R. A. Shrum of the U.S.S. Arkansas will preach. His topic is "Steadfastness."

UNIVERSAL CHINA DAY.
CHURCH FEDERATION.

Universal China day will be observed in many of the churches of Southern California tomorrow. Pastors will make appeals from their pulpits on behalf of the China famine fund for the relief of the starving millions of China. Ten of the twenty little Chinese girls, who, for the past three Saturdays, have been stationed in all of the Los Angeles banks receiving donations for the fund, will perform the same service today in Pasadena, under the direction of A. H. Gage, chairman of the Pasadena committee. Rev. E. D. Chapin, who is on a furlough from China, is devoting his vacation to the work, having charge of the campaign sale of China lifesaving stamps. He will today address the student volunteer conference at the Redlands University, and tomorrow will speak at the First Presbyterian Church in San Bernardino in the morning and in the First Congregational Church in the evening.

"WHAT DOES JESUS THINK."
WILSHIRE PRESBYTERIAN.

Dr. John Albert Eby of Wilshire Presbyterian Church will preach a series of six sermons on the topic, "What Does Jesus Think?" He will take the following topics for the series: What does Jesus think about work and wages? About amusements? About a blue Sunday? About poverty and wealth? About the family? About politics? The sermon tomorrow will be introductory to the series and will be on "Can We Know What Jesus Thinks?" The church quartet will sing "Consider the Lilies," by Topliff, and Mrs. Alma Creighton and Fred Backer will sing Foster's "Is It Nothing to You?" The people of the Wilshire church for the church year just closed gave to all the interests of the church over $50,000 in cash, making a per capita gift of over $215 for the membership of the church.

"A STARTLING METHOD."
FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Churchmen, politicians and reformers may learn a new secret of successful campaigning by listening to Dr. Hugh K. Walker's sermon tomorrow evening on "The Surprising Effectiveness of a Startling Method." It was the method employed by one who has achieved the greatest successes this old world has ever known, he says. In the morning, Dr. Walker will speak on "The Winds that Blow in Vain," which is announced as a sequel to the sermon last Sunday morning on "The Faith that Faces Four-Square."

WOMEN PROTEST.
MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

Declaring that the portrayal of the life of Clara Smith Hamon on the screen would not be conducive to the moral health of the young people, and that Mrs. Hamon could best be reinstated in the esteem of Christian people by retiring into private life, the Women's Missionary Society of Trinity Methodist Church has adopted a resolution protesting against the proposed cinema exhibition.

CLUB BOOSTS WOMAN CANDIDATE.

BY MYRA NYE.

"Talk about your free speech," the City Clerk shouts yesterday in answer to Mrs. Ida Works Darling, asking for a seat in the City Hall at the tea given in honor of the latter by the Woman's City Club, "but the thing is to get to free speech when once you are elected. You will have to be a politician. You will have to talk about things you don't like. You'll have to tell people what you think, you'll have to tell people what you are. I've been there myself, you and I are just alike, I know. You and I are just the sort of women Mrs. Darling, but a politician is going to having me appointed to City Clerk because he said I was a good sport, a girl. As such I am going to be in the City Hall and not another mere slip of a girl in the company."

WORTH WHILE.

Mrs. Darling, who looked her last night as if the advice at once when she got the shouts and I are right. Next year I will be elected the City Clerk stops laughing this year. My friends think of me in this race. They believe in me and tells me to give up when I get discouraged. The only one in my family doesn't believe in my candidacy is my young daughter who is at school at Marlborough. She says I think it 'sidylike' and really a disgrace for 'mother' to have her picture in the paper. My only desire is to prove to Charlotte that it is worth while to put forth all the civic consciousness that we have been talking about in our clubs these many years as nurses in citizenship."

In this intimate way the president of the Woman's City Club revealed herself in another and charming light to her fellow-members who see in her the efficient executive and the correct public speaker. For the ladies in the tea room at Bullock's adorned with multi-colored spring flowers, high tea was served to a hundred or more women who represented not only the hostess club but members of many of the influential clubs of the city. Mrs. Clarence Van Graham, past president, acted as hostess and introduced first of all Mrs. J. A. Osgood, president emeritus of the Friday Morning Club and dean of parliamentarians in the Los Angeles district. Mrs. O. P. Clark, who was unable to be present, sent a message ending "My faith in Mrs. Darling as well as in Mrs. G. M. Swindell is so great that they can disprove that faith only by failure, which I believe is impossible."

"I never do politics," said Mrs. E. R. Brainerd, "but if any one asks me who I am going to vote for for the City Council I shall say Mrs. Darling and Mrs. Swindell."

Mrs. Emma Reed said Mrs. Darling would always be interested in her work, that as a representative of the Friday Morning Club she had attended sessions of the City Council regularly and many of the men looked bored to death, but she knew Mrs. Darling never would.

LOOK OF VACANT MIND.

"It isn't a bored look they have," said Mrs. Cora Deal Lewis, who followed Mrs. Reed, "it is the look of a vacant mind. The actions of some of the Councilmen show that. Now we women don't want Mrs. Darling just because she is a woman, but because she is trained for this position, because she has the mind for it. But we've got to work for it. Her friends won't elect her. We sit up nights for our babies. Let's all up nights for this thing that will affect our grandchildren in the years to come, this putting in the City Council a woman who stands for some of the big ideals in government. For myself, I pledge to work for at least 500 votes."

Just as serious in their expressed desire to see women in the City Council were the other speakers: Mrs. Bertha A. Cable, State Deputy Labor Commissioner, and Dr. Len Hutchins. Other guests at the honor table were Mrs. Frederick Hickok and the entertainer, Mrs. Dean Van Norman of San Gabriel, who gave pianologues.

CHARGES GROUCHINESS.

Campaign of Annoyance is Told by Wife; Divorce Granted.

Mrs. Berle Orsatti was granted a divorce from Alfred P. Orsatti by Judge Summerfield yesterday. The evidence was brief and dealt principally with purported acts of Mr. Orsatti's grouchy moods.

She declared he conducted a systematic campaign to annoy her. She constituted this mental cruelty.

"He told me he was going to leave and he would pack his suit case. He said this so much that I kept the suit case handy for him," she testified.

EIGHTEEN MONTHS FOR POSSESSING COCAINE.

Making good his statement that anyone convicted of a violation of the Harrison narcotic law would be sent to the penitentiary, U. S. District Judge Bledsoe yesterday imposed a sentence of eighteen months in the Federal prison on McNeil Island on David England, who was convicted of having cocoaine in his possession. The jury acquitted England of selling the drug. He operated along Central avenue, it was charged.

HELPING FOLKS GET "LOCATED."

In Southern California, as in every large community, thousands of families are always seeking new quarters. It is impossible for most people to go house-hunting in person, so they save time and carfare by reading The Times' Want-Ad columns.

This service is so extensively used that great pains have been taken to make it simple and convenient. All the various kinds of living quarters are subdivided under about thirty subheads. For instance, "Rooms" are subdivided into "Furnished," "Unfurnished," "Housekeeping" and "Rooms and Board." "Flats—Furnished and Unfurnished;" "Houses—Furnished and Unfurnished;" "Apartments;" "Country and Suburban Homes;" "Beach Property"—are some of the numerous classifications.

A demonstration will be given at Westmoreland Tuesday by Miss Lillian D. Clark, expert on home evaporation of fruits and vegetables. Miss Clark will spend Wednesday at the Farm Bureau office here, where she will answer questions.

"The First Thing You Think Of"

What Is ORANGE PEKOE Tea?

It has nothing to do with oranges. It is simply an oriental term to denote one of the different gradings of tea. There are three gradings of Orange Pekoe Tea—

Flowery Orange Pekoe | tea of very finest quality
Broken Orange Pekoe | " " " choice "
Orange Pekoe | " " " average "

The first two are very much superior to ordinary Orange Pekoe. Ridgways (Gold Label) Orange Pekoe Tea is composed only of the Flowery and Broken Orange Pekoes—the finest teas procurable.

Southern California Prep Stars in Great Struggle Today.

RECORDS SEEM SURE TO FALL.

Houser of Oxnard Expected to Capture Weights.

Colored Boys Will Have to be Full of Speed.

More than 200 of the finest prep athletes that ever wore panties will mingle today at Housh Field, Los Angeles High School, in the Southern California interscholastic track and field championships. Not only is the meet remarkable for the number of entries, but the indications point to hotter competition than has been seen for many years.

LOOK GOOD.

Aside from the strictly prep events there are two added attractions which promise to be worth the price of admission alone. One is a special 120-yard hurdle race between Otto Anderson, a Pomona High boy, who is barred from competition by the five-year rule, and Charley Daggs. As both of these obstacle climbers are good for close to 15 seconds it should be a wonderful race.

A four-man, one-mile relay race between teams of the University of Southern California and Redlands University will also be staged. These are two wonderful quartets and a new Southern California record ought to result. Redlands, with Bill and Lloyd Yount, Knights and Kilby, can do around 3:24, and U.S.C., with Isenhour, Leahy, Wilson and Schiller, is equally promising.

REAL HEROES.

Even the sensational city meet of a couple of weeks ago will pale into insignificance alongside today's offerings. The out-of-town athletes will cut a lot of ice among the home talent, the hurdle events alone promising to go very much as they did in the city scramble, in the sprints Blankiron of Compton and Bob Alden of Redlands will uphold the honor of the white race against the colored flyers from Lincoln and Pasadena. Nash of Chino is another good out-of-town sprinter.

In the quarter, Gene Salmesvain of Los Angeles High looks like a favorite, but Tommy Davis thinks that Hildebrand of Lincoln may fool 'em. Mr. Banford of Van Nuys has made good time in this event. In the half-mile run, Thomas of Manual and Holcomb of Los Angeles will have a job to beat such men as Saltonstall of Pomona and Heilman of San Diego. In the mile Measelles will get a tough run from Kerr of Huntington Beach.

Young Mr. Houser of Oxnard will put a terrible swath in the weight events, having a cinch in the shot and discus with new records a certainty. Bennett of Santa Paula ought to place in most of the field events and figures to win the pole vault. Following is the program of the meet:

11:00—Trial heats in hurdles.

Afternoon
1:30—Start of discus throw, shot put, high jump, pole vault and broad jump.

ANGELS TAME PESKY FELINES.

Killefer's Lads Are Victorious in Hot Battle.

Wheezer Dell Blows Up Early; Is Jerked Out.

Rookie Douglas Shows Fine in Pitching Crisis.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Aside from a few hissing sputters in the last two rounds, the Vernon fellers were not in it yesterday, and Los Angeles evened the series, 5 to 3.

Wheezer Dell lasted only about four cracks of the bat. Four vicious licks, netting three runs, resulted in Dell being pulled right out of the middle of the second inning with a red-hot derrick.

"What d' 'ell?" remarked Mr. Essick, as he saw these unmistakable signs of early dissolution and gestured Walter Smallwood to the box. All that was needed were a few wire nails driven in Walter to make applicable the simile of a pine box.

GREAT FINISHER.

Mr. Smallwood is a great finish-upper, and this prevents the Angels from putting on any last-inning rallies these days. They are compelled to win their games backward. Mr. Smallwood stood silhouetted among the surrounding athletes like a Sequoia sprouting from an acre of sagebrush, and the Angels were unable to knock the tar out of his pitch.

They gathered two runs during his sojourn, one a gift from Morse, and needed them both before the thing was over.

Doc Crandall won the game, but his mates were compelled to save it behind his back. The broad shoulders of Mr. Crandall passing through the sliding door of the dumb waiter in center field in the middle of the ninth is getting to be rather a familiar sight.

PRONE TO BLOW.

He seems prone to blow up toward the finish like a bottle of over-ripe home brew. For seven innings Doc sent the Tigers back to the field with their lower lips resting on their collar buttons and exposing the rather harmless fangs of the lower jaw. A tiger showing its teeth in this manner is by no means a terrifying sight.

Not until the eighth did the Tigers begin to curl their upper lips and spit out snarls in approved jungle fashion. The rapidly fermenting Mr. Crandall was jarred for two runs in this round, and a one-run assault by regulars and pinch-hitters in the ninth caused the departure of Doc with his shattered slats.

Ken Douglas, second great pitcher produced by that El Monte garden spot, went in with two on and one gone, and the terrifying Tigers lapsed back into a condition of purring pussyhood. It required nerve for Killefer to call on a rookie in a crisis such as this, and even greater nerve on the part of said rookie.

SOME NERVE.

There proved to be sufficient nerve to cover the situation. We have seen Douglas work in but three league innings, but it required only that limited space for him to give the impression of being one of the season's finds. In those three rounds not a batter has reached first on him, and he has whiffed three. However, more impressive than this technique, was the cool and collected one might say cold and clammy manner, in which he faced a situation, which would have been trying to a much older arm and head.

But until the umps learn to gauge his "knuckle" ball, a sort of fadeway, he is going to be under a handicap in this circuit. Some grand stand experts estimated that he was forced to use four or five strikes in whiffing Chadbourne.

HANDICAPPED.

Right now, due to the loss of Sawyer, the Vernon club is badly handicapped around second base, and therefore, considerably below its figured or pre-season strength. Morse relieved Alcock at short, but the frequent changes necessitated have prevented building up anything like co-ordination around the B bag.

Dell became an open book in the second, and the Angels began making loose-leaf history off him. Crawford and Lindimore cracked safeties, and Niehoff sacrificed them up a peg. Oscar Stanage scored both men with a long double, which brought High and Chadbourne into close collusion. It isn't likely that Powers would turn Stanage back to Detroit should he be offered Basslers in carload lots, not to mention Lindimore and a piece of money.

OTE SINGLES.

Crandall singled Stanage across, and Dell ducked. Smallwood stopped the Angel scrimmage until the third, when Crawford singled, stole second and took third when there were no co-ordinated players assembled at the keystone to pocket Truck Hannah's shot. Lindimore let Sam across with a long fly to Edington.

The Tigers, previously held to three hits, became unruly in the eighth, a flock of singles by Hannah, Chadbourne and High, a pass and a sacrifice fly netting two runs. Crandall apparently finished the round strong by fanning Smith with two on bases, but relapsed in the ninth.

Those two runs pasted up looked to the Angels like significant handwriting on the left-field wall, so they went out and gathered another run in the ninth. Stanage singled and Crandall, still with us, sacrificed. Killefer spun a grounder to Morse, who snapped to Red Smith, Stanage camouflaging his entrance into third base with a cloud of dust.

IT WAS CLOSE.

It was a close one, and could be seen either way from the stand. Smith bitterly resented Umpire McGrew's decision of safe, and Essick emerged into the middle of the diamond, asking the umpire to be reasonable. During the discussion, Killefer ambled down to second base, being pegged out by Hannah. Red was ruled out, despite his argument there could be no play with Essick making the tenth man on the field. Red's argument may have been sound, but he seemed to be playful, so why not let the others be playful also?

Anyway, his injured sense of justice was pretty well salved up when a moment later, Morse juggled McAuley's grounder, allowing Stanage to score Carroll fled.

Crandall opened the ninth by whiffing Ham Hyatt, batting for Morse, and therefore out of practice. In doing this the Doc used up his last effective pill. Locker landed for a single, and took second on a short hit by Hannah.

"Schneider, running for Hannah," announced Umpire Eason.

"Schneider running for Maier, sometimes pronounced Mayor," echoed a bug in the stand, and the bases all became a scene of great political confusion. Long, batting for Smallwood, singled a long one to left. Locker registering and Schneider taking third. Long stole second, and a tied score seemed about to accumulate. Crandall pitched a ball to Chadbourne, and then gave way to Douglas, who finished Chadbourne where Crandall let go by fanning him. Murphy, batting for Gorman, went out on a drive to the box. The score:

A BOUT DOLLARS AND DAYDREAMS.

Chesterton's Essay for Sunday a Contrast Between Britisher and Yankee.

"On Dollars and Daydreams" is the subject of an essay which Gilbert K. Chesterton, famous British writer, contributes to The Times tomorrow. It is a contrast between the American and the Englishman, but not at all the stereotyped one. In fact the conclusions at which Mr. Chesterton arrives are the farthest possible from those one would expect of an Englishman. At any rate it is worth the while of any Britisher or Yankee to read.

RACE TRACK WAR LOOMS IN EAST.

BALTIMORE (Md.) April 15.—Notification to Commander J. K. L. Ross from all New York tracks that entries from his stable will be refused if H. Guy Bedwell, Ross's trainer, or ex-Jockey Carrol H. Shilling "are directly or indirectly connected with the same," has precipitated a turf crisis here.

This action is taken to mean that Bedwell, recognized here by the Maryland Racing Commission, must be dropped from Ross's employ, if the Canadian turfman wants to run his horses in New York.

The Maryland commission, resenting this lack of reciprocity, evidenced in the refusal to accept its recognition of Bedwell, indicates that it may take retaliatory measures.

HUNTER IS TO SAIL APRIL 30.

Local Crack Golfer Plans to Invade English Links.

Brothers' Club to Give Doctor Hearty Send-off.

BY PAUL LOWRY.

The Brothers' Club, a local organization of genial golfing souls, will fight and feast Dr. Paul Hunter, Southern California champion, State champion and soon to be international, in a farewell party at the Wilshire Country Club tomorrow. They will feast him in the grillroom and fight him on the links in a tourney where no records are expected to fall.

Dr. Hunter leaves here next Sunday for New York, from which point of the map he is programed to sail on the steamer Caronia April 30 for England as a member of the American golf team. The stated purpose of the Yankee invasion is to capture the British amateur crown in the championships starting at Holyoke May 23—a performance that hasn't been enacted since Walter Travis pulled the stunt away back in 1904 at Sandwich.

But in Dr. Hunter Californians feel they have a representative capable of punching out a Yankee victory. The double title-holder played such consistently brilliant golf in the recent championship tourney at Beverly Hills, executing remarkable recovery shots, pitching straight to the pin and putting so phenomenally that not a single weak point was in evidence. He was head and shoulders above anyone else in the field. His rivals' chances could have been plastered on the back of of a stamp with a mop.

Perhaps the only thing that will bother Dr. Hunter on the other side will be the heavy winds. He is accustomed to pitching high to the pin, but ever since the Beverly Hills tourney, has been practicing his push shot—a low ball that travels fast and hard.

It is for the purpose of giving Dr. Hunter a practical demonstration of their confidence in his prowess and respect for his thoroughgoing sportsmanship and good fellowship that the members of the Brothers' Club are staging their party.

The Brothers are all well-known figures on the links, including such stars and near-stars as Frank Tatum, Ben Fahy, George Cline, George Patterson, Ben Lewis, Fred Rutledge, Harry Cline, "Doc" Jim White, Bill Smith, Jim Oviatt, Dick Carlson, Fred White, Crane Gartz, Mahlon Hamilton, Bill Nevin and a flock of others.

Jack Neville, ex-State champion, probably will be a contender in the annual Annandale invitation tourney, which will be held April 26-30. Before he left for San Francisco yesterday he assured George Cline nothing would tickle him more than to play in the Annandale meet. Neville's entry would add considerable luster to the tourney and o it something of a north vs. south complexion. With Dr. Hunter well on his way to New York at that time it will afford an excellent opportunity for some embryonic star to burst forth and attain prominence overnight by licking Neville. Neville's failure to reach the finals in the southern championships is no indication of a let-down in his game. Every golfer has his good and bad days, and while Neville wasn't going badly when beaten by Nelson Barker, he had better golf in his system than he showed that particular morning. Tuesday at Annandale he shot the course in 72, one under par, and he holed every putt. Southern fans will be glad to see him perform at Annandale.

A twelve-cylinder party composed of Hutt Martin, Southern California open champion; Ernest Martin, his brother; Jack Sanford, Roy Tufts, C. F. Kemp and other illustrious lights of the game are speeding out to the Hollywood course for a regular battle on the picturesque foothill links this afternoon.

Kemp admits he is traveling in pretty fast company, but he's young, has noble ideas and is hopeful of advancing from the John J. Dubb class. Hutt Martin shot the Hollywood course in 67 the last time he played it, but Kemp has no designs on the record.

Imported Golf Clubs on Display.

Auchterlonie shafts and Stewart heads form a combination in golf clubs that can't be beat. Consequently it is with considerable satisfaction that the manager of that golf emporium with a frontage on Hill street is contemplating the receipt of 1500 clubs imported from the other side. Included in the lot is a fine assortment of southpaw clubs. Ernest Martin, clubmaker at Bullock's, says he never saw a finer lot.

Dempsey is to Begin Training in Early May.

NEW YORK, April 15.—Heavyweight Champion Jack Dempsey arrived here today from the West to begin training for his contest with Georges Carpentier in New Jersey, July 2.

Dempsey said he weighed 191 pounds and would begin active preparations for the bout as soon as the definite site was announced. He will lead up to this work during the next two weeks at the home of Freddie Welsh, where he will play golf and do light outdoor training, including long walks.

About May 1, Dempsey will select a regular training camp and enter upon a daily round of wrestling, boxing and other exercises. It is understood that a camp is favored which will remove the title holder from the throngs of spectators conspicuous at Toledo prior to the Willard match.

JERSEY CITY IS TO GET BIG BOUT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, April 15.—Jersey City has been selected as the place where Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier will cuff each other around next July 2. Tex Rickard will make the formal announcement next Monday or Tuesday. The genial promoter will lead a pilgrimage to the New Jersey town on one of these days and point out the piece or parcel of land he has selected for the merry little scramble.

"I'm going to lead the gang out there next week, toting Dempsey by the hand," said Tex today, "and after I get the whole party woozy from making the turns through those crooked streets I will flash the spot right into the face of the champion and the rest of the anxious set."

Nine Ambitious Youths Suffer Gorgeous Spills.

Night Racing Inaugurated at Pickens Stadium.

A wild evening of spills in which Charley Keppen was outspilled by some eight spills marked the inauguration of bike racing by any light at the bike stadium last night. Three riders went down in the first heat of the half mile for the Harry Williams cuspidor, four flopped in the unknown distance race and two more hit the boards in the three-mile open event. The race was run in four heats—two of the half-mile variety and two of the mile, points counting twenty-five for first, twenty for second, fifteen for third and ten for fourth.

GOOZEMAN COMES BACK AND WINS.

SAN BERNARDINO, April 15.—After being floored for the count of nine in the second round, Ernie Gooseman, Los Angeles boxer, last night knocked out Pat Boland of New York in the final round of a four-round bout here tonight. Boland was badly outclassed at all times, except in the second round when he caught Goozeman on the jaw. The men are bantamweights.

Business Man Pledges Cryer Support in Campaign.

Council Candidate, Long Here, Tells His Platform.

BY THE WATCHMAN.

Harry M. Haldeman, one of the city's leading business men, who has always taken an active interest in public affairs, yesterday indorsed George E. Cryer for Mayor. In a letter to Mr. Cryer Mr. Haldeman says: "I have given careful consideration to your claims for the support of the citizens of Los Angeles in your contest for Mayor and have come to the conclusion that the best interests of the city will be served by your election. I assure you of my whole-hearted support and will be glad to assist you in every way possible."

Mr. Cryer is scheduled to address the federation of the W.C.T.U. in the Y.M.C.A. auditorium Wednesday.

E. V. Powell was elected president this week of the Southwest Cryer-for-Mayor Club, organized to assist in furthering the campaign of Mr. Cryer for Mayor. The other officers elected are Mrs. K. T. Shea, secretary, and Ed D. Collins, Mr. W. O. Stephens, S. P. Montgomery and Mrs. George Stoner, vice-presidents. This organization will have charge of the precinct clubs in the district south of Vernon avenue and west of Figueroa street. A rally will be held under the auspices of this club on April 23. Mr. Cryer will appear and present his platform.

Friends of President Workman of the City Council and mayoralty candidate at the primaries declare that his open declaration in favor of the restoration of light wines and beer will result in a tremendous vote being cast for him on May 3, and they predict that Mayor Snyder and Mr. Workman will be the ones whose names will head the general election ticket.

Mr. Workman said yesterday: "Representative Hill's action in Congress in presenting a bill providing for the repeal of the Volstead Act is a sign of the times. It shows the tremendous sentiment in favor of bringing back some of the liberties of action the American people surrendered under the necessities of war. Mr. Hill's bill would give to the states the right they have under the Eighteenth Amendment of deciding for themselves whether or not they choose to retain bone-dry conditions, and I indorse Congressman Hill's measure heartily."

J. W. Toms, candidate for the City Council, has lived in Los Angeles for the past forty years, and says that if chosen to the Council he will give his efforts to bring about a business administration of city affairs, will urge the building of a new City Hall, combined City and County jail and a public library, and he adds that he is a 100 per cent American. Mr. Toms says that he has the indorsement of the United Church Brotherhoods and the Southwest Improvement Association. He lives at 632 West Forty-third street.

Club women are working hard to secure victory at the May 3 primaries for Mrs. Martha C. Harmon for the Board of Education. Mrs. Harmon, who is the widow of Lloyd W. Harmon, was president of the Los Angeles district, Federation of Women's Clubs, in 1917, having previously served the district board as recording secretary. She is a native of Los Angeles county, her parents having crossed the plains to California in 1868. Active as a member of the Friday Morning Club and of the Women's Lyric Club, and as vice-chairman of the Music School Settlement Association and chairman of the advisory board of the City Mothers' Bureau, this is Mrs. Harmon's first try for public office.

"My friends urged me to run," says Mrs. Harmon, "and if chosen for the board, I shall try earnestly to serve the interests of all of the people of my city."

WESTLAKE BOATHOUSE OWNER SEEKS RENT REDUCTION ON CONCESSION.

The City Council, in committee of the whole yesterday, heard the arguments of W. J. Daze, holder of the Westlake Park boating concession, for a refund of $7000 on his contract. He said that instead of $17,000, the boathouse had cost him $24,000, and that as under the agreement, it becomes the property of Los Angeles at the end of fourteen years, the city should credit him for the over investment. This, he desired to have extended to him in the form of a reduction in rentals. He was directed to report to the Finance Committee so that it can make the proper recommendations.

Action on the proposed new procedure ordinance to provide for competitive bidding on public works and to allow the city to enter bids on its own improvements, was deferred in order that the City Attorney might explain certain provisions and that it might be made conformable with a law which, it is expected, will soon be passed by the Legislature.

At the regular meeting of the Council the City Auditor's report, showing departmental requirements for the coming year, was referred to the Budget Committee.

LOS ANGELES WOMEN ARE P.E.O. OFFICERS.

SOUTH PASADENA CHOSEN AS NEXT MEETING PLACE OF STATE ORGANIZATION.

Representatives of California chapters of the P. E. O., a secret society composed of women, closed a three-day State convention at Burbank yesterday. The day was given over to the election of officers and the selection of next year's meeting place.

Yura Bennett of Orange was chosen as the new president. Other officers are: First vice-president, Maud Clock, Long Beach; second vice-president, Iona Campbell, El Centro; organizer, Ollie Cramer, Los Angeles; recording secretary, Catherine Fehren, San Jose; corresponding secretary, Faith Storey, Burbank; treasurer, La Belle Townsend, Los Angeles. The new officers were installed by the Supreme President, Helen Townsend, of Indianola, Iowa.

Delegates from each chapter in the State were named to attend the supreme convention to be held at Kansas City in October.

The State organization will meet in South Pasadena next year, sometime in May, the exact date to be determined by the Supreme President.

FIREMAN WINS WAGES.

District Court of Appeals Affirms Claim of San Diego Man.

A judgment for $250, the pay of A. L. Jackson, a member of the San Diego fire department, for the months of January and February, 1919, was affirmed by a decision of Department Two, District Court of Appeal, yesterday. The finding of Judge Luce in the court below was also in favor of Mr. Jackson.

The suit was brought against Mayor Wilde and the officers of San Diego, to recover wages which had been withheld by the city authorities, on account of Jackson's absence from duty. It was asserted that the plaintiff had taken cold and been given a leave of absence by the head of the fire department. The city retorted that he had not been made sick in the line of his duty. Both courts held otherwise.

LISTS ABUSE BY HEARST AS GAIN

Councilman Criswell Glad He Has "Examiner" Enmity.

Calls New York Example That This City Must Beware.

Denies Charge That He Would Not Add to Police Force.

"A Councilman with a backbone," is Ralph L. Criswell's slogan in his campaign for re-election.

"The Hearst newspapers have singled me out for special attacks in extra large black type," said Councilman Criswell, "and I thank them for advertising me. Their opposition is in itself an indorsement of my Americanism and is testimony that I refuse to wear a collar around my neck engraved, 'Owned and controlled by W. R. Hearst of New York.'

"If my refusal to stand for Hearst's attempts to dominate the city government of Los Angeles has engaged the New York publisher, I am delighted. Dispatches from New York tell of the complete failure of police and other departments of the Hearst-controlled administration of Mayor Hylan. The demoralization of the government of the greatest American city is fair warning to the people of Los Angeles of the kind of administration we shall have here if Hearst's friends are put in control of the city government.

IN FIGHT TO FINISH.

"The Council, under Hearst's rule, would undoubtedly be called upon every day to tear down some business building or revoke the license of some one who has incurred the enmity of the Hearst editors. I, for one, shall fight this attempted bossism to a finish, and I believe that the people of Los Angeles who desire to run their own city government are with me."

Because he was quoted as having told Hearst's agitators to go to h—l, Mr. Criswell has been dubbed "Cusser" Criswell by the Hearst organs. Taking advantage of this appelation, Mr. Criswell has had it printed under his photograph on his campaign cards, and is making speeches in all parts of the city telling the voters the truth about Hearst's attempts to dominate the city government. Councilman Criswell cites as an example of this the campaign of misrepresentation against him the charge made in the Examiner that he has opposed increases in the police department of the city. Mr. Criswell said:

POLICE CHARGE FALSE.

"The Hearst newspapers in their campaign of misrepresentation being conducted against me for my refusal to do their bidding, charge that I am opposed to additions being made to the police department. This is false, and is a reflection on all of the members of the Council, including the Examiner candidates."

Mr. Criswell is now serving his second term in the City Council. He has served as a member of the Civil Service Commission and was a member of the first annexation and consolidation commission which was appointed by Mayor Rose. Mr. Criswell has lived in Los Angeles twenty-four years. His son, Ralph G. Criswell, served as an ensign in the Navy during the World War. Mr. Criswell's home is at 2207 West Avenue 55, in the Highland Park district, in the development of which section of the city he is particularly interested. He is a member of Southgate Lodge of the Masons, Southgate Chapter of the Royal Arch, Golden West Commandery, K.T., and also of the Odd Fellows and the Sons of the American Revolution.

REPORT BURGLARY AT FILM STAR'S HOME.

ANITA STEWART SAYS HOUSE BROKEN INTO; OFFERS LARGE REWARD.

Gaining entrance to the home of Anita Stewart, the motion-picture actress, by posing as an electrician, a burglar late yesterday afternoon ransacked the film star's home at 1535 North Western avenue and escaped with jewelry valued by Miss Stewart at over $20,000. The jewelry, according to Miss Stewart, was taken from two cases in her bedroom.

From what the police were able to learn, a young man dressed as a workman called at the home and told Alphonso Velote, an employee, that he had been sent out to repair the electric lights. He requested the servant to supply him with a ladder. While Velote was in the basement the stranger dashed into Miss Stewart's bedroom, dumped the contents of the jewel boxes into his pockets and fled in an automobile.

Miss Stewart, who was working at a studio at the time, was notified by telephone of the theft and went at once to her residence. She described the stolen jewelry to the police and offered a reward of $5000 for the arrest of the thief and the recovery of her property.

At a late hour last night Nick Harris of the detective agency bearing his name stated he had obtained information which has established the identity of the thief. Operative Wiggington of the Nick Harris agency has been detailed on the investigation.

Federal Grand Jury Takes Up Jail Conditions.

Following an inspection of the County Jail, the Federal grand jury yesterday sent to the Board of Supervisors, a communication in regard to conditions there as they affect Federal prisoners. It is the understanding that the correspondence is not to be given to the public until the Supervisors have replied.

In the view of the Federal officials it is not at all certain that the government has anything to do with conditions in a County Jail. Prisoners are sent there as an accommodation and not as a matter of right. If the treatment and keeping are not satisfactory, there are other county jails where they may be confined.

Again, it is questionable whether the Attorney-General, whose department has charge of such matters, will look with entire approval on the action of a grand jury recommending this or that change in the care of criminals. That is his job and that of his department workers.
